U. S. STEEL AMONG THE WEAK SHARES

Bullish Demonstration in a Few Issues Unavailing as Flood of Selling Sweeps Market.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Stock prices broke wide open today in one of the most disastrous declines in recent months, with final quotations practically at the low levels of the day. Scores of high-priced stocks dropped 5 to 25 points under heavy selling for both accounts, while losses of 1 to 5 points were scattered throughout the general list. Only a handful of issues showed substantial net gains on the day.

The average closing price of 50 industrial stocks declined 6.6 points, 20 railroad stocks fell 3 points and 20 utility stocks slumped 10.6 points.

While the selling movement received considerable impetus from the unexpectedly large increase of $12,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans, many observers continued to view the decline as a further correction of the top-heavy speculative position created by the wild advance in recent months. Hundreds of "stop loss" orders, placed by cautious investors and traders, were touched off, and many, which tried vainly to support their favorites, were forced to step on the sidelines and to let the selling run its course.

U. S. Steel Weak.

Outside of the credit situation, there was nothing in the day's bearing sentiment, week-end mercantile reviews were generally cheerful in character and such earnings reports as came to hand made favorable comparison with year ago. There was a general disposition on the part of speculators, however, to conserve rapidly vanishing profits or to limit losses by selling stocks for whatever price they would bring.

Wall street was undecided whether investment trusts and trading corporations were selling stocks or buying them, but few issues indicated any extensive accumulation on the part of these powerful financial interests. The weakness of some of the investment trust securities was accepted as evidence that the market value of securities held also had been sharply depleted by the recent sustained decline.

U. S. Steel common, long regarded as a market barometer, was one of the most discouraging developments of the day. The stock, which established a new high record at 26 1/2 on Sept. 22, now closed nearly 10 points to 22 1/2.

Auburn Dropped 35 Points.

Auburn dropped 35 points and rallied 10. New York & Harlem dropped 21 points. Columbia Gas and Electric ran up nearly 25 points to a new high at 21 1/2, and then slipped back to 21 1/4. American Water Works declined 10 points of its extreme gain of 16 1/2.

Total stock sales ran just over $300,000,000.

Call money held at 9 per cent all day. Time money was firm at 9 1/4. No change was announced in the 5 per cent Chicago Federal reserve discount rate.

Sterling Is Easier.

Commodity markets were reactionary. Cotton lost a few cents a bale. Wheat fell back about 2 cents a bushel. Corn yielded 1 to 1 1/2 cents.

Foreign exchanges moved with rather narrow and irregular prices. Sterling cables were a shade easier at $4.85 1/2-16. Weakness of sterling in Paris was attributed to the heavy withdrawal of funds by Paris bankers from London in connection with month-end settlements.

Closing stock prices, with other tables and market news will be found on Pages 55, 56 and 57.

WIMER ACTS TO ABOLISH TRANSPORTATION SURVEY COMMISSION AS USELESS

Merely Trying to Jam Trolley Franchise Through, Says Alderman Who Drafts Ordinance to Eliminate It.

WIMER SAYS CITY HAS RAPID FRANCHISE NOT RAPID TRANSIT BOARD

ALDERMAN WIMER is one of the eight aldermen who in interviews with the Post-Dispatch recently went on record as definitely opposed to a new franchise for the street car company, and one of the 27 who advocated home rule by the city over its public utilities.

He opposed the ordinance creating the present Transportation Survey Commission and said it was designed for the purpose of obtaining a new franchise.

"My prediction has come true," he said in his interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter. "It is not a rapid transit commission; it is a rapid franchise commission."

Wimer said the company did not need a new franchise in order to render proper transportation service to the people of St. Louis, but sought it solely for the financial benefit of the promoters of the new company.

REAL ESTATE MAN, EMBEZZLER, GETS
ONE TO 10 YEARS

Walter J. Ruediger, Missing
From Belleville Since July 11, Appears and Pleads Guilty.

Walter J. Ruediger, Belleville real estate dealer, who had been missing since July 11, when his business failed for about $120,000, appeared before Circuit Judge Miller in Belleville this afternoon and pleaded guilty to an indictment charging embezzlement which was returned a week ago. Fifteen minutes later he was on his way to the Chester Penitentiary to serve a term of from one to ten years.

Ruediger's surrender was arranged several days ago by his brother, Oscar. The real estate dealer appeared with his attorney, greeted acquaintances in the courtroom and entered his plea of guilty. He had been in Chicago and St. Louis after the failure of his business, he said.

The specific charge to which he pleaded guilty was the embezzlement of $44,250 from Gust Muskatel, Belleville, part of money given him to invest in a mortgage. Ruediger's clients, in Belleville, East St. Louis and Alton, stand to lose about $60,000 through their dealings with him. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Rebban, who signed some notes for him, advanced about $60,000 to wipe out about half of the loss.

No explanation of the failure of Ruediger's substantial business has been made. He is 45 years old and lived quietly with his wife at her mother's home. He was a director of the St. Clair Guaranty & Title Co., vice president of the Century Brass Works of Belleville, president of the Belleville Real Estate Exchange, and former vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

JANITOR'S HORSE, 114 TO 1,
WINS ITS OWNER $2611

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Paul Revere flashed around the Lincoln Fields track yesterday to win the fourth race, paying 114-1, and make John Heelan happy.

Heelan is 60 years old. For 25 years he has been janitor at the Hyde Park Police station. He gets $120 a month and occasional small tips from prisoners. He owns Paul Revere.

Heelan bet $10 on Paul Revere across the board—$10 to win, $10 to finish second and $10 to finish third. Since Paul Revere won, the janitor won all his bets besides the $900 purse. The grand total was $2611.50.

SOUSA SUDDENLY TAKEN ILL

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Commander John Philip Sousa, famous "March King," was suddenly stricken with acute indigestion in the lobby of a hotel here today, shortly before he was to have led his band at a concert in the State Armory.

He was taken to his suite.

A proposed ordinance repealing the ordinance which created the Transportation Survey Commission, with an appropriation of $50,000 for its work, was introduced in the Board of Aldermen this afternoon by Alderman Samuel Wimer of the Twenty-seventh Ward.

Wimer said, in explanation of his proposal, that the Transportation Survey Commission has not carried out the purpose for which it was created, namely to form and present a plan for rapid transit.

Instead, he said, it has "rehashed" the surface transportation survey made three years ago by a committee of Aldermen and Consulting Engineer C. E. Smith, and it has attempted to obtain a franchise for the Public Service Co.

Wimer called at the Comptroller's office in the forenoon and obtained figures on the expenditures of the Transportation Survey Commission to date. He then added an emergency clause to his repeal bill, providing that the repeal shall take effect as soon as the repeal ordinance is signed by the Mayor, or passed over his veto. The purpose of the emergency clause, he said, is "to stop the waste of public funds."

$17,494 Spent Thus Far.

The figures obtained by Wimer from the Comptroller show that, of its $50,000 appropriation, the Transportation Survey Commission has expended $17,494.71 and has $32,505.29 left. Of the amount expended, $12,382.50 is for fees to the chief engineer, R. F. Kelker Jr., and his assistants, and the remainder for engineers' payroll and incidental expenses. Kelker receives $100 a day for time given to the work, his chief assistant $75 a day, and staff members $25 to $35 a day, besides an added $750 a quarter for expenses.

"The Transportation Survey Commission," Wimer said, "is expending $200 a day, and getting nowhere."

"I introduced the ordinance to create a Rapid Transit Commission, but it was changed and broadened, as was stated at the time, to create the Transportation Survey Commission. I was the only one who voted against it."

Wimer said he had no objection to the commission's work, but the Aldermen voted that the city should pay it. However, the commission could hardly have devoted any more time to the company's interests if the company were paying its expenses.

"The commission has done nothing about rapid transit except to get an enabling act passed in the Legislature. It did not require a commission to do that."

"The commission, now in existence more than a year, has held 11 meetings, and has given most of its time to rehearsing the recommendations of the report made by our committee of three years ago with Engineer Smith. That report, it will be remembered, recommended re-routing of cars and co-ordination of street car and bus service. The rest of its work has been devoted to jam a franchise down the throats of the Board of Aldermen. That is not the purpose for which the commission was created, in my view."

"Getting Nowhere."

Wimer was chairman of the committee of Aldermen which visited Eastern cities, with Engineer Smith, to survey rapid transit and other transportation systems. He has not been a member of the Transportation Survey Commission, the Board of Aldermen being represented on that body by President Neun and Alderman Kuhs.

The Transportation Survey Commission has held 11 meetings in the 14 months of its existence. The first two meetings were taken up with routine organization and creation of two special committees. At the third meeting, Oct. 23, 1928, the commission decided to start work on "proper legislative acts to enable a comprehensive transportation scheme to be worked out."

The City Counselor was requested to prepare a rapid transit enabling act to be introduced in 1929 session of the Legislature. This bill, giving the city power to build, buy, lease, and operate rapid transit improvements, and to pay for them in part by special assessments on benefited property, was revived in the form that was defeated by the 1927 Legislature. With a slight amendment making it impossible to charge the whole cost against benefited property, the bill was approved and later enacted.

"Terminable Permit" Move.

The firm of Kelker, DeLew & Co., of Chicago, of which R. F. Kelker Jr. is the head, was employed as engineering consultants at the meeting held Nov. 23. Meanwhile two other legislative measures were being introduced.

FORMER CONVICT
SLAIN IN SALOON
BY EX-POLICEMAN

W. E. Silvey Shot by Joseph O'Leary After Objecting to His Annoying of Woman.

SLAYER FLEES, FOUND IN HOME OF FRIEND

Held Without Bond on Murder Charge by Coroner's Jury—Refuses to Testify at Inquest.

In a quarrel over a woman in a saloon at 2300 Franklin avenue, William Eugene Silvey, ex-convict brother of a policeman's murderer, was shot and killed last night. A Coroner's jury today named a former policeman, Joseph O'Leary, as Silvey's slayer.

Silvey was 26 years old and roomed at 4423 McPherson avenue. He was a chauffeur, but had not worked steadily. O'Leary is 47 and a solicitor. He gave three addresses, including one on Gamble street. Although he had denied the killing when arrested, O'Leary declined to testify at the inquest. He was ordered held without bail.

Witnesses' Story.

Silvey, who is survived by his widow and a son, had gone to the saloon with two waitresses, Ida Black and Katharine Penrose, after meeting them in the club. He was shot in the chest and stomach, 218 North Sarah street. They and other witnesses related the following account of the shooting:

Silvey was seated at a table with the women when O'Leary entered, introduced himself and asked for "Hello, Irene," and inquired as to her health. "Just fine," she replied. He sat down, uninvited, and bought drinks. Miss Black got up to talk to "some boys at the bar."

Silvey resented O'Leary's interference and they had words over the women. Silvey threw a drink in O'Leary's face and slapped him. The two policemen visited the saloon at this juncture and O'Leary departed.

Returning in 20 minutes with a revolver, he announced: "Well, I'm going to give it to you." He fired a shot in the chest, and another shot in the general direction of the two waitresses, and ran out. Silvey collapsed in Miss Black's arms, crying: "I'm going."

Five Held as Witnesses.

The shooting occurred at 12:25 o'clock. Police detained as witnesses the saloon owner, Ben Barnett, the two waitresses and two other customers, James Campbell and Ezekiel Hoffman.

Coroner Devereux praised police for apprehension of O'Leary, himself a policeman from 1918 to 1920.

Informing that O'Leary was the slayer, police traced him to the home of Mrs. Mary Hanley, 3638 Finney avenue and caught O'Leary as he was leaving by a back door. He slammed the door and ran upstairs. Police broke down the door and pursued him, warding off an attack by a police dog.

O'Leary was treated in a room and under a bed cover was found a revolver, with two cartridges recently discharged. O'Leary denied it was his weapon. He admitted visiting several saloons, but insisted he had not been at Barnett's place and had not shot anyone.

Knew Him 14 Years.

Mrs. Hanley said she had known O'Leary 14 years, but had not seen him for three years until he rushed into her house, five minutes before the police came for him. She said the revolver was not hers.

Silvey, a native of Doran, Mo., served a two-year penitentiary term for robbery in Iron County in 1922, according to police records. He was a brother of Edgar Silvey, who is serving a life sentence for participation in the murder of Police Sergeant Robert Woody in 1924, and of Paul Silvey, who also has a police record.

SIGMOND P. BAER ESTATE GIVEN TO RELATIVES IN WILL

Charities Get $15,000—No Estimate of Value Made, but It Is Thought to Be Large.

WIDOW PROVIDED FOR IN LIFE TIME

Merchant, With Brother, Founded Fund for Support of Superannuated Store Employees.

The will of Sigmond P. Baer, secretary-treasurer and one of the founders of the Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co., was filed today, leaving his estate to relatives, including some in Germany, with the exception of $15,000 bequeathed to charities. No estimate was placed on the value of the estate, but it is thought to be large.

Although not mentioned in the will, it was learned that Mr. Baer and his surviving brother, Julius, also a founder of the company, contributed $50,000 each in 1925 to form a trust fund for the benefit of superannuated employees of the department store. "Quite a few" who worked under the Baer brothers are now enjoying the income from this fund, it was said by Emil Mayer, of the law firm of Taylor, Mayer & Shifrin, representing the estate.

Mr. Baer, who lived at 5214 Watterman avenue, died suddenly of heart disease while visiting with his wife and friends at Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 12. He was 67 years old. His will was made last June 22.

Widow Already Provided For.

It was stated that the contents of his house and garage, including furniture, art works, library, silverware, chinaware and automobiles, are the property of his wife, Mrs. Marie Pappenheim Baer, but in the event any relatives belong to him, they are willed to her, as are also any money and promissory notes which he may have possessed at the time of his death.

"I make no further provision for my beloved wife," the will adds, "with her full knowledge and consent, having amply provided for her during my life."

The residue of the estate, after deduction of specific bequests, is willed in equal shares to his sons, Sidney P. Baer, assistant secretary of the dry goods company, and Lewis S. Baer, connected with a publishing firm in New York City.

His grandchildren, Sidney Baer Jr. and Charles S. Baer, are each willed 1000 shares of Stix, Baer & Fuller common stock, no par value, or they may elect to have the equivalent in cash, at the rate of $55 a share.

Federated Jewish Charities are to receive $10,000 and the Community Fund $5000 in the will, which requests the widow to continue contributions of a charitable nature which the testator was wont to making during his lifetime.

Trust Fund for Sister.

A trust fund of $20,000 is created for a sister, Mrs. Augusta Altshul, a widow, of Nuremberg, Germany, and her daughter, Flora. It is bequeathed to another sister, Mrs. Sophie Bendit, of the same place; $10,000 to a niece, Mrs. Martha Stern, daughter of Mrs. Altshul; $500 to the niece, Nellie Altshul, of Cologne; $1000 to Mrs. Rosa Baer, widow of Herman Baer, a brother of the testator; $1000 each to four nieces and nephews: Lester Ney, Jerome Ney, Elizabeth Ney Cohn and Ernest Ney Rogers, children of a deceased sister, Mrs. Marie Ney; $1000 each to Carl Baer, Max Baer, Julius Baer and Augusta Baer Hirschkind, children of the deceased brother, Herman Baer; $500 each to four nieces and nephews: Florence and Edward Lamm, children of his wife's sister, Mrs. Lillian Lamm of New York, and Robert and Marion Helbring, children of another sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Helbring of Stuttgart, Germany.

A number of other relatives, including nieces and nephews "equally dear" are mentioned in the will. It is stated, because they are equally amply provided.

Mrs. Baer and Sidney P. Baer are executors. The Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. is trustee.

Moscow-New York Flyers Begin Last Leg of Journey Across Pacific Ocean.

By the Associated Press.

DUTCH HARBOR, Unalaska, Sept. 27.—Four Russian aviators, flying from Moscow to New York in the plane "Land of the Soviets," took off at 11:30 a. m. (St. Louis time) today on the last leg of their flight over the Pacific Ocean. Their next scheduled stop is Seward, Alaska, 700 miles away.

They expected to arrive in Seward late this afternoon. They started after a delay of two days because of a southeast gale, which nearly smashed their plane on the rocks when it arrived here Tuesday from Attu, farthest west of the Aleutian Islands.

Weather reports said that conditions between here and Seward were favorable for flying. The Russians planned to follow the Aleutian Islands to the coast.

From Seward the flyers will go to Sitka, Alaska, then to Seattle, Wash., where the pontons will be replaced with wheels for the flight to New York by way of San Francisco.

ASSAILS
FLEXIBLE TARIFF

Democratic Leader Says Idea That It Is Prompt Remedy Is 'Without Fact or Consistency.'

CITES REPORT THAT TOOK TWO YEARS

Smoot Presents Letter From Farm Bureau Favoring Provision if Liberalized.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said in the Senate today that those urging retention of the flexible provisions in the pending tariff bill as a "prompt remedy" for correcting mistakes in rates between sessions of Congress were speaking without foundation in either "fact or consistency."

Robinson opened the fourth day of debate on the clause which authorizes the President to change duties up or down within a range of 50 per cent after investigation by the Tariff Commission.

Although President Hoover has thrown his influence behind retention of the provision, a vote on the question is expected to be close. Republican leaders look for this vote early next week. Robinson took issue with the position of Senator Reed (Rep.), Pennsylvania, that the real question was whether the flexible principle should be continued.

Reports Take Two Years.

The flexible provision, Robinson contended, never had proved a quick method of giving emergency tariff relief and never would as long as the cost of production for mola was used. In most cases, he said, it took the commission two years to report on applications for duty changes. After consuming all that time the President often refuses to act on the reports, he added.

It was "mere pretense and subterfuge," he argued, to contend that the clause worked to speed up individual tariff changes between congressional sessions.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee, placed in the record a letter from the American Farm Bureau Federation favoring the flexible principle, but urging a liberalization to permit the President to take articles from and place them on the free list.

Robinson asked Smoot if he favored such a change, and Smoot replied he approved the amendment he has pending to make the section virtually the same as it is in the existing law.

Summons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the Finance Committee, said the Tariff Commission in the seven years' operation of the flexible provisions had acted on about 40 of some 500 applications filed.

President Hoover's announced favoring retention of the flexible tariff principle was defended by Senator Fess of Ohio, the Republican whip, who said, however, he doubted the wisdom of a presidential expression on pending legislation.

Fess said that Hoover nevertheless was wholly within his rights and those criticizing him might as well "make up their minds that the country will support the executive whenever he assumes any authority of leadership."

The Ohioan argued that this was a fact regardless of whether it was a wise or unwise practice or whether it was "humiliating" to some Senators.

If he had been consulted, the Senator said, his decision probably would have been against the President's action.

The flexible clause, he added, was a "policy determining item" and not merely administrative, and if the President was concerned about a change in a policy of importance, he, Fess, did not believe there was basis for criticism.

Fess characterized yesterday's speech of Senator Borah as an "appeal to sectionalism" and an "unfortunate utterance."

"Sectionalism is dangerous," Fess said, "we are not discriminating against any section."

Taking up the opposition to the flexible provision, Senator Connally (Dem.), Texas, said the power delegated to the President in 1922 should be "recaptured and re-

MRS. PANTAGES CAN'T APPEAR FOR SENTENCE

Doctors Say She Is Much Too Ill to Come Into Court.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 27.—Mrs. Lois Pantages, who is under instructions to appear in Superior Court at 2 p. m. for sentencing following her conviction of manslaughter for the death of Juro Rokumoto after an automobile collision, today was declared by her physicians to be "hovering between life and death—so gravely ill that she cannot appear in court."

Attorneys W. I. Gilbert and Joseph Ford announced that because of their client's illness, they would ask that the court approve a physician to examine Mrs. Pantages "so that everybody may be satisfied concerning her condition."

Under California law she may be required to serve from one to 19 years in prison.

Mrs. Pantages, wife of Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, collapsed when the jury returned the verdict Wednesday.

Revived by physicians, she became hysterical and remained constantly under the care of doctors yesterday and last night.

"When we go into court, we shall follow the usual custom of requesting a new trial," Gilbert said. "If that is denied we will proceed entirely according to Mrs. Pantages' wishes. We cannot state now what the next step will be."

Attorney Joe Ford associated with Gilbert in the defense said, "We fear that Mrs. Pantages, in the present state of her health, would die if sent to San Quentin. A sentence to the penitentiary would be the same as a sentence of execution."

Ford added, however, that no request for probation would be made either by himself or Gilbert unless Mrs. Pantages directed it.

Deputy District Attorney James H. Costello, in charge of the prosecution, announced he was prepared to fight any effort to obtain a new trial. Costello also was preparing evidence of perjury alleged to have been committed by a man and a woman, whose names were not divulged, in testimony for the defense.

FERGUSON'S THIRD TRIAL FOR FRAUD DRAWS TO CLOSE

Evidence in—Defense Rests With Testimony of Accused and Character Witnesses.

DEFENDANT BLAMES MURRAY CARLETON

Admits Books Were Falsified to Get Loans, but Declares He Merely Obeyed Orders.

Testimony ended this afternoon in the third trial of Forrest Ferguson in Federal Court on the charge of using the mails to defraud in obtaining $2,500,000 from St. Louis and Eastern banks by false financial statements of the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co., before that company's collapse nearly four years ago. His two previous trials ended in jury disagreements.

Ferguson was the only witness for the defense, except for four character witnesses. Alfred Baggett, co-defendant with Ferguson, who was tried with him in the previous hearings, but whose case has now been severed from Ferguson's, was not called as a witness. Baggett was secretary of Ferguson-McKinney, of which Ferguson was president.

The case, on trial before Judge Ferguson since Monday, will go to the jury tomorrow.

Ferguson, who is 63 years old, told a story in which the late Murray Carleton, financial backer of Ferguson-McKinney and head of the allied Carleton Dry Goods Co., was chief figure. He placed himself through his business career in St. Louis as the subordinate and the protégé of Carleton. Because of this long relationship, and because of the financial structure of Ferguson-McKinney, Ferguson said that as president of the company, he continued to take orders from Carleton, as he had done when a salesman under Carleton's supervision.

Dominated by Carleton. "I accepted directions from Mr. Carleton, and did what he told me to do," Ferguson said, "and if he was alive today, I feel that I would still do the same."

Variety in Insolvency. District Attorney Brewer, in cross-examination, asked Ferguson if he did not know in February, 1925, that the Ferguson-McKinney company was insolvent. Ferguson said he would not admit that the company was hopelessly insolvent, nor would he admit now that it was in a hopeless condition.

"There was a charge of $561,000 against the Carleton Dry Goods Co.," he said, "which, if paid, would have made Ferguson-McKinney solvent."

Brewer cited records of Ferguson's testimony in a civil suit, to the effect that in February, 1925, he knew the company was hopelessly insolvent. Ferguson said he might have said it, but that there were different kinds of insolvency.

"Didn't you go to Murray Carleton's house, and sit by his bed, and discuss with him the manner and method of falsifying the books, so that an audit could be made for the purpose of borrowing money?" the District Attorney demanded.

Answering this and other questions, Ferguson said Carleton had plotted a plan of Ferguson's liquidating the business, and he had said that the closing of Ferguson-McKinney would hurt his other enterprises.

Admits Books Were Falsified. Ferguson testified, in reply to Brewer's questions, that Carleton directed the manner in which the books should be made to show a two-to-one ratio of assets to liabilities. This involved falsifying the books, the witness admitted, but he qualified phrase in answer to every sentence was, "Mr. Carleton directed it." "Mr. Carleton said it," Mr. Carleton suggested it.

"I took his instructions to Bookkeeper Malecek and Secretary Baggett," Ferguson said of his part in the matter. He admitted, in reply to the questions, that the instructions conveyed were for falsifying the books by about $500,000, and that amount, making a $1,000,000 padding of the books; and that some of the invoices used were 15 years old, and taken from old records in the cellar.

Ferguson told in his direct examination of coming to St. Louis from Tennessee, as a youth, and getting a job as a salesman for the Wear-Boogher Dry Goods Co., with Carleton as his superior. Then for a time when he worked with E. Walker, Ferguson said he remained until the formation of the Ferguson-McKinney Dry Goods Co. in 1908. In 1908, Ferguson said, he found it necessary to buy and falsified stockholders, and received $250,000 for that purpose, of which Carleton supplied $100,000. In 1912, the company was sold to the Carleton Dry Goods Co., which took over the manufacturing part of the business. Ferguson-McKinney was reorganized as a manufacturing company," Ferguson testi-

EDUARDO BRADLEY.

Eduardo Bradley First Passenger on Service to Miami — Flying Time From Santiago 56 Hours; by Rail to St. Louis 54 Hours.

Eduardo Bradley, who arrived here yesterday as the native Argentine entry in the Gordon Bennett balloon race, traveled 6500 miles by air from Buenos Aires to Miami, Fla., in eight days. The flight was the first of the new mail and passenger air service between this country and Argentina.

On the trip here by train from New York he was accompanied by his aid, Lieut. Francisco J. Cadaval, a member of the Argentine Naval Commission which is stationed in New York as purchasers of supplies and observers. Cadaval is a naval aviation pilot.

Bradley's trip from Buenos Aires was a striking contrast between the relative speeds of the airplane and train, judging from his depreciative shrug when he compared his total flying time of 56 hours from Santiago, Chile, to Miami, Fla., with 54 hours aboard trains from Miami to St. Louis via Washington and New York. The approximate distance from Miami to St. Louis by the route he followed is 2150 miles.

Meets President Hoover. The first leg from the Argentine capital to Santiago was made in eight hours, he said. Hope ranging from three to nine hours made up the rest of the journey north to Miami.

"In Washington," he said, "I met your President Hoover. I don't know why—maybe because I am first passenger on the new airplane line."

Aside from being a balloonist of 20 years' experience, the first man to cross the Andes by air, and the Argentine Secretary of Civil Aeronautics, he is of American descent. Decidedly Anglo-Saxon in appearance, his characteristics are yet Latin and his knowledge of English, for the most part, to the less complicated phases of English. For a time it was thought here he would be obliged to borrow a language of his Boston forbears in limited, for the most part, to the less complicated phases of English. For a time it was thought here he would be obliged to borrow a language of his Boston forbears in limited, for the most part, to the less complicated phases of English.

Grandparents From Boston. Native Argentine development of commercial aviation has not been overly rapid, Bradley said. The country, however, is traversed by foreign-owned lines, principally the recently established American service and an older French concern which provides seven-day mail service with Europe via East and North Africa, fast steamers carrying the consignments between the two continents.

His Bostonian grandparents who settled in Argentina were Thomas and Lucy Sutton Bradley, the latter a descendant of an American Revolutionary officer, Gen. Sutton. His father, now 85 years old, who was also named Thomas, was an Argentine army officer in a campaign with Paraguay the latter part of the nineteenth century.

Bradley, who is 42 years old, was a pioneer aviator in addition to his experience as a balloonist, and he got his start in flying an old Farman pusher biplane 18 years ago. He crossed the Andes in a balloon 20 years ago. His entry in the Gordon Bennett race was sponsored by the Aero Club of Argentina, of which he is secretary.

Rodes, St. Louis attorney, died at his home in Danville last night, following a short illness. ## SLAIN GANGSTER IS IDENTIFIED AS BANKER'S STEPSON

Jack Wilson, Killed Near Chouteau Slough, Established as Fremont Redfield of Philadelphia.

Jack Wilson, the golfing gangster shot to death near Chouteau Slough on the East Side Saturday, has been identified as the stepson of a late Philadelphia (Pa.) banker.

Information obtained by police and verified by Wilson's companion, George Harrison, who is in jail as a material witness, established Wilson as Fremont Redfield, son of Mrs. William Kessler, Philadelphia. His stepfather, Kessler, was head of the Mutual Trust Co. of Philadelphia until his death two years ago.

His mother, twice married, said her son was a nephew of Edward B. Redfield, landscape painter of New Hope, Pa. The body will be sent to Philadelphia for burial.

A Bright Future Ahead. With the mystery of his identity removed, the mystery of his entry into the underworld has been increased. As a young man, beginning his business career as a runner in his stepfather's bank, young Redfield apparently had a bright future. When he married, his stepfather bought him a residence in a Philadelphia suburb. He had a wife and two daughters.

Nine years ago—he was 39 when slain—he left Philadelphia. He lost contact with his family. He went to California and Mexico. Adopting the aliases of Jack Wilson, Jack Redfield and Jack Moore, he mingled with underworld characters in Detroit, Mich., and Cleveland, O., and on the East Side.

To Alton From Detroit. Wanted in Detroit on warrants charging them with theft of 14 automobiles, he and Harrison moved to Alton last July. He had with him a woman who was known as his wife, Velma Wilson. It now develops she was a convict's wife.

His fondness for golf he put to use in the rock Springs Country Club, where he teed off daily. He met reputable citizens, who little surmised the fair-haired young man with the little in "stache" and the dimpled chin was charged with thievery and suspected of bootlegging, dealing in narcotics and smuggling—liens. He also met and played golf with "Boss" Cooley, Alton cigar store proprietor, who is under indictment for trafficking in narcotics.

Conley a "Whitely" Bates, a frequenter of the cigar store, are in jail, charged with the murder of the woman gangster.

The woman's identity. Police say the woman who posed as Mrs. Wilson in Alton was 27-year-old Cliff Shannon, O. U. Chy, Pa., whose husband was in Chillicothe (O.) prison for a bank robbery. It is understood Shannon was recently released.

Harrison, the police add, has been identified as George E. Righter, who has served one prison term and is under bond in Philadelphia for auto theft. In his room were found tools for altering automobile motor numbers, automobile ownership certificate blanks and purported seals of the Secretaries of State of Ohio and California. Investigators think these articles were among the effects removed from the slain gangster's room last Sunday in an effort to cover up his activities.

Harrison was arrested when it was reported he had declared he knew who killed his companion and would seek vengeance. However, he now says he has no idea who killed the golfing gangster, or why.

WOMAN CAPTURES BURGLAR AND THEN SEES PISTOL FIGHT

Mrs. A. W. Swacker, After Finding Intruder in Home, Reports Prowler, Who Shoots at Officer.

After capturing a burglar who was ransacking her home when she returned yesterday afternoon, Mrs. A. W. Swacker, 2256 Glen Echo drive, Normandy, last night witnessed a pistol fight between a Deputy Constable and a man thought to be an accomplice of the man she caught. None of the shots took effect.

Mrs. Swacker was warned by her sister, Ruth Arensmeyer, 16 years old, that there was a man in the house when she returned from a shopping trip. The sister had locked 5-year-old Arthur Swacker and three neighborhood playmates in a room for protection when she saw the man.

Obtaining her husband's revolver, Mrs. Swacker started a search of the house and found the unarmed burglar in an upstairs bedroom, which he had ransacked. She marched him to a bathroom and stood guard until officers arrived. She thought she heard someone leave the house.

Early last night Mrs. Swacker was startled by a shower of pebbles thrown against a window pane. She called Deputy Constable Harry Georges, who found a man in the yard. The prowler fired three shots and escaped on foot as Georges fired four times.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 27.—Because the Judge of District Court thinks a beggar who makes his rounds in an automobile is a bit too modern, Fred Gehrike is in the House of Correction today, starting a 90-day sentence for vagrancy.

When Gehrike called at the home of Robert Ristow, he carried a cane and walked haltingly, when Ristow answered the door, Gehrike presented a card reading "I am paralyzed and unable to work. Please help me."

Ristow, being a police sergeant, was skeptical so when the beggar left the door, Ristow followed him. At a corner the beggar got into a car and was about to drive away when Ristow arrested him.

The police sergeant testified that Gehrike has been a regular caller at North Side homes, using the automobile to speed up business.

CARL SHELTON JURY DISCHARGED; MISTRIAL

Unable to Agree on Guilt in Stolen Auto Case—Out 60 Hours.

By the Associated Press.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 27.—Unable to agree after 60 hours' deliberation, the jury trying Carl Shelton of East St. Louis, Southern Illinois gangster, and Arthur Steed, for conspiring to violate the Dyer act, was discharged at 11:30 a. m. today.

The two were accused of interstate transportation of stolen automobiles. Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley dismissed the jurors when they stated that their deadlock was hopeless. They gave no indication of the result of their ballots. The trial of Shelton and Steed required only two days but the jury was out two and one-half days before its request to be discharged was granted by Judge Lindley. District Attorney Harold G. Baker announced that the two would be put on trial again, but it was not known at what term of court the new trial would be. Shelton is at liberty under $45,000 bond.

The testimony against Shelton and Steed was that they had in their possession in East St. Louis a Hudson coach stolen in Detroit. The evidence disclosed that Shelton stole the car and while driving it to St. Louis picked up Reynold Snyder at Williamsport, Pa. They drove the car to the home of Mrs. Josephine Wooten, wife of Fred Wooten, Birger gangster now serving a life sentence at Chester Penitentiary for murder. Mrs. Wooten conducts a rooming house in East St. Louis and she and her roomers, including Frank Forehand, used it. Page sold the car for $75 to Raymond A. Norton, aviation student at Parks Air College, who also lived at the Wooten place. Joseph Payne, brother-in-law of Art Newman, former Birger gangster also serving a life sentence for murder, took the car to Shelton, who used it, according to the evidence, and it later was abandoned in National City, where Mrs. Beale Newman, wife of Art Newman, testified she saw it and notified Mrs. Wooten who telephoned to Shelton and inquired if her license plates were on it. Mrs. Newman, who is known as a sworn enemy of Shelton because he attempted to kill her husband in the Shelton-Birger gang war several years ago, also testified Shelton offered her $500 and a new automobile not to testify against him.

Padlock Should Be Mandatory for Second Offense, He Tells Oregon Methodists.

By the Associated Press.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 27.—Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of the Board of Temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, said in an address here last night that certain changes in the prohibition law were needed to make enforcement effective.

Addressing the Oregon conference of the church, Dr. Wilson said, "the next amendment of the Volstead act must provide for the punishment of the buyer as well as the seller of liquor."

"The padlock feature of the Volstead act," he continued, "must be made mandatory for a second offense where a property used for bootlegging becomes a public nuisance."

Dr. Wilson suggested that young people be taught that alcohol is a poison. "This leaves a great work for the public schools," he said.

CONSTABLE SLAIN IN $27,000 BANK HOLDUP BY GANG

One of Robbers Wounded by Him Before He Dies During Raid on Depository at Rodeo, Cal.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27.—Three men thought to be members of the notorious Fleagle gang of outlaws, were being sought today for the killing of a constable in holding up a bank at Rodeo, east of here, yesterday.

The robbers escaped with $35,000 after fatally wounding Constable Arthur J. McDonald, who chanced to walk into the bank during the holdup. McDonald was ordered to put up his hands, but he fired instead, wounding one of the robbers.

Witnesses of the robbery, when shown police photographs of Jake Fleagle, leader of the band which last year robbed the Bank of Lamar, Colo., of more than $200,000 and killed four men, said he was one of the trio, Joe Miller, a lieutenant of the Fleagle band, was identified as the second robber. The third was not recognized.

Fleagle was said to have been the one wounded by McDonald. He was dragged into the automobile by his companions and they escaped, leaving a trail of blood. Police said the robber apparently had been so badly hurt that he would die. A close check was kept on hospitals in the bay area.

Payroll Just Delivered.

The robbery occurred 15 minutes after an armored car had delivered a $27,000 payroll. Fleagle and Miller are said to have entered the bank while the third robber sat at the wheel of a light touring car. One of the two covered employees while the other forced A. D. Dern, manager, to open the vault and hand out the sack containing the payroll money.

When the man presumed to have been Fleagle reached for the sack McDonald drew his pistol and fired. The bullet sent the bandit back against a wall, but he returned the fire and did the robber at the door and the man in the car. Trapped between the three, McDonald directed his fire at the robber with the money sack and the latter sank to the floor with a bullet in his stomach. A moment later McDonald fell, fatally wounded. Staggered to Auto.

The wounded robber staggered to his feet and under the protection of the others' revolvers, made his way to the car where he collapsed. His accomplices followed and after dragging the wounded man into the car, sped away into the Contra Costa Hills.

A sub-machine gun, which one of the three dropped, was found in front of the bank. Fingerprints taken from the gun and the abandoned car were expected to finally determine whether two of the men really were Fleagle and Miller.

Sheriff R. R. Neale, of Contra Costa County, expressed the opinion that the three were the same robbers who held up a Southern Pacific passenger train at McAvoy, Cal., five weeks ago and escaped with a $15,000 payroll after wounding the engineer.

Three of the Fleagle gang, indicted for the Lamar, Colo., robbery, are scheduled to go on trial in that state Monday.

Iowa Bank Held Up.
TURIN, Ia., Sept. 26.—The Turin Savings Bank was robbed of between $300 and $4000 yesterday by two unmasked men after two bank officers and a customer were locked in the vault.

UNTANGLES PARACHUTE 500 FEET FROM GROUND

Jumper at Kansas City Air Circus Then Lands Safely—Another Is Injured.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 27.—Thousands of person attending the air circus at Fairfax Airport yesterday afternoon saw Percy Brooks dangle for a moment from the wing of an airplane 2500 feet above the airport and let go. The speed of the plane sent his body spinning vertically. His parachute trailed behind, its lines wrapped around each other like a rope, preventing the envelope from opening.

Brooks, realizing his predicament the moment he jerked the rip cord, began his fight to untangle the lines in time for the chute to open. He succeeded only in time for the chute to open 500 feet from the ground for a safe landing.

William Weber, another jumper, dropped from an altitude of 5000 feet in a delayed jump. He fell 3000 feet head first before pulling the rip cord. When he did so he was jerked upright with such violence that the cords striking him in the temple, made him unconscious. He regained consciousness lying on the ground.

USE OF CHILDREN IN TAG-DAY MONEY RAISING OPPOSED

Board of Parents and Teachers Also Against Lotteries and Raffles as Means of Getting Funds.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—The board of managers of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers went on record yesterday as opposed to the participation of children in tag-days held to raise money for the local, State or National parent-teacher organizations.

In adopting a code on the raising of funds, to be recommended to the various units of the national congress, the organization voted against lotteries, raffles, fish-ponds or any form of gambling. Raising money through sales, such as rummage or cake sales, was approved.

CHIANG DENOUNCED IN MANIFESTO AS NEW WAR LORD

Document Issued Under Seal of Ruling Party of Nanking Government Demands His Overthrow.

Special Cable to Post-Dispatch and New York World.

Copyright, 1929, by the Press and Publisher Publishing Co., New York.
SHANGHAI, Sept. 27.—The rift within the political organization of the Chinese Nationalist Government, was widened yesterday by a manifesto, bearing the party seal and denouncing Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, President of China, as a dictator. The manifesto demanded reorganization of the Government.

The document is signed by Wang Ching-wei, former chairman of the party central executive committee, and 10 other left wing leaders ousted from the committee when Chang Kai-shek came into power.
The whereabouts of Wang Chingwei are not known. After his political downfall he took refuge in Europe.

The manifesto opens the possibility of his having secretly returned to China as leader of an effort to dislodge Chiang Kai-shek.
"Fighting will cease only when Chiang Kai-shek is overthrown," is the concluding sentence of the document, which is 6000 words long.

A New War Lord.
The paper says the Kuomintang after 1924, organized its own army to relieve the people from oppression and misery. The northern expedition, it says, was launched "not only to overthrow the war lords but to ensure that no successors to them should arise." However, it continues, such a war lord has arisen in Chang Kai-shek.

"The minimum desideratum of the Kuomintang," continues the manifesto, "is to establish honest, clean government; but under Chiang's dictatorship the greed and corruption of officials has been worse than under the Manchu regime. Bribery and embezzlement of public funds have been encouraged and tax monopolies have been sold."

"Instead of a civil service being established, minor official positions have been given to the relatives of high officials and to the henchmen and relatives of neo-militarists."
The manifesto accuses Chiang of monopolizing revenues, stating that bonds have been issued to the extent of more than $300,000,000 without any accounting, while no succor has been provided for 50-600,000 starving people in Northern China.

Confiscation and Murder.
"People cannot be deprived of rights and liberties except according to law," the document declares.
"Yet there have been numerous cases of illegal confiscation and illegal murder. Instead of disbanding the troops, Chiang has established a large army."

The manifesto also accuses the Nanking government of making secret agreements with Japan.
The Nanking government, under Finance Minister T. V. Soong, has borrowed 150,000,000 Chinese dollars, which have been used for military and political expenses connected with the Northern expedition, the special expenditures of the conflict with the Japanese. In Shanghai last summer, the fight against the Kuangsi militarists and against Feng Yu-hsiang, the "Christian General."

Chiang Kai-shek regards this sign as not too late for achieving nominal unification of the country for the first time in 10 years and its recognition by all foreign Powers.

The reorganizationists, like most of the Chinese, fall into the error of expecting China to be wholly stabilized like the United States.
Great Britain or Japan, in one year.
Therefore, they find the reconstruction accomplished by the Nanking regime unsatisfactory.

But last month the national revenues were nearly double what they have been for many years.

Introduction of a budget system is expected next year to make possible the funding of defaulted national indebtedness.

GRAND JURY ENDS
INQUIRY IN GRAFT
AT THE CITY HALL

No Further Indictments Returned With Report on Investigation of Municipal Offices.

BOND ISSUE ITEMS WERE NOT TAKEN UP

Time too Short to Look Into Expenditures as Judge Had Recommended, Says Review of Panel's Work.

The June term grand jury, in its final report to Circuit Judge Calhoun today, declared it had investigated all charges of fraud and corruption in public office which had been presented to it, and had disposed of that problem in the five indictments charging misconduct in office returned in connection with Smoke Commissioner Robert R. Gordon's coaching school for applicants for licensed engineers.

Under the head "Fraud and Corruption in Public Office," the grand jury's report said: "In its charge to this grand jury, the court recommended that further investigation be made into the question raised by the daily press of fraud and corruption in public office. The Court directed our particular attention to the expenditure of the public moneys upon all of the items under the Bond Issue of 1933. This grand jury has continued such inquiry as suggested by their predecessors in the April grand jury as to fraud and corruption with results as indicated by the several indictments returned herewith against certain municipal officers for misconduct in office. No specific evidence or complaint of other fraud or corruption in public office has been submitted to this grand jury, hence no further investigation has been made along this particular line.

Time Is Limited.

"The great volume of routine cases coming before the grand jury at this term has not left sufficient time for the further investigation of the transactions involved in the expenditure of the money under the bond issue program extending over many years of time, and touching the examination of voluminous contracts and records and many witnesses, so that in the absence of any specific complaint as to any particular item of the bond issue we have not felt justified in opening up this line of inquiry."

The indictments referred to were those against Gordon, Chief Inspector George L. Reno, secretary of the examining board of engineers; T. T. Hamilton, chief deputy smoke inspector; Frank Altman, member of the examining board; and John J. Kellogg, member of the examining board. The indictments were voted in July and formally returned in court today. Reno and his lawyer were present to urge an immediate trial.

The cases were certified to the Court of Criminal Correction inasmuch as the offense charged is a misdemeanor.

The previous grand jury indicted A. M. Ryckoff, Chicago, contractor; John C. Pritchard, Director of Public Utilities, and George B. Heath, Pritchard's chief electrical engineer, for obtaining money under false pretenses through an alleged overcharge of $175,000 by the contractor for paving not laid in his electric street lighting contract and for which he was paid on estimates approved by Pritchard and Heath. Their case has been set down for trial in November.

Supply Office Inquiry.

Discussing the jury's investigation of the Supply Commissioner's office, the report stated the jurors were "impressed with the apparent interest displayed by N. L. Meston, Supply Commissioner, in his duties," and recommended an increase in the personnel of the department.

"The fact that certain laws, applying to unrestricted bidding on supplies required for the various city institutions, works a serious handicap to the Supply Commissioner in exercising strict economy, drew our attention very noticeably," the report said.

"In this connection inferior quality and misbranded merchandise, especially as regards to foods, seems to be frequently furnished by those who are awarded contracts on the basis of low price. We would recommend that the commissioner be authorized to disqualify from bidding anyone who has been found guilty of furnishing inferior or misbranded merchandise."

Increase in Purchases.

The report quoted figures, furnished by Meston, which showed that purchases by the department increased from $1,212,572.45 in 1912 to $4,118,703.86 in 1934, while the number of buyers remained at four. These four buyers, Meston told the jury, do all the purchasing and should do the inspecting of most of the purchases made to insure the city that it receives the actual goods purchased.

Overcrowded conditions in the sleeping quarters for patients at the City Sanitarium were noted by the jury which recommended the employment of a dietitian at the sanitarium and the installation of a modern bake oven. During its visit to the Sanitarium, the jury reported, the refrigerators were found to be unsanitary and "it appeared that some of the meats in the refrigerators were unfit for use." At City Hospital No. 2 (for Negroes), the jury "found canned goods and other provisions that were not in accordance with purchases made at the Supply Commissioner's office."

The condition of the House of Detention building was described as "deplorable and wholly inadequate," and a recommendation was made for better segregation of the inmates as to age, sex and color. Conditions in other city institutions were described as satisfactory.

The report includes a long study of the Police Department and the new Police Headquarters Building in which the jury approves of the architecture and design of the building and the work of the department officials, with particular praise for the identification bureau. The report pointed out that an increase in the personnel of the police force is needed but did not offer a definite recommendation.

Larger Force Needed.

"The increase in personnel during recent years," the report said, "has not been commensurate with the growth of the city, while, on the other hand, the legitimate demands of the community upon the services of the police force have greatly increased in kind and number." Attention is called to the fact that about 400 policemen are occupied 3 or 4 hours each day in protecting children at crossings near school buildings.

The jury noted "a better and more wholesome condition with reference to the handling of bail bonds by the court and in the Circuit Attorney's office," recommending the passage of legislation for closer supervision of sureties on bail bonds.

"It is recommended that the several judges of the criminal courts continue their policy of carefully scrutinizing the property and personal qualifications of all sureties tendered and that they continue to carry out the policy of refusing to accept as surety any person against whom there is an outstanding bond forfeiture," said the report.

"We further urge that the authorities charged with responsibility in this matter work for the passage of a law in which a surety, though perfectly solvent at the time of the execution of the bond, may not legally and without recourse transfer all of his property, immediately after executing the bond upon which he has qualified as surety on the strength of owning such property. The law should be amended so as to make every such bond a lien upon the real estate of the surety, to remain in force until his bond is satisfied or otherwise discharged."

ests in the two companies have agreed in principle on plans combining the organization. Shubert Theater Corporation has assets of $25,779,347.

$40,000,000 LENT BY U. S. TO SHIP BUILDERS

Nearly a Fifth of Fund Provided in Merchant Marine Bill Is Put Out.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Government's effort to build up and restore the prestige of the American Merchant Marine through the operation of the Jones-White act is already showing results, although the $250,000,000 construction loan fund it set up has been available for only a short time.

Less than a year has passed since the first loan was made, but the Shipping Board already has apportioned nearly one-sixth of the fund to make possible the construction of modern passenger and cargo vessels. And a much greater demand for construction funds is expected by the board as soon as difficulties growing out of obstructions in the language of the act in regard to mail contracts are adjusted.

The construction plans of the United States Lines, Inc., operators of the Leviathan, call for the early building of two $30,000,000 "super-Leviathans" and two cabin ships that will cost seven or eight millions each. The Dollar Line, which have just received more than $10,000,000 for the construction of two fast combination passenger-cargo ships, contemplate building five more similar ships, and the Matson Navigation Co., wants to build three passenger ships for the San Francisco-Manila run. These ships alone, if approved by the board, would involve construction loans of more than $30,000,000.

The loans so far approved by the board, amounting to about $40,000,000, will furnish three-quarters of the construction cost of 18 ships. The two Dollar Line ships will go into the round-the-world service; the Ward Line is building two fast passenger boats for the New York to Havana run; the Panama Pacific has virtually completed the "Pennsylvania" for the New York to San Francisco route; the Grace Line obtained funds for an 18,000-ton passenger-cargo liner which will ply from New York to the West Coast of South America; the American Export Line has building four passenger-cargo ships for the New York-Mediterranean ports trade. The rest are cargo ships.

Acquired in Illinois Stabbing. By the Associated Press.

HARRISBURG, Ill., Sept. 27.—A Circuit Court jury today acquitted Raymond Whitehouse of a charge of murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Louis Choiser last November 4. The stabbing occurred near Eldorado during a dispute over the purchase of some booting whisky.

DRIVER TRIES TO RUN DOWN OFFICER, COMPANION SLAIN

Scranton, Pa. Man Had Refused to Halt When Ordered by Policemen.

By the Associated Press. SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 27.—Peter Wetter, 46 years old, of Scranton, was shot and killed today by Motorcycle Patrolman Joseph Scheidte when the driver of the car in which Wetter was riding turned out the lights and attempted to run down the policeman.

Scheidte and Lieut. Schull had gone to a residential block because of a complaint that suspicious characters were loitering there. They saw two women jump from a passing car and a third woman lying in the street screaming. The patrolman flashed a signal for the driver of the car to stop and instead the driver turned out the lights of his car and speeded toward the officer. Avoiding a collision the officer fired at the fleeing motorist, who escaped.

Later a motorist, Ted Simon, took to City Hospital a man with a bullet wound in the head who had died. The man was Wetter. Simon was apprehended and identified as the driver of the car in which Wetter had been riding.

Slayer of Wife Dies. By the Associated Press.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 27.—Henry E. Sande, a Missouri Pacific fireman and slayer of his estranged wife, died last night in General hospital here. His death was caused by self-inflicted wounds.

KEEP LAW LEAGUE' PLANNED
The Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 27.—
Plans for a "Keep Law League," designed to teach law observance to children, were submitted to the convention of American War Mothers here yesterday by Mrs. Mary Bennett of the organization's Committee on Prisoners.

Mrs. Little's plans include the organization of chapters in every school in the country, the giving of badges and the awarding of grade cards for law observance, including rules of the school and home.

She described her plan as a response to President Hoover's plea

U. S. EXPERTS ADVISE KEEPING FILM IN VAULT

Bureau of Standards' Findings Result of Cleveland Clinic Disaster.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—After an investigation resulting from the Cleveland clinic disaster last May,
the Bureau of Standards today recommended that photographic, motion picture, and X-ray films be confined in cabinets or vaults as a safety measure.

In making its recommendations the Bureau of Standards said that "for safe storage, film in any quantity should be kept either in cabinets or vaults." The storage places, it added, should be fireresistive, protected by automatic sprinklers and vented to the outside air.

"Vaults should preferably be located on the roof or in a separate building," the Bureau recommended. "Special requirements are to be met in lighting and heating.
Smoking and the carrying of open flames into the film storage are to be prohibited. The handling of the film should be done by a trained person who understands the hazards involved."

The Bureau also advocated the use of cellulose acetate or "safety" film, which it termed no more hazardous in storage than ordinary paper, and the requirements for storage of such film do not have to be nearly as rigid as those for the more inflammable kinds of photographic material.

"The storage of nitrocellulose, photographic, motion picture and X-ray film," he report continued, "presents special hazards to both life and property. These films are very flammable and can be decomposed and ignited at relatively low temperatures. The gases given off are very poisonous and also more or less explosive when mixed with air. For this reason care should be taken in storage which should be made in a proper structure."

"Nitrocellulose forms the base for nitrate films. This material is similar to celluloid and on heating to temperatures somewhat above the boiling point of water decomposition will begin, which proceeds very rapidly and develops heat, so that flaming often results."

FORD MANAGER FILES PROTEST AGAINST MEXICAN LABOR BILL

Says It Will Ruin Industry in That Country, and Urges Deputies to Amend It.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—Declaring that certain clauses in the proposed National Labor Law, approved by the Chamber of Deputies, would ruin Mexican industry, Adrian Rene Lajous, general manager of the Ford Motor Co. of Mexico, yesterday sent a memorial to Congress urging amendments to the measure.

He explained that the purpose of the memorial is to avoid a situation that might cause withdrawal of capital invested in Mexico and discourage the investment of further funds.

While the Chamber of Deputies has voted approval of the measure as a whole, it still is subject to modifications.

Lajous said the provision that would compel employers who hire more than 20 workers to enter into collective contracts with them was unconstitutional. He argued that industry in Mexico does not possess the enormous funds necessary to build homes for its workers, as provided in the bill. He also objected to the indemnity clause of the bill.

HEARING IN $4,500,000

CRASH AGAIN DELAYED
Bill Again Denied to Clarence Harty, London Financier, and Three Associates.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—Guild Hall Court was crowded today when Clarence Harty, London financier, and three associates in companies whose activities were suspended on the Stock Exchange last week, reappeared to answer charges of unlawfully conspiring to obtain £209,- 141 (about $1,045,000) by false pretenses.

The prosecuting attorney, H. D.
Roome, stated the defendants forged and issued certificated corporation stock on Gloucester Wakefield and Swindon corporations for at least £900,000 ($4,500,- 000). The case again was continued to Oct. 4. Harty was refused Roome read purported statements by Harty and his associates in which the former stated that the stock referred to in the certificate issued was non-existent and that the stock was pledged as security in obtaining a loan of £209,000.
"There are other irregularities in the affairs of the group of companies which I controlled," said the statement read by Roome.

Board of Equalization Puts Total of Such Property in Its Jurisdiction at $494,305,437.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 27.—The State Board of Equalization today placed an assessed valuation of $494,305,437 on all public utility property in Missouri, except certain property assessed locally and exclusive of gas, water, steam-heating and municipally owned plants for 1929 taxes. This is an increase of $8,185,950 over the State assessment of utilities for 1928.

The total assessed valuation of all taxable property in Missouri for 1929 will be approximately $4,925,400,000, based on assessments finally determined by the Board of Equalization so far, and estimated for two small assessments still to be determined. This will be a gain of approximately $14,000,000 over the total assessment for 1928. Real Estate $3,553,350,980.

The board has fixed a valuation of $1,553,350,980 for real estate and $2,392,000,000 for personal property. The assessments still to be determined are for private cars operated on railroads, estimated at $5,400,000, and that of merchants and manufacturers, estimated at $240,000,000. The latter assessment is made by local authorities and certified to the State.

Assessments of utilities made by the State Board of Equalization cover the property of the public utilities companies, except real estate and buildings and certain other property items which are assessed by local assessors. The board does not have direct control of the assessments of gas, steam-heating and water companies and municipally owned public utility plants are exempt from taxation.

Utility Valuations.
Valuations fixed for the utilities by the board, with the increase over or decrease from the 1928 assessed valuation, follow:
Steam railroads, 69 companies, $254,834,754; decrease of $422,902.
Street railways and interurbans, 15 companies, $61,802,000; decrease of $1,668,563.
Bridges, 16 companies, $6,727,527; no change from 1928 valuation.

Electric light, power and transmission, 82 companies, $72,679,099; increase of $7,002,455.
Telegraph, five companies, $6,645,396; increase of $35,693.
Telephone, 244 companies, $43,209,133; increase of $1,479,595.
Oil pipe lines, three companies, $18,316,618; increase of $7,737,772.

The Board of Equalization made few changes in the recommendations of the State Tax Commission. Slight changes were made in the recommendations on railroads, street railways and electric light and power companies.

Decrease for Public Service Co.
The board assessed St. Louis Public Service Co. at $45,047,622, including $769,348 for the Missouri Electric Railroad Co. (Wellston-St. Charles Line). This is a decrease of $1,342,258 from the combined assessments for 1928.

property assessed locally. The Board of Equalization fixed a valuation of $4,925,400,000 for the State, exclusive of gas, water, steam-heating and municipally owned plants for 1929 taxes. This was an increase of $8,185,950 over the 1928 assessment. The Laclede electric department was valued by the Public Service Commission at $5,945,000 as of Oct. 1, 1928, for rate-making purposes. The St. Louis Terminal Railroad Association was assessed at $13,788,940, a decrease of $23,400 from the 1928 assessment of four substant companies of the terminal were as follows: St. Louis Belt & Terminal Railway, $442,244, no change from last year; Merchants' Bridge Terminal Railway, $2,923, a decrease of $12,509.

784, a decrease of $26,800; Louis Terminal Railway, no change from last year; Merchants' Bridge Terminal Railway, $2,923, a decrease of $12,509.

SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE HARD-BOILED, SAYS BROOKHART

Remark Made During Debate on Iowa's Bill to Aid World War Veterans.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Sharp debate over pending veterans' legislation was precipitated in the Senate yesterday by Senator Brookhart (Rep., Iowa), who sought action on one of his bills to aid World War soldiers.

The discussion drew caustic remarks from half a dozen Senators and called from Brookhart the statement that the Finance Committee was the "hardest-boiled" in the Senate.

The Iowa's observation followed his request for transfer from that committee to the Pensions Committee of his bill to free the veteran from the necessity of proving that his disability was caused by service in the war.

Chairman Smoot jumped to his feet to remark that the Iowa Senator's statement was "unjust and uncalled for," and asked him to withdraw it.

"I would accommodate the Senator if I could in good conscience," Brookhart retorted.

Smoot said he would much prefer that the bill remain in his committee, and promised action on it at the next regular session.

RULING ON LIGHTING PLANT SEIZED IN DRY RAID SOUGHT

Supreme Court Asked to Pass on Confiscation of Machinery Not Paid For.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Government has asked the Supreme Court to decide the right of industrial establishments to recover property seized in connection with a violation of the prohibition law.

The controversy selected as a test case arose in Massachusetts in 1925, when an electric lighting plant was seized by Federal prohibition agents in a raid on the Elk Breeding and Grazing Association farm at Middleboro.

The plant, built by the Kohler company, was installed in a building on the association's farm, and a last installment of the purchase price became due a day after the seizure. The Kohler company demanded the return of the plant and the Circuit Court of Appeals upheld the claim on the ground that it had not been used in or designed for the unlawful manufacture of liquor.

EXTORTION PLOT
IN CHICAGO PAVING WORK CHARGED

State's Attorney Calls Contractors in Inquiry of Alleged Conspiracy to Control Bids.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—A paving scandal, ramified with charges of extortion and conspiracy to commit murder, today started State's Attorney Swanson on an investigation of the Paving Contractors' Association.

James A. McGarry, secretary of the association and wealthy head of the paving company bearing his name, was one of six men called to police headquarters for questioning. McGarry was released early today after denying charges of conspiracy to control all paving jobs and to "freeze out" smaller contractors.

The trouble started Monday when three unions employed in completing the outer drive from Thirty-ninth to Fifty-first streets called out their men. The unions involved were the laborers, the engineers and the excavating teamsters.

Cause for Walkout.
The McGrath & Swanson Co., an independent concern, has filed a $200,000 bond to guarantee completion of the drive by Nov. 2. The walkout, according to charges the State's Attorney heard, may have been promoted by a desire to embarrass the McGrath-Swanson company.

Some disclosures of that kind were made by James Rowan, a sub-contractor for McGrath-Swanson. It was Rowan, police said, who told of a plan to kill a labor officer who, he believed, had double-crossed him.

Rowan, Steve Oswald and Daniel McGeorghegan, the latter known as a gunman once sentenced to life for murder, were arrested in the office of an attorney where, it was said, they had gone in an effort at extortion.

"We weren't in the office to extort money from Hayes McKinney (the attorney)," Rowan was quoted as saying. "That's been done already. I hired McGeorghegan and Oswald to 'get' a man for me. We expected this man—John J. Flynn, business agent of the Excavating Teamsters' Union—to appear at the lawyer's office."

Terms of Agreement.
Rowan explained the strike had affected him, as he had a sub-contract from the McGrath-Swanson company. He said Flynn had promised to "fix it up" for the members of the three unions to return to work provided he received $5000. Rowan said he gave the money to Flynn, but that only the laborers returned to work.

Flynn was found early today at Sawyer, Mich. The State's Attorney said an effort would be made to compel his return to Chicago.

Assistant State's Attorney Mueller said he already had sufficient evidence to warrant conspiracy charges against members of the Paving Contractors' Association which, he declared, virtually controlled all paving work in the city.

Among those sought for questioning was Patrick H. Moynihan, former chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

FLOOD IN NORTH GEORGIA

Savannah River Over Its Banks; Hamburg Under Water.

By the Associated Press.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 27.—Following a heavy rain here which in the last 24 hours reached 6.88 inches, Augusta today was cut off from highway and train communication with the outside. The Savannah River, which separates Augusta from South Carolina, was at the highest stage in its history. At 10 a. m. the gauge was 45 feet. Augusta itself was not in danger behind a new levee, nine miles long. Hamburg, across the Savannah River from Augusta, was under 12 feet of water. Residents have fled to higher ground.

The trial of Burley Adams for killing a prohibition agent was halted today by high water at Appling, near here. Marooned in the Appling courthouse, the jury and Judge A. L. Franklin were cut off from George Hains, Solicitor-General, J. B. Burnside, defense counsel and even from the defendant himself.

EMMERSON WON'T SEEK EXTRADITION OF SHAD BENNETT

Illinois Governor Finds It Is Not Shown St. Louis Lawyer Was in State at Time of Crime.

Gov. Emmerson of Illinois yesterday refused to honor the requisition of Jackson County for the extradition of R. Shad Bennett and Archer C. Britt, St. Louis attorneys and law office associates, at liberty on bond in St. Louis and wanted at Murphysboro under indictments charging conspiracy to murder.

The Governor acted on a recommendation of Dewitt Billman, secretary of the Legislative Reference Branch, who held that, as it was not shown in the request that Bennett or Britt were in Illinois at the time of the alleged crime, they are not fugitives under the law and cannot be extradited.

Bennett and Britt are under indictments returned Sept. 11 at Murphysboro alleging they conspired with Ransom Bennett, Benton, a brother of R. Shad Bennett, to kill Olin King, a bankrupt West Frankfort meat market proprietor. R. Shad Bennett had lent King $20,000, with life insurance policies for $12,000 as partial security. The bankruptcy of King is said to have engendered ill feeling between him and Bennett. The latter and Britt were arrested in St. Louis and gave bond. Ransom Bennett was arrested at Benton and gave bond at Murphysboro.

To Arrest Them in Illinois. State's Attorney Fletcher Lewis at Murphysboro today said he would make no further efforts to extradite Bennett and Britt from St. Louis, but would cause their arrest if they are found in Illinois.

"I do not believe those men will remain long out of the State of Illinois," said Lewis. "and should I ever get them in custody, I will prosecute them. I will file the case away pending their apprehension in this State."

"In our application to the Governor for extradition papers we could not show, as required by the Federal statutes, that either of the men wanted had been in Illinois at or about the time the alleged crime was committed, although constructively they were in the State as part of the alleged conspiracy. In the circumstances we do not wish to be at odds with the Governor and will await an opportunity to catch Bennett and Britt in Illinois."

Billman, at Springfield, told the Post-Dispatch that the Supreme Court of the United States has held that, in constitutional law, it must be shown in an application for the removal of a fugitive from one State to another, that the defendant was in the State in which he was wanted at or about the time of the alleged crime.

Says He Was Hired for Crime. The indictments of the Bennetts and Britt were based largely on testimony of Charles Lowe, St. Louis private detective, that Bennett hired him to kill King. Britt was alleged by Lowe to have introduced him to Bennett. Ransom Bennett is said to have pointed out King's home for Lowe.

Shad Bennett resides at 5200 McPherson avenue, and Britt at 5814 Cabanne avenue. They have made a general denial of the charge.

TWO ACQUITTED OF SHOOTING INTO HOME IN BRENTWOOD

Arthur Withrow and Leo Gibbin Cleared by Jury; Merle Lemcke Freed on Demurrer.

Arthur Withrow and Leo Gibbin, tried for shooting into the home of Edward J. Burke, 1827 Warren avenue, Brentwood, Aug. 7, 1928, were acquitted by a jury in Circuit Judge Leahy's court at Clayton yesterday. The jury deliberated for an hour.

Burke, who has been active in the village politics of Brentwood, being largely responsible for the removal of Mayor Edward Weitzel, father, the late W. A. Withrow, said he could not identify Withrow, Gibbin or Merle Lemcke, who was freed on a demurrer yesterday. George Moeller, former City Marshal, testified that Withrow and Gibbin were in an automobile from which five shots were fired.

The defense was an alibi that the defendants were at Clayton obtaining election returns at the time of the shooting.

1000 STRIKE IN KANSAS CITY. KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27.—Police guards were called today to the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co. plant following a strike of between 1000 and 2000 workers who complained of pay changes and working conditions.

No violence was reported, the strikers contenting themselves with jeering company officers and the police. Most of the participants in the walkout are women and girls.

The strikers objected to a new system of pay based on production. They contended they were pitted against one another and no matter what production resulted the pay was less.

James McQueeney, manager, said industrious workers could earn more money than under the old plan and that the scheme was devised to eliminate loafers.

SUIT OVER REWARD REDUCES AMOUNT NEARLY ONE-HALF

Twenty-One Claimed to Have Aided in Conviction of Knottmeyer, Mo., Bank Robber.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 27.—A trial was held in the Circuit Court Wednesday to determine amount of reward due residents of the Lamotte-Knottmeyer neighborhood for the arrest and conviction of Carl Godsey now serving a term in the State penitentiary for robbing a bank at Knottmeyer. Highway Officials Confer at Springfield Concerning Wabash River Structures.

By the Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 27.—Having tentatively reached an agreement Wednesday, highway officials of Illinois and Indiana await approval of their respective Governors before starting work on construction of two interstate bridges across the Wabash.

At a conference it was agreed that Illinois would supervise construction of the bridge at Mount Carmel and Indiana that at Vincennes. Each State will bear half the cost.

At the conference the Indiana representatives were A. J. Wedeling, chief of the State Highway Commission; W. J. Titus, highway engineer; Fred Kellam, bridge engineer, and A. D. Ross, assistant Attorney-General. Representing Illinois were H. H. Clearland, director of public works and buildings; Ralph Benedict, acting chief of highway engineer; George Birch, bridge engineer, and William Troutman, assistant Attorney-General.

BROOKHART WILL HAVE TO WAIT TO TELL JURY OF WET DINNER

Present Body Cannot Undertake Inquiry Because It Is About to Adjourn, Prosecutor Says.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The announced willingness of Senator Brookhart, (Rep.), Iowa, to describe a specific instance of prohibition law violation in a Washington hotel to a District of Columbia Grand Jury has drawn from District Attorney Rover a statement that he would be glad to have the Senator "testify to any facts which he has personal knowledge."

Because the term of the present Grand Jury expires next Monday, however, Rover said this would not be possible before the convening of the October jury.

Senator Brookhart several days ago described in detail in the Senate a dinner at the Willard Hotel given in honor of newly-elected and re-elected Senators at which he said an abundance of liquor was available.

LINDBERGH TO HUNT MAYA MYSTERY CLEW

Hopes to Discover Secret of Inter-City Communication 2000 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will lead an air expedition sponsored by the Carnegie Institution of Washington and the Pan-American Airways, Inc., into regions not yet penetrated by white men.

Flights will be made over vast areas of strange territory in the Mexican Provinces of Yucatan and Quintana Roo, and in Guatemala, Honduras, and British Honduras. Accompanied by Dr. Oliver Ricketson, Carnegie Institution authority on Maya archaeology and discoverer of many ruins, he will take bearings on jungle cities. From them they will chart a course into unexplored territory so that cities discovered from the air may be found later by land parties without blind searching.

Aerial photographs will be taken of the ruins of temples and pyramids that graced once proud and wealthy cities, to determine how much of the plan and extent of ancient communities can be made out from the air.

The sponsors hope the expedition will disclose the mystery that clothed the means of inter-city communication 2000 years ago by the discovery of an ancient highway said to be in the depths of obliterating growth tangle. Also, the sources of the water supply for the great populations that once inhabited the cities will be sought.

Belize, British Honduras, will be the base of operations, for the expedition, which will get under way as soon as Lindbergh completes his present South American flight. It was while flying from Belize in February that Lindbergh flew over Yucatan and observed what appeared to be two emerald eyes staring upward from the bush. Scoping earthward he found the ruins of a city of untold age, beaten down by the elements and time. Near a strange temple that reared its broken head above neighboring pyramids, were two pools of green water gleaming from white basins built centuries ago.

Lindbergh told Carnegie executives of his find and expressed a desire to visit the strange city again. Experiments conducted in New Mexico last summer in photographing prehistoric Indian Pueblos were so satisfactory, the Central American expedition was arranged.

Should a forced landing in the tangle be necessary, Lindbergh and his companions might not emerge for weeks. If at all. Scientists have been known to pass within a few yards of a jungle-engulfed city without seeing it because of the dense vegetation. Drinkable water is scarce in many regions there and archeologists say the same conditions exist in the uncharted areas.

RESTRICTIONS ON ARMY FLYERS AT LOCAL AIR CELEBRATIONS

U. S. Pilots May Not Participate When There Is Stunting: Expenses Must Be Paid.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The War Department has issued regulations restricting participation by the Army Air Corps in local celebrations because of the constant drain on personnel and equipment.

The policy is similar to that adopted by the Navy a year ago. Under the new regulations, participation will be authorized only on holidays, but in no place where other participants put on exhibitions of wing walking, trapeze work and changing from one plane to another in the air.

Sponsors of celebrations will be required to pay the personal expenses of the army aviators, provide suitable motor fuel, guard and store the aircraft properly, and provide insurance amounting to $20,000 for public liability and $25,000 for property damage.

ADMITS PUSHING MAN OFF BROOKLYN ELEVATED PLATFORM

Tailor, Out of Work, Explains Death of Manufacturer, Which Had Been Considered Accidental.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A statement that he had pushed James J. Tucker, 67 years old, wealthy paper box manufacturer, off a Brooklyn elevated platform, Wednesday, causing his death, was made yesterday by David Bernstein, 42 years old, a tailor.

Police were working on the theory that Tucker's death was accidental, when Bernstein walked into a police station.

"Something told me to push him off," Bernstein said, "so I crept up behind him and pushed him off."

Bernstein said he never had seen Tucker before.

Bernstein, father of four children, said he has been out of employment for two years and this has preyed on his mind.

U. S. DRY AGENT'S SLAYER DIES

One of Six in Pistol Fight Succumbs at San Antonio, Tex.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 27.—Pedro Guajardo, member of the gang that shot and fatally wounded Charles Stevens, Federal prohibition officer, in a pistol fight on a highway near here Monday, died last night of wounds suffered in the fight.

Guajardo was one of six persons charged with the murder of Stevens. The others are his wife, Mrs. Louisa Guajardo, Joe Hoebrecht, alleged leader of a bootleg ring in San Antonio, Alice Smith, Lee Cottle, alias Louis Copeland, and Lina Stephens. All except Stephens have been arrested.

WOMAN SUES TO RECOVER $20,000 INVESTED IN STOCK

Seeks to Surrender Shares and Employment Agreement in Order to Get Her Money Back.

Miss Ottilie Harwood, 4615 Lindell boulevard, filed suit in Circuit Court yesterday to recover $20,000 she invested in stock of the Marquette Iron & Steel Co. and the St. Louis Exploration Co., a holding concern for the steel company. In filing the suit she tenders the stock certificates into court as well as an agreement whereby she was to have a position as secretary-treasurer of the companies at a salary of $5000 a year, and offers to surrender them to the companies. She charges that their representatives were not authorized to sell stock in Missouri.

Besides the two corporations, J. J. O'Brien, president of the Exploration company, and E. M. McGary, president of the Marquette Co., are named defendants along with George Smith Jr. and Felix Gardner, agents.

O'Brien asserted that the transaction with Miss Harwood was regular and that all agreements with her had been fulfilled.

For years Miss Harwood has been an executive of the Koerber-Brenner Co., a musical instrument concern.

BYRD'S RADIO ENGINEER TO RECEIVE MEDAL!

Award Will Be Made by Wireless Tonight From Studio in New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—A radio message flashed across 11,000 miles of land and water tonight from the Radio World's Fair in Madison Square Garden to Commander Byrd's camp at Little America, Antarctica, will announce the award of a gold medal to Malcolm P. Hanson, chief radio engineer of the expedition.

The medal is given by the Veteran Wireless Operators' Association for meritorious service. David Barnoff, executive vice president of the Radio Corporation of America, will make the presentation at 8:15 p. m., St. Louis time. Listeners may hear the ceremony over WEA and associated stations.

Mrs. Uphasia Hanson has been invited to be at the crystal studio at the radio show to accept the medal for her husband and receive the acknowledgement from Little America, which by radio, is only about one-twentieth of a second from New York.

Linked with the coast-to-coast network will be short wave stations associated with WGY at Schenectady, N. Y., which are to flash the messages to station WFA at Little America. It is expected that Mrs. Hanson will speak directly to her husband during the ceremony. Hanson's reply will be intercepted at the New York Times receiving station and relayed to the Garden to be read before WEA's microphones.

Hanson is the seventh wireless operator to receive the medal, which is given annually for "unusual accomplishments and service in line of duty." This award is to be made in recognition of Hanson's accomplishments during the last 12 months in keeping the Byrd expedition in constant touch with the world, besides the feat of clearing a long daily news dispatch to New York over the radio facilities of the exploration party.

FOUR SENATORIAL RACE WORRY G. O. P. LEADERS

New Jersey, Kentucky, Delaware and West Virginia Opposition Formidable.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Political situations developing in the forthcoming senatorial contests in two Atlantic coast and a like number of nearby "border" states are giving Republican leaders here as much concern as are those in some of the New England commonwealths.

A bitter internal strife is developing in New Jersey, with formidable Democratic opposition a possibility in the 1930 general elections, while the G. O. P. leaders expect a real contest in Delaware, where former Senator Thomas F. Bayard, Democrat, will oppose Senator Daniel O. Hastings.

With a party fight looming in Kentucky, some of the Republican chieftains make no effort to conceal their anxiety about the outcome there. They also are far from sanguine about the West Virginia outlook, as former Senator M. M. Neely, Democrat, will seek to defeat Senator Guy D. Goff, Republican.

The removal of Senator Walter F. Edge from the domestic political arena to the ambassadorial post at Paris opens the way to a fairly general scramble for the Republican Senatorial nomination in New Jersey. Former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen already is in the field. Franklin W. Fort, member of Congress and secretary of the Republican national committee, is considering his candidacy, as is former Gov. Edward C. Stokes.

David Baird Jr., who is expected here to be appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Edge when he resigns late this year to go to Paris, undoubtedly will be a candidate for the party nomination to succeed himself. The Democrats have yet to offer a candidate, but in the minority party councils here there is some talk of former Governor Moore entering the field. Representative John M. Robison may get into the Kentucky Republican primary against Senator Frederic M. Sackett. They long have been political enemies and some of the party leaders here hold that a bitter contest between them, such as might be expected, would lessen chances of victory in the general election.

Judge M. M. Logan of the Kentucky State Supreme Court and former Senator Stanley, are being discussed as possible Democratic candidates in the contest against the winner in the Republican primary race.

Neely already is active in the effort to regain a place in the Senate. He was defeated last November in the Hoover landslide by only a few thousand votes and Democratic leaders contend—and some of the Republicans concede—that he will make a strong race with the result rather in doubt.

Two Attempt Jail Break. POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Sept. 27. —be attempted Wednesday night, Sheriff Ray McCown and his deputies waited until early yesterday morning before they found two men on the fourth floor sawing the bars with a hack saw, which had been smuggled into the jail. They are Raymond Weakley, charged with the murder of his wife, and Eura Bushears, charged with theft of an automobile.

Killed in Crossing Crash.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 27. —Oscar Svedholm, 29 years old, was instantly killed and Rafoed Ransom injured when their auto was struck by a Frisco passenger train at a grade crossing between Monette and Leachville Wednesday. One other occupant, who was uninjured is said to have jumped from the car before the crash.

Naming of G. O. P. Commemorated by the Associated Press. EXETER, N. H., Sept. 27. —A tablet commemorative of the naming of the Republican party here in 1852 was unveiled yesterday at Boston. The inscription on the the Swampscott house, Miss Lois Conner of this city, a descendant of Amos Tuck, who gave the party its name, unveiled the tablet which was the gift of Harry V. Lord of Boston. The inscription on the tablet reads: "On this site the Republican party was so named by Amos Tuck, Oct. 12, 1852." Fannie Franciosa, Singer, Dies. By the Associated Press. PARIS, Sept. 27.—Fannie Franciosa, an opera singer, who came to Europe from California, died today after a long illness. She was the wife of Jacques Cotel, an opera director.

TERRORISTS HURT CAUSE IN GERMANY BY USING BOMBS

"Chouans" of Schleswig-Holstein a Serious Problem in Anti-Republic Agitation, However.

PAGAN TRADITION SPURS THEM ON

Reactionary Movement Arises Among Common People and Is Not Organized From Above.

By ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT, Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—In Schleswig-Holstein a group of Monarchist irremediably has started a movement against the German republic and the whole system of centralized government which has come to public attention through the series of bombs placed in public buildings in various parts of Northern Germany, including the Reichstag, in Berlin.

The bombs terrorized nobody. They only made it evident there are still violent groups in Germany determined to fight the republic by any means. They have had the opposite effect from the one intended, and have won votes for the new law for protection of the republic, which must come before the Reichstag and affirm the permanency of the republic.

But the movement in the country is to resist paying taxes and to disavow central government. There has been started a Chouan agitation which may prove less bloody but as difficult to put an end to as the antirepublican movement in the west of France which gave the word "Chouan" its meaning.

Tradition for Pagan God. It is not by accident that the German Chouans have first been heard from in Schleswig-Holstein. Joined to up-to-date agricultural methods there is a religious cult in all that part of Germany which had its beginning in Pagan times. The Chouans of France were moved by a mystic fervor which developed fanatics; in Schleswig-Holstein the religious tradition also comes down from the Pagan god Wotan, and, despite the centuries of Christianity, it was exactly in this region that the racist organizations sprang up after the war and proclaimed the "German God." Pride of race had a sufficiently strong connection with the remote past to cause a mystic conception.

Of course it is easy to exaggerate influences of this kind, but, taken in connection with organized national resistance to the new order—especially when the present Chouan agitation to prove its existence—it is not surprising that the deeper significance of bomb outrages is much discussed in Germany.

The spirit of the old regime in Germany, especially in the north and east, is, moreover, more persistent than the modern German cares to admit, or the average visitor ever suspects. There still exists a wide difference between the mentalities of the city and the country. The reactionaries are now making one last effort to take advantage of it before they give up, before the political progress which Germany has made under the republic.

Former Lords Maintain Caste. The Chouans of Schleswig-Holstein prove what the reactionaries can do. In the great plains of grain and scrub pine which stretch across Northern Germany to East Prussia, the feudal estate remains for the most part intact and the peasants are as disposed to regard Berlin unfavorably as their former lords.

The former lords are there on the land, incidentally, and maintain their caste as strictly as ever. In comparison with Germany as a whole, they may be in a hopeless minority, and the constant diminution of the Monarchist party with each election makes their position politically desperate. But they come of a race which has developed poor land into rich provinces, and, living under a feudal system right down to our own times, they have maintained a purity of race and singleness of purpose which have not changed even in recent years.

The Chouans of Schleswig-Holstein are, it is to be noted, the common run of people. For that matter, none of violently reactionary or racist movements in Germany has been organized from above. To make the distinction of the old German army, these movements have not come from the officer class, the officers having their own organization apart, but are activated by what would be called in Germany the "unintelligent" class the sons of solid peasants and small town traders, in whom the discipline and order of the old regime lives as a vital force.

Discipline Survives. In Germany as a whole it is the survival of national discipline which has brought the country back to its right position in Europe, but confined to a particular class under special conditions it

CHEF LISTS FAVORITE DISHES OF EX-KAISER

Gives Recipes for Dumplings Which Former German Ruler Enjoyed.

Favorite recipes that pleased the palate of former Kaiser Wilhelm were described yesterday by Joseph Sand, 3960 Delmar boulevard, who says that he was personal chef to the Emperor from 1909 until a year before the outbreak of the World War, but has since cooked for American clubs and restaurants.

"The Kaiser was an epicure," Sand said, "craving such delicacies as shark fins and the finest Russian caviar but there were several simpler dishes which were prime favorites with him."

"Perhaps his favorite dish was what I named 'Kaiser Schmoren.' This is prepared by baking a fine pancake batter into very thin pancakes. They must then be sliced on julienne, fried in sweet butter in a frying pan, sprinkled with cinnamon and served piping hot."

"The Kaiser was very fond also of appetizing side dishes. Frequently he took me with his entourage to his hunting preserves in the Black Forest where he would kill wild boars. I was required to roast them and also to prepare venison. But no matter how fine the boar, he liked a side dish to go with it, called Thüringer Klösse, which really means what you in America call dumplings."

"This dish also was ordered whenever he had a stew and it goes very well with stew. It is composed of raw potatoes, which must be well grated, stewed prunes, stoned, and flour and eggs. It is mixed dumpling size and cooked in boiling water for 25 minutes. A little salt should be added to the water. After they are boiled the dumplings should be sprinkled over with browned bread crumbs and butter."

The Emperor's meals were ordered through an adjutant, Sand said, but when he was in a good humor the Kaiser would sometimes visit the kitchen.

"If he was in an especially pleasant mood," Sand related, "he would look at me, smile, salute martially and say: 'Hoch, chef.' He was hard to please, but when he liked a dish he would say so and his adjutant would let me know about it. And he indicated also when my dishes had not found favor."

Sand described the Kaiser as a strict disciplinarian in his family circle, often inflicting corporal punishment upon the younger of his four sons.

After leaving the Kaiser's household, of which he became a part at the suggestion of the Crown Prince, who had tasted his cooking while he was a chef at the Hotel Royal, Bonn-on-the-Rhine, Sand said he served as chef aboard the Leviathan for six voyages during World War days.

WOULD BAR YOUNG PASTOR BECAUSE HE USED TOBACCO

M. E. South Conference Debates Whether He Should Be Admitted as Deacon.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 26. —Recommendation that a pastor who had been on trial for two years because of his use of tobacco throw the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session here, into debate yesterday. At the suggestion of Bishop Collins Denny, the report was returned to committee with the hope that it can adjust the difficulty.

The pastor whose use of tobacco was criticized is the Rev. Henry W. Craver, pastor at Augusta, W. Va. During the discussion, one of the members of the conference said "as long as leaders of the conference use tobacco, it is bad for me to condemn one of the best young men for the same thing." Mr. Craver had said to the committee he would not use tobacco publicly but would reserve the right to smoke in his room.

SWEDEN HONORS CHICAGOAN

Vincent Bendix Gave $65,000 to Loma Temple.

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 27. —Vincent Bendix of Chicago, who recently gave $65,000 to the City of Stockholm for the purchase of a complete Loma Temple, was received in private audience by King Gustave yesterday.

The King expressed his sincere thanks for the generous report which Bendix had rendered Swedish science in assisting the expedition of Dr. Sven Hedin in Tibet and other Asian countries. The American also was received by the Swedish Premier and dined today with King Gustave and the Crown Prince and Princess.

CREDIT FUND SOUGHT IN CITY

St. Louis' Quota for Protection Is $1,750,000.

A committee of about 100 St. Louis business men headed by D. J. McMahon will begin an active campaign next week to raise St. Louis' quota of the $1,750,000 credit protection fund sought by the National Association of Credit Men.

The fund will replace one raised five years ago and now exhausted. It will be used to prosecute credit frauds and reduce credit losses. The movement has been endorsed by President Hoover and several members of his Cabinet.

SIX FOUND GUILTY OF DRY ACT VIOLATION

Members of Collinsville Group Get From 60 Days to Two Years.

By the Associated Press.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 27.—Adolph Rostello, William Traina, John Coyette, Arthur Binckel, George Wencil and Baptist Lantieri, all of Collinsville, were found guilty in United States District Court here of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act. Edward Koch, indicted with them, pleaded guilty. Rostello and Minckel, ringleaders in the conspiracy, were sentenced by Judge Lindley to two years each in Leavenworth Penitentiary and fined $5000. Koch, on whose farm a still was found, and Lantieri, who was active in the trucking of supplies to the still, were sentenced to nine months in jail and were fined $1000.

Traina got six months in jail and was fined $500. Wencil, a farm laborer, and Coyette, received 60 days each, Wencil being fined $200 and Coyette $500.

It was disclosed that Rostello and Minckel operated a trucking business in Collinsville under the name of A. Rostello & Co., and in nine months they had purchased 1,593,000 pounds of corn sugar from the Corn Products Refining Co., Pekin, Ill., and between $600 and 700 pounds of yeast a month from the Fleischman Co. under the name of A. Minckel & Co.

With the exception of Koch, all the defendants took the witness stand and declared they did not know that yeast and corn sugar could be made to produce alcohol. Collinsville and vicinity were declared by United States Attorney Harold Baker to be the scene of distilling operations that furnish alcohol for St. Louis, East St. Louis and Southern Illinois, but Mayor Niehaus of Collinsville, a character witness for Rostello, declared that this was news to him. Harry Heuer, Chester, pleading guilty to a charge of altering a Government adjusted service certificate to obtain a $30 loan from a Chester bank, was sentenced to 30 days in jail on his promise to reimburse the bank.

MERGER STIMULATES GOLD

MINING IN NEW GUINEA

New $25,000,000 Company Formed; Miners' Experiences With Natives.

By the Associated Press.
SYDNEY, Australia, Sept. 27.—Extensive gold mining developments by various Australian and British companies in New Guinea have been stimulated by a merger involving $25,000,000.

The new company will operate no alluvial deposits and quartz reefs and will hold valuable timber concessions. In order to develop these resources to the utmost a railway has been surveyed from the coast to Wau, 60 miles inland and a town site has been projected at the terminus.

Motor roads and a light railway are being surveyed to the top of Eddie plateau, 7000 feet above sea level.

Letters from miners who have gone to this new gold field vividly describe their adventures on the fringe of the unexplored hinterland of New Guinea, a region inhabited by primitive native tribes.

The latter are shy and difficult to photograph. The sight of a camera or phonograph sends them helter-skelter into the bush. They call at the camps of prospectors and barter foodstuffs for trinkets and knives.

Transport from the fever-stricken coast to the heights of the Eddie plateau, where most of the mining ventures are located, is made largely by airplanes.

ASKS GRAND JURY TO INDICT SUNDAY BASEBALL PLAYERS

Arkansas Judge Urges Prosecution of Persons Attending Games
Also.

BENTONVILLE, Ark., Sept. 26.—Circuit Judge J. S. Maples has charged the Benton County grand jury to investigate violations of the Sabbath, particularly Sunday baseball. He urged the grand jury to indict players and those who attended or encouraged Sunday games.

"I have no fight to make against the game of baseball, but the law of this State forbids the playing of this game on Sunday," the Judge said. "When any person or group of persons say by their actions and conduct that they are bigger and stronger than the law, and flout and boast their violation in the presence of officers whose sworn duty it is to enforce this law, are we to be comrades? Will we do what we have sworn we would do when we accepted office, or will we falter, fail, and neglect to do what our law says we shall do?"

"It is a fact that throughout our great Government much propaganda is going on to destroy the sanctity and sacredness of our Christian Sabbath. If our Sabbath is destroyed, one of the chief cornerstones of our Government is destroyed and our Government is greatly weakened."

OFFICIAL ITALIAN WAR FILM

Scenes on Austrian Front to Be Shown Oct. 4.

A St. Louis showing of official Italian Government war films taken on the Austrian front during the engagements of 1915 and 1916 will be given Friday evening, Oct. 4, at the Columbia Theater, 1537 Southwest avenue, by the St. Louis Chapter of Italian War Veterans. The films were obtained from the Italian Government in Rome by Lieut. Carlo Marcelli, now commander of the local veterans' organization.

REOPENS BANKRUPT PLANT IN NEW NAME

Head of Paper Company Explains Father Bought Machinery of Closed Factory.

About a week after the Northern-Crescent Paper Co. filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition on AUG. 15, its former president, Russell Whitney Meredith, opened another paper business on the premises formerly occupied by the bankrupt at 1800 North Ninth street. This was disclosed during Meredith's testimony in Bankruptcy Court yesterday.

Meredith denied that about $500 worth of printing machinery utilized by the Northern-Crescent company and now used by the new business belonged to the former firm. The machinery, he said, was owned by his father, who furnished the Northern-Crescent company money for its purchase under an agreement whereby he was to get 10 per cent of its profits. No profits, however, were forthcoming, he said.

Asked about the Northern-Crescent company's connection with the Plymouth Paper Co., he testified that the latter was simply a trade name under which the former did a retail business to avoid the appearance of competing with its customers.

About a week after the bankruptcy Meredith sent customers circulars announcing he had formed the Whitney Paper Co. to operate on the former premises of the Plymouth Paper Co. The new company, he said, also employed the trade name of the Mound City Paper and Print Co. for the same purpose for which the bankrupt used two names.

In its schedule the bankrupt company lists assets of $9734 and liabilities of $17,947.

It will be recalled that Louis J. Porter, attorney for the bankrupt, has attributed the difficulties of the Plymouth Paper Co. to the employment of Meredith D. Padfield, who acted as Federal Prohibition Agent while a salesman for the paper firm. Porter pointed out that good will of the firm was impaired when Padfield trapped customers in liquor sales. Padfield was dismissed by the company. Padfield's operations were held to be proper by Washington authorities.

$60,000 SWINDLER RECEIVES INDETERMINATE SENTENCE

R. B. Etherington of O'Fallon, Ill., gets from 1 to 14 years on Plea of Guilty.

Roy B. Etherington, former school teacher and automobile dealer in O'Fallon, Ill., was sentenced to serve from one to fourteen years in the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., when he pleaded guilty yesterday at Belleville to a charge of forgery.

Etherington, a prominent and respected citizen of O'Fallon until his arrest last June, is said to have defrauded two Belleville finance companies of about $60,000 through sales of forged and fictitious sales contracts. He evaded detection for almost a year by making monthly payments to the finance companies.

The specific charge to which he pleaded guilty was the sale of $899 to the Belle-Clair Finance Co. of a contract to which he forged the name of a resident of Troy, Ill. It is expected that thirteen similar charges now pending will be dismissed.

Soldan High School's football team defeated McBride yesterday afternoon, 12 to 0, in the opening practice game between the two schools. About 700 watched Jimmy Cook, the coach, direct the team, and Dave Cook, the quarterback, send McBride down to defeat by their united efforts. The game was played at the Public Schools Stadium.

Dave confined his efforts to two long runs and a long pass, all of which were responsible for scores. In the last three minutes of the first quarter, Soldan reached McBride's 54-yard line, from where Dave Cook caught end for the first touchdown.

The second score came in the fourth period. In this session, after Coach Jimmy rushed in Lee Handley, Dave Cook stood on his 13-yard mark and threw a 42-yard pass to Handley, who was downed on McBride's 37-yard line. Dave decided that the ball was near enough to carry over the goal line, so on the next play he eluded the entire McBride eleven to score the second touchdown. Both of Cook's tries for the extra point were wide of the mark.

the game would have been a "wonder" devoid of interest, had it not been for Dave Cook, because the weather was too warm for brilliant football. That, in part, may account for the lack of performance by the "Soldan line." Frequently the light McBride backfield ripped holes in the winners' forward defense. Brumby, McBride's quarterback, persisted in attacking the left side of Soldan's line and Schneider, a new man, bore the brunt of the assault.

Cook was beaten by an average of several yards, on each kick in a punting duel with Pfleger.

In the second quarter the McBride line threw the Soldan backs for losses on McBride's 30-yard

Coach Carl O. "Toddy" Kamp's boys rarely tried a forward pass during the game, but it is probable that he will drill them on that manner of attack in next week's practices.

Manion-Kenney To Oppose Smith

And Hagen Here

If John Manion can play Sunday against Horton Smith and Walter Hagen in the form he showed the last two days, the local pro and his partner, Chris Kenney, veteran amateur, will stand a chance of defeating the great team of stars who will appear at Sunset in an 18-hole exhibition match against the St. Louis pair. Manion shot 68 Wednesday in a match in which Clarence Wolff had 66, tying Manion's own course record. Wolff Thursday had 33 for each nine while Manion played the first nine holes in 31 and added 37 on the home

The exhibition Sunday is open to the public at an admission charge of $2 and the heavy early sale of tickets has moved the sponsors of the match to name a big committee to handle the crowd. In addition to two officials, E. Anheuser as referee and Sid Le Gear as master of ceremonies, the following will serve:

S. J. Boehm, L. H. Jostles, W. T. Mellow, E. J. Medart, J. R. Florita, J. C. Stiles, H. A. Barnett, J. C. Phelan, Theo. Lucka, A. C. Reichardt, Stuart and Arthur Stickney, Clarence Wolff, Bert

ROBBERY WITNESS, WHO PUT TWO MEN IN PRISON, KILLED

Victim of $38,300 Drug Store Holdup in Hollywood, Cal., Ambushed from Auto.

By the Associated Press.
HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 27.—A witness of a chain drug store, who was instrumental in convicting two of the robbers, was shot down last night within 50 yards of his home. Three men, who had been lying in wait in a closed automobile, killed him with a blackjack and then shot him while at least four passersby looked on.

Police sent out orders to arrest Grayville Blair, 41 years old, convicted on Antink's testimony for the robbery of May 21, 1932, and Morris Moll, 39, known to police throughout the country as "the phantom gunman." Moll was identified by Antink in St. Paul, Minn., last spring as a member of the holdup gang.

Blair was sentenced to life, but was paroled from San Quentin prison last February and had been living in Long Beach, police said. He was arrested in Oakland, Cal., early today.

Elmer Dowdy, alias "the palmer kid," is serving a term in Folsom penitentiary for his part in the holdup, having been identified by Antink in Jacksonville, Fla.

District Attorney Fitts today issued a statement charging the death of Antink "directly to the political maneuvers and manipulations of St. Paul (Minn.) authorities and certain local politicians of this city."

Declaring that the St. Paul authorities and local politicians "placed every obstacle possible in the path of this office in its effort to get the phantom gunman (Morris Moll) back to this city where we could place him in prison," Fitts asserted the "conspiracy of the Minnesota authorities, from the Governor's office down, with one possible exception, is an outrage on American justice."

520 HAVE BEEN TRIED FOR JEW-ARAB OUTBREAKS

JERUSALEM, Sept. 27.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Five hundred and twenty Arabs and Jews already have been tried in Palestine and received various sentences in connection with the recent disturbances, according to an estimate in the Arab press.

The figures show that up to Sept. 19, 274 Arabs and 39 Jews received prison sentences ranging from one to 12 months, and 15

Arabs and 14 Jews were committed to the District Court. Seven Arabs and one Jew are awaiting trial on criminal charges.

Palestine authorities with the co-operation of Jewish and Arab merchants, plan strong measures to stop boycotts which Jews and Arabs have observed against each other.

The Jewish merchants of Jerusalem have agreed to sign a proclamation calling upon all races, creeds and religions in the Holy City "to freely trade, buy and sell in peace one with another."

Heads Illinois County Officials.

OTTAWA, Ill., Sept. 27.—Ross C. Adams of St. Clair County was elected president of the Illinois Association of Supervisors, County Commissioners, Probate Clerks and County Auditors at their convention here. He succeeds E. P. Con-erton, Utica. The Illinois clerk and recorder voted to hold a separate meeting next year in Edwardsville.

Protest Against Listing Drunkards.

DANZIG, Germany, Sept. 27.—Int-keepers desire that a law requiring them to post lists of drunkards be repealed. They resolved in annual convention, arguing it is hard to determine what a drunkard is and anyhow there are few, if any, in German cities. The law was passed in 1844.

MOVIE ANTI-TRUST COMPLAINT DISMISSED

Federal Judge Declares "All Badges of Unreasonable Restraint Are Lacking."

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Federal Judge Thatcher yesterday dismissed a complaint in which leading motion picture producers and distributors, including Paramount, Fox, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and First National were charged by the Government with conspiracy in restraint of trade and violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

In the suit the Government attacked a set of credit rules adopted by the defendants for the avowed purpose of reducing losses they had been suffering through the transfer of theaters to new owners pending the performance of exhibition contracts.

The rules required each distributor to demand, under certain circumstances, security not exceeding $1000 when the new owner refused to assume the contracts made by the previous owner.

Judge Thatcher ruled that "all the badges of unreasonable restraint are lacking" in the case.

"There is no suppression of competition, nor any attempt to monopolize," his opinion said. "No one has complained except the Government. No injury to individual traders or to the public generally is disclosed. On the contrary, serious trade abuses have been eliminated, and both exhibitors and distributors have been benefited."

Judge Thatcher found that the purpose of requiring the deposits was to induce the new owner to assume and perform the old contracts.

Edwin P. Grosvenor, of counsel for the defense, said after the decision was made public:

"The decision of Judge Thatcher is of great importance to business men and credit associations. In 1928, a typical year, there were 4612 theaters transferred out of approximately 25,000 motion picture theaters in the United States. Nearly every transfer involved uncompleted contracts between the seller and the theater and some of the distributors of pictures."

He said the aggregate involved in such uncompleted contracts was nearly $10,000,000 in 1928 and the losses to distributors amounted to more than $4,000,000. The distributors named defendants in the suit distribute approximately 60 per cent of all films shown in the United States.

LOW U. S. TARIFF URGED BY AUTOMOBILE MANUFACTURER
John K. Willys Says Congressmen Do Not Know Much About the Subject

Copyright, 1929, by The Press and Publishing Co., Inc., New York

PARIS, Sept. 27.—A plea for a low American tariff was voiced here yesterday by John K. Willys, automobile manufacturer, speaking before the American Club.

Willys said he believes in reciprocity; but he thinks it better for America to give much and expect little. He does not think that Congressmen know much about the tariff.

"Each one thinks differently," remarked the motor manufacturer. "The Congressmen from Boston want protection for the textile industry. The man from Detroit is convinced that the automobile field is being invaded. Paterson, N. J., sees the silk trade in peril. Of one thing I am sure: The tariff bill, when it does come out, will be different from what most people expect.

"What I favor is a tariff as low as possible. The industry which I represent sent a delegation to Congress asking for a decrease instead of an increase in rates. We wanted to show Congress that America is an exporting rather than an importing country."

Slayer Not a Game Warden.
JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 27.—John Malone, held at St. Louis in connection with the fatal shooting

Wednesday of Arthur Marshall, a mechanic, over an altercation involving $1, is not a deputy game warden, according to John A. Ross, chief of wardens of the Missouri Game and Fish Department. Malone formerly held a special deputy commission, but on its expiration June 1 the commission was renewed. Since that time he had had no connection with the Missouri Game and Fish Department.

MACDONALD SAILS EARLY TOMORROW FOR VISIT TO U. S.

Prime Minister and Party Leave London for Southampton to Board the Berengaria.

EXPECTS NOTHING SENSATIONAL

Says America and England, Having Same Objects, Should Proclaim Them With United Voice.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and his party including his daughter, Isobel, enroute to the United States for his visit to President Hoover. He sails on the Berengaria early tomorrow morning.

Touching on the purpose of his visit in connection with the Anglo-American naval negotiations, MacDonald, in a talk with newspaper men, warned against too great expectations, saying: "I don't, as I have already said, expect to stay in Washington to lead the spectacular developments as a result of the continued negotiations."

He explained that this doubt as to the production of "spectacular developments" was due to the fact that the Anglo-American accord had reached a stage where it was about ready for presentation to other Powers. Hence the next big step could scarcely come until the whole subject has been gone over by a five-Power conference.

He added that, besides the disarmament question, he was moved to go to America by his desire to see President Hoover again and to make new acquaintanceships among American men of affairs.

London Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World.
LONDON, Sept. 27.—Premier MacDonald on the eve of his departure for the United States issued through the Labor organ, The Daily Herald, this farewell message:

"Voyage of Exploration."
"I go on a voyage of exploration. The greatest contribution which this generation can make to the history of the world is to establish peace amongst the nations and induce them to feel a sense of security by political agreements carried out by judicial means. The United States and ourselves, having the same objects, should proclaim them with united voice. Good and cordial relations between us two can change the outlook for peace and give the world an energetic faith instead of hesitating scepticism."

"I go away to see what can be done, and with the help of my colleagues in the Labor movement and of every influence making for peace, who dares to say that success is impossible?"

Ambassador Davies saw MacDonald at Downing Street in a farewell visit yesterday and then visited the Foreign Office and discussed the draft of the British invitation to France, Japan and Italy to the five-power naval conference here in January.

It is noteworthy as indicating the close accord between Washington and London, that the invitation ostensibly issued by Great Britain as the world's host is in reality a joint document, which has been discussed and amended by Britain and the United States in conjunction with the British dominions.

Miss Isobel's Purpose.
MacDonald last night entertained friends at an informal reception at 10 Downing street. There was a large gathering of Ministers and Parliamentarians.

Miss Isobel MacDonald, daughter of the Prime Minister, yesterday received an electric lamp, the gift of the women of South Polar District. Miss MacDonald represents South Polar on the London County Council.

"I shall have an opportunity to tell the men and women of the United States and Canada," she said, "how very deeply we women of Great Britain feel about international understanding and peace. I am not going as a delegate or to take part in any conference but perhaps by telling the Americans how deeply we women feel I can bring both a bit closer."

SHEARER WAS CLOSE TO U. S. NAVAL OFFICERS
AT GENEVA CONFERENCE

Real Admiral Reeves, One of Four Experts Frequently Seen With Propagandist, Correspondent Testifies.

By CHARLES G. ROSS,
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—William B. Shearer, who, while secretly employed by three American shipbuilding companies for a fee of $25,000, described himself at the Geneva Naval Arms Conference of 1927 as a "big bass drum," engaged in drumming up sentiment for American naval preparedness, will tell his story Monday before the Senate Committee investigating his high-powered and colorful activities.

The committee will seek information on many points from the flamboyant Shearer, and among other things it will want to know about the conversations that he had at Geneva with high ranking officers of the American Navy who were attached as experts to the American delegation at the conference.

Members of the Investigating Committee said today that rear Admiral Reeves and probably other naval officers mentioned yesterday in the testimony of Drew Pearson, newspaper correspondent, would be summoned to appear before the committee, if they did not come forward of their own motion.

To Call Admiral Reeves.
"I shall insist in any event," said Senator Allen, "that Rear Admiral Reeves take the stand."

Allen announced also that Clinton L. Bardo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Co., one of the three concerns which paid Shearer $25,000 to "observe" for them at Geneva, would be recalled to the stand.

Bardo will be asked to explain discrepancies between his testimony and that of Laurence R. Wilder, the four-day ship promoter, regarding the expenditure of a $145-600 fund.

Bardo said the money went largely for lobbying in connection with shipping legislation. Wilder denied this.

The committee is also expected to seek further light on a quarrel between Bardo and Shearer, which has been the subject of testimony.

The committee is well armed with documents relating to Shearer's career in this country and abroad, both as a patriot-for-pay and in other, colorful lines of remunerative endeavor, and will make use of them when he takes the stand.

To Seek Record Abroad.
The Senate investigators also have determined to go into the Government's secret files to find out if there are any records there of Shearer who has been represented to the committee as being on the records of Scotland Yard.

The committee also has determined either to conclude the investigation into Shearer and his Geneva activities before Premier Ramsey MacDonald of Great Britain reaches America next week or to adjourn the hearings during the Premier's visit.

Testimony about the relations of Shearer with the American Naval officers was given before the committee at yesterday's afternoon session by Pearson, a newspaper man of wide experience, who was a correspondent of several papers at the abortive Geneva conference. Pearson is now of the Washington staff of the Baltimore Sun, and is regarded here, both among his fellow newspaper men and among these who are a true worthy observer, exceptionally well posted on foreign affairs.

Experts Seen With Shearer.
Pearson named several naval officers whom he had seen in Shearer's company at Geneva, and among these he singled out for special mention Rear Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, now a member of the General Board of the Navy.

More frequently than any other of the naval experts, said the witness, Reeves expressed the hope that the conference would fail. The feeling among some of the officers, as Pearson gathered it from their conversation, was that "There must be no repetition of the Washington conference of 1921-22."

This meant, he explained, that they objected to the outcome of the Washington arms conference of those years, at which the United States entered into a battleship-scrapping agreement with the other powers.

Pearson's strictures did not apply to all the naval officers at the conference. He placed them in three groups—officers who kept aloof from Shearer and kept their mouths shut, others who were interested in American parity but were willing that efforts to reach an agreement should continue, and the defeatist group, led by Reeves, who were obviously anxious that the negotiations should fail.

Pearson said that the Ambassador
Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation, had nothing to do with Shearer, and neither did the other member, Rear Admiral Hillary P. Jones, whom the witness described as "Playing the game squarely" and being genuinely hopeful that the conference would succeed.

Rear Admiral Jones is intimately connected with the current negotiations looking to a British-American cruiser agreement.

In addition to Reeves, the officers that Pearson frequently saw in the company of the big-navy propagandist were Admiral Frank H. Schofield, Commander H. C.
Train and Lieutenant-Commander H. E. Frost. He often saw these officers conversing with Shearer in the lobby of their hotel. On occasions, Pearson said, he was invited to join in the talk, which related to the problems before the conference.

"Cards Stacked Against Pact." Pearson said it was plain from the start that the "Cards" were stacked against an agreement at the conference.

Sensor Allen asked about Capt.
Adolphus Andrews. Pearson said Andrew, long a White House adviser, lived at another hotel and was not among those seen after the evening meal when Shearer was present. He added that the same applied to Capt. W. W. Smyth.

Commander Train was among the officers who saw a good deal of Shearer, he said. Train had been at Geneva before. While he saw him with Shearer many times, he never heard the Commander say very much.

Pearson said he was not sure whether Capt. Arthur J. Hopburn, now Rear Admiral and Chief of Staff of Admiral William V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, joined in the hotel discussions with Shearer. He was not sure that Hopburn stopped at the same hotel.

Frost Frequently in Party.
He saw Commander Frost in the party frequently, and by his conversation judged him to be in sympathy with the propagandist's views.

Sensor Robinson wanted to make certain that the naval experts were not being placed in a dubious light. He asked Pearson whether their attitude was not in favor of parity in cruisers rather than a hope for failure of the conference.

The witness said that as he recalled the matter, at one time the American delegates were prepared to agree to a limitation of 18 10-000-ton cruisers for the United States. As he understood it, the civilian member, civilian advisers, and, he thought, Admiral Jones were agreeable, but most of the naval experts wanted no limitation on the number of these vessels.

"Rather than have any other agreement than they wanted, they preferred to see the conference fail," Robinson asked.

"Yes, most of them seemed to feel that it would be better to quit," was the reply.

Pearson gave his testimony about the naval officers reluctantly, and then only after he had been assured by Senator Allen, a newspaper publisher, that he ought to go ahead and tell his observations frankly.

Pearson identified the "civilian" member referred to in a "confidential report" by Shearer, as Albin W. Dulles, legal adviser to the American delegation and now an attorney in New York City. The committee may call Dulles as a witness.

He declared that Shearer's allegations of intrigue against Dulles were absurd, and that Dulles worked hard for the success of the conference.

Scotland Yard Document.
When Shearer takes the stand, he will doubtless be asked about a purported Scotland Yard dossier which Pearson saw at the Geneva conference in the possession of Albin E. Johnson, correspondent of the New York World at Geneva.

Johnson, he said, was one of the newspaper men at the conference who gave Shearer a wide berth.
The document in question connected Shearer and "Kild" McCoy, the pugilist, with a jewelry robbery in Europe.

Pearson said that when the navy cruiser building bill was first before Congress he met Shearer in Washington, and Shearer told him that he had taken the document away from Johnson in the latter's bedroom just before the end of the Geneva conference. Shearer told Pearson that the document was "poppycock" and that Johnson was to be discharged from the Navy.

As a matter of fact, Johnson has continued to be the World's correspondent at Geneva.

While Pearson was telling about the document, Shearer, sitting just behind him, was willing that efforts to reach an agreement should continue, and

the defeatist group, led by Reeves,
who were obviously anxious that
the negotiations should fail.

Pearson said that the Ambassador
Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation, had nothing to do with Shearer, and neither did the other member, Rear Admiral Hillary P. Jones, whom the witness described as "Playing the game

hopeful that the conference would

PROTESTS AGAINST BUILDING STADIUM
IN FOREST PARK

Organization of Druggists
Adopts Resolution Asking Mayor to Veto Proposal to Construct It.

WANT RECREATION GROUND UNMARRED

Action Unanimous After Speakers Denounce Proposed Construction as Unsanitary.

A protest against the project of city officials to build a stadium in Forest Park, in the River des Peres Valley between Clayton road and Oakland avenue, has been sent to Mayor Miller by the Cinchona Club, an organization of druggists.

The resolution, adopted at a meeting at Hotel Coronado, follows:

"It has come to our attention that it is proposed to erect and install a stadium in Forest Park.
We believe that such action will mar the beauty of this public recreation ground. Be it, therefore, resolved, that the Cinchona Club request an official veto by Mayor Miller of this proposed plan."

Mayor Miller said today he had received the Cinchona Club resolution and thought he had given it to his secretary. "He did not know of anything he could do about the project," he declared, adding that there was no likelihood of its being built unless the people wanted it, since a bond issue would be necessary to finance it.

A Post-Dispatch reporter called his attention to the fact that the city was proceeding with the first, or "grassy bowl" stage of the project without expenditure of any funds, as part of the River des Peres work. The Mayor's reply was that he had paid much attention to the matter. To erect a structure with permanent seats in the bowl would require a fund which likely would have to be provided through a bond issue.

Bernard H. Griesedick, a druggist at 2500 N. Grand boulevard, president of the club, and W. H. Lamont, secretary, signed the resolution. Other officers are Albert Lishen, vice president, and Charles Hahn, treasurer. Membership in the club, which has as its object the promotion of public and participation in civic affairs, is limited to 75. There were 45 members present at the meeting and the vote on the resolution was unanimous.

Fred Swift, a retailer, and Prof.
A. C. Hogstad, of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, printed the resolution. Swift declared that the stadium, which would be used for outdoor events of all sorts, would mean the installation of hot dog stands and that the park would be littered with papers, string, cigarette stubs and other refuse.

Prof. Hogstad urged that the natural beauty of the park should be preserved so far as possible.

Theodore F. Hagwood added that the park was intended to be a general public recreation ground and not a place for athletic events.
Other speakers said The Arena, adjoining the park, had been erected by public spirited citizens, at whose investment might be jeopardized by competition of the stadium. Some speakers at first asserted that the stadium would be an asset to the park and an inducement to people to go there.

The stadium, as has been told conceived by Park Commissioner Pape and a group of city officials in connection with the work of building the River des Peres sewer through the park and the consequent need for a place to dispose of surplus earth. The proposed stadium site is in a low section that has been hauled there from the excavation.

$100,000,000 FOR FRENCH
NAVAL BUDGET FAVORED

By the Assoc. of Press.
PARIS, Sept. 27.—The French Navy will cost the taxpayers approximately $100,000,000 in 1930.
It will cost more than in 1929, if the amount authorized by the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies is approved by Parliament.

The increase is attributed to higher cost of material and increased expense of maintaining personnel. Of the entire appropriation, approximately $4 per cent will be used in new construction work, a slightly higher percentage than in 1928, explained by the fact that the three-year construction program adopted in 1925 has lapsed, and the appropriation will enable speeding up of necessary replacements.

COSTE TAKES OFF ON PARIS-SIBERIA FLIGHT

Seeks to Set Distance Record for Non-Stop Journey by Air.

By the Associated Press.
LE BOURGNET, Sept. 27.—Eastward from Paris today flew Dieudonne Coste, French air ace, and his friend Maurice Belonte, in the famous Question Mark on a flight aimed to beat the world's record and put the pilots down somewhere in far Siberia.

Announced as a long distance flight to the East, nevertheless the objective of the flyers remained uncertain until after the start because some thought Coste had prepared to make another attempt to fly to the Atlantic and reach New York.

Returning military air escorts attested to the fact that Coste really was headed east, that he had passed over Crepy-Envalois at a fast clip, this point being about 45 miles northeast of Paris.

The last bit of freight Coste took aboard was fishing tackle. He had no intention to keep in touch with civilization, but his fish hooks will help him, if he is forced to land in the river districts of North Russia. Coste announced his immediate destination as Irkutsk on Lake Baikal. From there he plans to make another attempt to fly to Tokyo.

Belonte, who has been Coste's flying companion on recent ventures is alternate pilot of the Question Mark, which can remain in the air 50 hours. It is loaded with 1250 gallons of fuel and 60 gallons of oil. The flyers took a good stock of food. Coste expects to cover 5000 miles.

The two flyers reached Buenos Aires Oct. 20 and after several days' stop there, flew along the South American coast to New York. They were the first to fly across the Atlantic from the east to the west.

THE PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK OCT. 22

AN ADDRESS ON THE FOLLOWING DAY
AT LOUISVILLE. The steamer departed from St. Louis last Monday for an inspection cruise to New Orleans with Thomas H. Jackson and district engineers aboard.

Capable of an average speed of 13 miles an hour down-stream and eight to nine miles an hour against the current the steamer is expected to reach New Orleans by Oct. 2, with time to spare for returning to Cincinnati. It will return to Memphis and lie there until called for.

Negro cooking and Negro service will await the President on the "Mississippi." The china and silver service are of excellent if not especially expensive quality.

Radio equipment is carried for official communication. The dining room and the foredeck which is surrounded by glass, are adaptable for dancing and a phonograph and a piano are aboard. Of-such equipment at their own ex-Hoover to View New 9-Foot Ohio Channel

President Will Spend Two Days on Steamboat and Will Make Addresses at Cincinnati and Louisville.

President Hoover is going to have another taste of steamboat life Oct. 22 and 23 on the Ohio, more than two years since he virtually lived on a steamboat in the crucial days of the 1927 flood.

His quarters will be on the steamer Mississippi, a familiar sight in the St. Louis harbor. It is the official boat of the Mississippi River Commission which has headquarters here.

This experience will be a tame affair for the President, in comparison with that of 1927. When he was Secretary of Commerce Under his direction thousands of persons were rescued from billows and houseboats. Like a good general he guessed ahead of his enemy and frequently was on the spot when the river started a new attack. For example, Mr. Hoover was watching the levees one morning at Belleville, La., when a crasse occurred and the waters of the Atchafalaya swept down upon the town.

On the Ohio however, President Hoover will be confronted by no emergencies to interrupt. He will enjoy the pleasures of steamboat travel.

To Inspect New Channel.
The occasion is the formal opening of the nine-foot channel from Pittsburg to Cairo, on which $30, 000,000 in modern equipment is ready for immediate large service connecting with the Mississippi line from St. Louis to New Orleans and the ports of the world.

The steamer, 213 feet long and largest of the Army Engineers' passenger steamers on the Mississippi, is admirably adapted for President's comfort, provided his party is unusually small. It has excellent quarters for 18 persons besides the crew and railway force.

Of Making Many Books

JOHN G. NEIHARDT

He Overtook His Dream

THE BOOK OF PUKA-PUKA. By Robert Dean Frisbie. (Century.) It has been said that most readers of fiction are not much more than dreamers, and that most dreamers are not much more than dreamers. But Robert Dean Frisbie, author of "The Book of Puka-Puka," is a dreamer who has made his dream a reality.

It is this theory that is accepted as true, then "The Book of Puka-Puka" should have a big run, for it is the true story of a man who, in the truest sense, has made his dream a reality. The story is a dream, a dream of a man who, in the truest sense, has made his dream a reality.

Nine years ago Robert Dean Frisbie was informed by the doctors that he had only six months to live. His trouble being tuberculosis. Very sensibly, he decided not to sit waiting for the grimly guest. He had often dreamed, as many others have, of a carefree life in some paradisiac island remote from the shadow-chasing world, but he had never quite believed enough in his dream to put it to the test. Convinced that the civilized world and its doubtful rewards would not long be for him at any rate, he came to the conclusion that he might as well take a flyer with his dream. So, bidding the world adieu—with few tears, one inters—he set forth in search of the Earthly Paradise. He managed to outdistance death, and for four years he wandered about the South Seas in trading schooners, but everywhere he went the blight of civilization was in evidence, until he came at last to Puka-Puka.

Puka-Puka, otherwise known as Danger Island, lies something like 1500 miles southwest by south of Hawaii. It consists of a coral reef seven miles in diameter, three tiny portions of which rise a few feet above the ocean and are covered with coconut palms. Only one white man lived there for the next five years and that man was Robert Dean Frisbie. His excuse for being there was an arrangement with a trading company for collecting copra. "Excuse" is right, for the duties involved were hardly onerous, and "Robert," as the islanders call the author, for the most part just lived. Quite frankly he confesses that he has "gone native." "I can live my life in accordance with my own ideas of what constitutes living," he tells us; "being as indolent as I please, never disturbed by the hateful thought that it is my duty to become a useful cog in the clockwork of progress."

It must not be inferred that Frisbie's story of his life on Puka-Puka is a sentimental affair concocted for effect. It is obviously an honest book written by an educated man with a thoroughly healthy sense of humor; and while it is most entertaining, it offers a great deal for a civilized man to think about, not without some misgivings.

"I hunted long for this sanctuary," says Frisbie. "Now that I have found it, I have no intention

DOWN WIND. By Donald and Louise Peattie. (D. Appleton & Co.)

There is romance, drama and tragedy in the lives of the wild creatures of the underworld. Or what man creatures call romance, drama and tragedy. And man creatures who know how can find out about the joys and sorrows of the birds and animals. Donald and Louise Peattie know how. They are friends of all wild things and the wild things are friendly in turn and let them know what is going on. What is going on, it seems, is a good deal like what goes on among the No. Wings. Or at least Donald and Louise Peattie make it appear. So the stories that they tell, about the gannet, the heron, the tanager and the wren, are full of life and color. Those boys who begin talking about Palm Beach the minute they get in elevators.

Where's Fanny Ward these days? The sleepy-eyed fellows with the wide-awake girls. After all the Rolls has the most artistic hood ornament. If the police must have something to do, why not nab some of those mad motor cyclists once a while.

A Chinese laundryman named Fling Fong. Lou Holtz, a Broadway wag. Girls with those Irene Bordoni bangs. Jobyna Howland and Clara Bell Walsh bear a striking resemblance. My idea of nothing to eat—green almonds. The benign, motherly lady who sells tracts on atheism.

Mary McKinnon, the artist. Liver now $1 a pound. Sheepish fellows who slip into hotels when everybody is going to work. Did Lillian Gish always have long hair? Nobody so self-conscious or little noticed as a passe prima donna. What's become of the old-fashioned

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.

THOUGHTS while strolling: A Japanese youth wearing a basque cap. And Bill Tilden's smirking smile from a billboard cigarette ad. David Belasco halts before a shooting gallery. Tugs at a lock of hair and moves on. Men with white beards look like travelers rushing to big terminals. One always feels sorry for a city one is just leaving. A Persian cafe. Jack Haley who won stage fame with comical eyebrows. Remember the saying: "Isn't it the truth?" Hype Ikeo. A dog with a tambourine collects for a blind violinist.

John Golden, a Wauson, O. boy, who made good in the city. Covarrubias, the Mexican city toadstool. Similes: "As loose as tropical pudding." Wonder how many read those signs they tack on elevated steps. That blood-curdling screech of the subway rounding a curve.

Channing Pollock is thinner. The mumbly old man who wears an overcoat latticed with safety pins. Try to get coffee with dinner in New York. Never see a gannet, the heron, the tanager and the wren. After all the Rolls has the most artistic hood ornament. If the police must have something to do, why not nab some of those mad motor cyclists once a while.

A Chinese laundryman named Fling Fong. Lou Holtz, a Broadway wag. Girls with those Irene Bordoni bangs. Jobyna Howland and Clara Bell Walsh bear a striking resemblance. My idea of nothing to eat—green almonds. The benign, motherly lady who sells tracts on atheism.

Mary McKinnon, the artist. Liver now $1 a pound. Sheepish fellows who slip into hotels when everybody is going to work. Did Lillian Gish always have long hair? Nobody so self-conscious or little noticed as a passe prima donna. What's become of the old-fashioned pinch—where the wagon backs up? When characters in fiction are taken from real life the author frequently finds himself in hot water. Two current books ended the friendship between the authors and old friends they caricatured. Only flattery pleases a person fictionalized in print.

FEW head waiters talk back talk. During the rush at a smart place the other evening a beefy and guttural gentleman piloting a large dinner party rushed up to the maître d'hotel with: "Either give me a better table or cancel my reservation." "Canceled," replied the h. w., turning graciously to new arrivals and never have I seen a person look so utterly baffled.

THE Carry-a-Cane Club sounds suspiciously like a slice of press agency, but will do no harm. Nothing boasters up a sagging ego like swinging a stick.

WHEN Frank Ward O'Malley felt that some day before peccadillo had endangered his reputational landing on the old Sun he would appear for work next morning freshly barbered and with a cane crooked jauntily over his arm. It usually worked, but one day following a 24-hour truancy he carried his disarming subtlety too far. He added a pair of fawn-topped shoes and was immediately assigned to cover a longshoreman's ball on the west side water front. Try one of those on your macabre!

IT is the comedian Fred Allen's rather inchoate idea that some potential Burbank will find it worth while to cross watch chains with bananas so they may be opened by the zipper method.

CHICK SALES' book, glorifying the Crescent has so far won him about $30,000 in royalties, which somehow recalls when Chick became an actor. Two family neighbors in Urbana, Ill., discussed the sensation.

"Old man Sal's boy Chic has gone on the stage."

"What's he doing?"

"Actin' folks."

Fail Is Planting Time

How many people realize that right now is the best time to plant Iris—Foenias—Evergreens and most Perennials and also that Trees and Shrubs can be planted a little later after the leaves begin to fall. When you consider the ideal weather conditions we have in the Fall as compared with our uncertain Spring season, you will realize that Fall is the best season for planting, because the soil, being warm from the summer heat, will enable the plants to make good root growth and become established before the ground freezes, and your plants will come out more natural in the Spring.

If interested in beautifying your home grounds the WESTOVER NURSERY COMPANY will be pleased to mail you our 80-page descriptive illustrated catalog, which is free for the asking, or you may drive out to our nursery at 8500 Olive Street Road and we will be glad to assist you in your planting problems. Remember, all plants offered by the WESTOVER NURSERY COMPANY are of their "Acclimated Delivered Day Dug Brand."

WASHINGTON

DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.

PRESIDENT HOOVER seems to have set a fashion which is not unlikely to cause an extensive summer home development in nearby Maryland and Virginia. He has given inspiration to a movement for establishment of week-end retreats within easy motoring distance of the Capitol. The idea not to close up the town and move out the leading residents and officials to New England resorts appears to have spread with amazing suddenness in the brief time since the Hoovers went in for a summer camp at the headwaters of the Rapidan River in the Blue Ridge.

One rather elaborate summer colony at Gibson Island, not far from Annapolis, already has attracted a number of diplomats. There have been summer colonies of the sort on the Severn and Potomac rivers for some years. Most of them were centers of affairs for persons of moderate incomes.

NOW the movement appears to be trending toward development of abandoned or little used farm property in Southern Maryland. There is no end of attractive river frontage which is not under cultivation. It has the advantage of salt water and fresh water fishing and bathing.

In the prewar days Washington just about shut up shop during the summer. The embassies and legations were moved to the North Shore. Presidents established summer White Houses in New England or New Jersey or New York, accordingly as their preferences ran to the mountains or the sea shore.

Cabinet officers generally had summer homes at some distance from the Capitol and spent one, two or three days a week in their offices here. Congress seldom sat during the warm weather. The town was closed to being deserted.

In the circumstances, there has been an interesting development of the waterfront properties up to 100 miles from Washington, and it is being forecast that there will be a great deal more of it within the next few years.

THE camp idea carries a strong appeal to officials and diplomats who are obliged to attend more or less formal dinners throughout the winter social season. To go to established resorts and meet the requirements of dressing for dinner every night does not appeal as the desirable sort of relaxation to those who are keen for the Hoover camp idea.

A group of Republican Senators engaged in framing the tariff bill routed a villa on the outskirts of Washington. They had a "bachelors' club" there throughout the summer. The idea impressed several of them with the desirability of having an isolated camp somewhere in nearby Maryland or Virginia which could be reached by automobile in an hour or two.

As there are some very wealthy men in the Senate, it is not at all improbable that several camps will be projected before next summer.

ACCUSED OF HIDING ASSETS OF ESTATE FOR KEEPING BIRD

Mrs. Marie Tobin, charged by Executor, Says Mrs. Kettering Asked Her to Care for Canary.

A canary of no particular value which was a pet of Mrs. Ada Kettering, 2633 Olive street, before her death last May, is the subject of a controversy pending in Probate Court between the executor of her estate and Mrs. Marie Tobin, 3423 Olive street.

Dick, the canary, is in the possession of Mrs. Tobin and James L. Layton, executor of the estate, has charged her with concealing assets of the estate. A hearing on the matter was continued until the December term of court by Judge Holtcamp today.

"Mrs. Kettering asked me on her death-bed to take care of Dick and Queenie and I won't give them up," Mrs. Tobin said today. Queenie is a "sort of bull dog," another of Mrs. Kettering's pets, but is not involved in the controversy.

Before Mrs. Kettering died she distributed among her friends four canaries, a parrot, and the dog, asking them to "be good" to her pets, Mrs. Tobin says.

VISIT BY U. S. AIR OFFICIAL

Maj. Clarence Young at Lambert Field for Short Time.

Maj. Clarence Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce in charge of aeronautics, landed at Lambert-St. Louis Field at noon today and took off a short time later for the East.

He was flying a new racing model, Stearman biplane, streamlined and equipped with the high-speed cowling designed by the National Advisory Council for Aeronautics, which adds from 17 to 20 miles an hour to an airplane's top speed.

Seeks Cross-State Bus Permit. JEFFERSON CITY, Sept. 27.—The Interstate Transportation Co., a subsidiary of the Union Pacific Railroad, filed an application today with the State Public Service Commission for a permit to operate interstate and intrastate buses between Kansas City and St. Louis on United States Highway No. 40. The hearing will be held Oct. 10.

DENMAN TELLS OF PLANS TO AID LIVESTOCK MEN

and the subsequent forming of a livestock stabilization corporation. Under the law, the advisory committee must first recommend the organization of a stabilization corporation which is intended to control prices by a nationwide marketing set-up. He stated that a livestock stabilization corporation would be organized within a short time. Other board members who have testified have been somewhat indefinite about the establishing of the large marketing groups.

After Denman had testified, Chairman Alexander Legge of Chicago was recalled to answer questions by Senator Elmer Thomas (Dem., Oklahoma). Thomas tried to impress Legge with the idea that the Farm Board was an "executive committee" for all American farmers. As such, Thomas insisted, the Farm Board should be the farmers' voice in Congress. Legge could not agree wholly with this thought and pointed out that the Department of Agriculture was also representing the farmer in Washington. Legge promised that the board would come to Congress for additional legislation if the present farm bill was found inadequate or too restrictive.

Denman went into some detail regarding the success co-operatives have had in livestock marketing and his hopes for the future. He said that the local co-operatives who will be the owners of the stabilization corporations were well organized but that further organization would be necessary to include the majority of producers. He stated that a call had been sent out for a preliminary meeting of wool growers in Chicago on Oct. 4.

Uses Pork as Example. Taking pork products as an example, Denman said that prices of these commodities could be bettered by orderly marketing. "The pork market is affected by serious fluctuations," he testified. "If the producers were organized and in control of production, they could stabilize the price. It is thoroughly within the power of the Farm Board to stabilize the price of pork products if the producers will organize. Lard prices cannot be controlled. Lard has passed out of the control of the producers to the packers. The same is true of beef."

Denman did not elaborate on his plans for preventing exportable surpluses. His idea seemed to be that with the producers organized, they would limit their own production.

Charles S. Wilson of New York, representative of the fruit interests on the Farm Board, was also a witness before the committee. His appearance was unexpected as the committee had arranged to hear Carl Williams of Oklahoma, but the latter was asked to wait a day so Senator Smith (Dem., South Carolina), might question him. Smith sent word it would be impossible for him to attend today's session. The committee is considering the nominations of all board members who have served under recess appointments throughout the summer.

Wilson has been nominated for a four-year term. Speaking of his qualifications for the post, he said he had operated farms on which apples, some corn, oats and other crops were grown, but he had no exporting or warehousing interests.

Under questioning by Chairman McNary of the committee, he testified he had no direct information of the problems confronting the apple growers of the Northwest. McNary recalled that Senator Copeland (Dem., New York), had made a determined effort to exclude fruits and vegetables from the farm bill. Wilson said so far as he knows the apple growers favored the measure.

The examination of the Farm Board member then was conducted by Senator Brookhart, (Rep., Iowa), who asked what he considered the principal purpose of the farm relief act.

"To build up co-operative marketing," Wilson replied. "Don't you think taking care of the surplus the big purpose?" the Iowa asked. "That's one of them."

"What else is as important," the Iowa pursued. "Provide facilities to encourage co-operative organization."

Brookhart said the exportable surplus was about 10 per cent or approximately $200,000,000, of all the crops. The Senator then asked: "Do you deem $200,000,000 enough to control that exportable surplus?" Wilson said he thought that amount not sufficient and presumed the board would ask for more when the need was felt.

"Don't you think it would be wise for us to put the debenture clause in the tariff bill so you will have enough?" Brookhart said. "I hadn't given that any thought,"

Wilson replied.

"Well I think you should. You will fall if you don't have enough money to care for the surplus."

Wheeler asked the witness about the Board's loan to the California

raisin growers. "As I understand that loan," Wheeler said, "it was made to the Sun-Maid Raisin interests and the independent grow-

Wilson replied the independent group was to participate in the benefits through the loan extended to Sun-Maid, adding that the refer you to the facts."

Secretary Good Explains Regional Plan for Waterways and Flood Control.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The administration's plans to decentralize authority on flood control and inland waterway work were described yesterday by Secretary of War Good as a move to strengthen the office of Chief of the Army Engineers.

The responsibility for appointment of three regional engineers and the detailed arrangements for carrying out the plan have been placed with Brigadier-General Lytle Brown, the newly-appointed chief. The engineers will be in charge of the lower Mississippi, upper Mississippi and the Great Lakes waterway development, each having one section under his control.

Pointing out that "too much work had been placed on the Chief of Engineers," Secretary Good said, "our purpose is not to upset the engineers' organization, but to add to it by giving the chief three right hand men."

The proposed change, he added, would not affect the work of the Mississippi River Commission, headed by Brigadier-General T. H. Jackson. He said he had issued orders for the engineers to push the work of preparing reports for Congress on the nine-foot channel project for the upper Mississippi from the Missouri River to Minneapolis, Minn., and the section of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf waterway between Utica, Ill., and Chicago.

Secretary Good Explains Regional Plan for Waterways and Flood Control.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The administration's plans to decentralize authority on flood control and inland waterway work were described yesterday by Secretary of War Good as a move to strengthen the office of Chief of the Army Engineers.
The responsibility for appointment of three regional engineers and the detailed arrangements for carrying out the nine-foot channel project with Brigadier-General Lytle Brown, the newly-appointed chief. waterway, he said, was beset by many problems, due to the control of a section from Chicago to Lockport and from Lockport to St. Louis by the Chicago Sanitary District and from Lockport to St. Louis by the State, upon which the State is spending $20,000,000. This, however, he said, is insufficient for completion of the project.

The engineers' report will advise Congress whether it would be feasible to undertake the development, which is likely to make the Federal Government partly responsible for diverting water from the Great Lakes. Secretary Good said, however, the Government's interest would be mainly in navigation and not in sanitation.
He advised further study be made, he said, of the proposed deep waterway between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic.
"Flood Danger at Minimum in Nine Years Under Jadwin Plan," By the Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 27.—Flood danger in the Mississippi Valley will be at its minimum nine years from now under the Jadwin plan of levee control, Brigadier-General T. H. Jackson, president of the Mississippi River Commission, said here yesterday. He is on a tour of inspection of the river. Levees in this vicinity were inspected by Gen. Jackson, who said at present Island 35 presents the most difficult engineering feat in the Memphis district. Shoals and snags near the island are dangerously troublesome to steamboat pilots, he said.
The Government is trying to change the river's channel so it will flow west of the island. Gen. Jackson said the commission had expended $20,000,000, was spending $28,000,000 this year and would spend $35,000,000 next year in its flood control work.
He said the commission was continuing its surveys along the river and obtaining sites for floodways in spite of President Hoover's agreement to defer consideration of the Jadwin plan of acquiring land involved in floodway projects.

IMPORTANT YOUR CAR SHOULD BE PREPARED FOR WINTER DRIVING

FOLLOW THESE PRECAUTIONS

- 1 Use a free-flowing winter grade of oil in the crankcase. Be sure that the differential and transmission have proper cold-weather lubricants.
- 2 Have spark plugs, ignition cables and battery inspected. Cold gasoline needs a hot spark.
- 3 Inspect the fan, thermostat and winter front.
- 4 Clean the cooling system. See that all old scale and rust, accumulated over a summer's driving, are thoroughly flushed out.
- 5 Be sure the cooling system is tight, without the slightest leak anywhere—in hose connections, pump, radiator or gaskets.
- 6 Add water and one supply of Eveready Prestone and your car will go through the hardest winter season in perfect safety.
- 7 Go to your garageman. For a small sum he will be glad to render this cleaning and tightening service. It is an investment worth many times its small cost.

Eveready Prestone, the perfect anti-freeze, does not contain alcohol or glycerine. It will not overheat the motor if the weather turns warm. It is a pure, undiluted product. Its permanent protection makes it a most economical investment. One supply lasts all winter, through any amount of warm and cold weather driving.

GIRLS AT SCOUT HEADQUARTERS INVITED TO WHITE HOUSE

Mrs. Hoover Spends Day in New York and Proposes Rally on President's Lawn.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, returned to Washington last night, concluding her two-day visit to New York, where she opened an exhibition of early American art objects for the benefit of the Girl Scouts of America.

Mrs. Hoover spent most of the day conferring with Girl Scout officers. Between engagements she went on a shopping tour, accompanied by her secretary, Miss Winifred Hall. She made a brief address before the clerical force of the Girl Scouts at the national headquarters of the organization and invited them to visit her in Washington.

“Come down to see me,” she said. “Charter a car and come down to lunch one day. We will have a real rally on the White House lawn.”

Mrs. Hoover, formerly chairman of the board of directors of the Girl Scouts, now is honorary president.

LIVING IN CHALK CAVES FOR A SHILLING A DAY

English Family Opens Home to All Wayfarers—Bats Are Only Pests.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Freedom from rent, rates and taxes and an outdoor life are two of the benefits which John Fones says attach to his domicile in three chalk caves, 50 feet below the road level, near Gravesend. The cave in which the Fones reside is 20 feet high and 10 feet wide, with a domed roof. The other caves have been converted into a guest room and a bathroom.

“We can live on a shilling a day,” says Fones. “This cave may be no mansion but it's a lot more comfortable and more healthful and cheaper in every way than the two rooms we used to have in the east end of London for eight shillings and sixpence a week.”

“Once in a while, on a cold night, a wayfarer comes in, too tired to walk on, and stays in our guest room. Maybe he tells us he's here and maybe he just turns in without disturbing us. We never refuse anyone such shelter as we have.”

“One night last autumn a man lay in there till daybreak tossing about and cursing a woman. We thought she was with him but we found him alone in the morning. Discovered 20 Years Ago.

“I discovered these caves 20 years ago, when I came down this way to work at unloading cargoes in Tilbury docks. I thought then they would make a handy place to live in if the time ever came to leave London. But I did not really imagine at the time that I would be here now. After the war, with the housing shortage and double rents to pay, the time did come. In August, 1923, my wife and I and our two daughters, Iris and Doris, just put our goods in a cart, drove down here and moved in.

“The girls are now in service in Gravesend but they liked it here while they stayed. Sometimes they come back for week-ends. Soon after we had settled here the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children tried to take the girls away. They could find no legal authority, however, to do it and they said they were unable to help us in any other way because we were not living in a house.”

“Good for Romans and Danes,” Mrs. Fones took up the story: “If this cave was good enough for the Romans and Danes to hide in, as they tell us, when their enemies pursued them, it can't be too bad for English people.”

“We have no mice or pests of any kind, except little bats that sometimes hang from the chalk ceiling in the summer.

“I hung the walls with black window shades and along this low canopy of the same material, like a tent. Then I made a fireplace of sheets of tin and for a brazier, used an old pail with holes punched in it. All I had to rest you see—cupboards, china, closets, bookcase, window frames—are just boxes, either with the bottoms knocked out or with shelves nailed in. Fones made the door by nailing together box-covers and cutting bits of linoleum for hinges.”

Fones said later, as he wound up his phonograph, which stood on the box used for a bookcase, “Farmers, townspeople and others of the neighborhood who don't like to see us living here rent free, because they themselves never thought of the idea before, have tried to put us out and make us move off. It seems that the title to this property is not clear and no one can find any law by which they can oust us. We have as good rights as gypsies, or better, and we are gypsies, except that we don't move.”

SIX FATALITIES IN NEW YORK FROM RARE BRAIN MALADY

Disease Is Variety of Sleeping Sickness and Attacks Children; First Observed in 1923.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The death of Michael Keenan, a baby of two months, in Bellevue Hospital last Tuesday, marks the sixth fatality in this city from serous encephalitis, an acute variety of sleeping sickness and a disease of childhood. Although the malady has been investigated since it made its appearance in 1923, it still baffles medical science and not one victim has been saved.

Dr. Douglas Symmers, director of laboratories of Bellevue and allied hospitals, and Dr. Charles O. Brown, pathologist of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital of Boston, have submitted to the American Journal of Diseases of Children a paper describing the disease. The papers says that the first case was observed in 1923 by Dr. Brown in the Children's Hospital of Boston. The six victims died that year.

The malady is a brain disease, characterized by a swelling of the brain and a marked engorgement of brain vessels without any other visible changes in the body.

Two 25¢ Tubes of Colgate Ribbon Dental Cream

THE OFFER: To induce still more people to try Ribbon Dental Cream . . . the scientific dentifrice with the foaming, penetrating action . . . we make this remarkable proposition, and to induce millions of people to buy.

Only Colgate . . . world's largest maker of tooth paste . . . could finance such an offer. The resources of a hundred-million-dollar firm are behind this deal . . . the guarantee of America's oldest, most reputable toilet goods manufacturer.

There is no mystery about this offer . . . no "catch." Colgate simply wants you to try Ribbon Dental Cream . . . already used by millions. To repay you for doing this, Colgate offers you a genuine new Colgate Toothbrush . . . value 50 cents . . . ABSOLUTELY FREE!

The brush

This toothbrush is the newest, most advanced type known to dental science. It was designed by the Colgate Department of Dental Education . . . a group of dentists whose work in the Public Schools, in the great clinics and with the Dental Profession has enabled them to study the needs of hundreds of thousands of men, women and children. These requirements have been analyzed and classified and a brush designed to meet them . . . a brush which carries the endorsement of eminent members of the Dental Profession.

Examine this brush. Study its shape, its size, its serrated bristles. Note the cunning bend of its handle; the careful "set" of the tufts; length of the bristles. Here, at last, is the toothbrush you have been waiting for . . . the brush built to cleanse in the new way dentists recommend . . . the brush that supersedes old-fashioned, clumsy brushes, made to sell cheap . . . not to cleanse scientifically.

This brush is manufactured exclusively in one of the largest American plants whose products are famous for their quality. It is made by skilled American workers . . . under the most sanitary conditions . . . from selected, imported snow-white bristles of finest quality. Every brush is carefully inspected. Its handle is of lovely transparent material, in five exquisite shades of green, purple, amber.

Its bristles are inset by a unique process that holds them in a vise-like grip that never loosens.

This brush is identical in quality, in size, in durability to brushes that sell regularly in the better stores at 50¢ each. Compare it with nationally advertised toothbrushes. You will find it the equal in quality to any of them!

But no other brush can give you the advantages in design which this newly-invented brush offers. Remember, this brush is an exclusive Colgate creation . . . each one bears on its handle the famous name of "Colgate" . . . your guarantee of quality and scientific design.

The dentifrice

Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream is the world's largest-selling tooth paste. More people use it . . . and more dentists recommend it . . . than any other dentifrice.

The reason for this is simply that Colgate's cleans teeth better. Colgate's contains the world's best cleansing agent—a penetrating foam that cleanses where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Your dentist will tell you that decay doesn't start on the smooth outer surfaces of the teeth . . . but in the tiny crevices where food particles and mucin collect.

No toothbrush can reach these hard-to-clean places. They must be cleansed by the dentifrice.

Hence the real test of a tooth paste is its ability to get down into these crevices and cleanse them thoroughly. A recent scientific test proved that Colgate's has a greater penetrating power than any of the leading tooth pastes on the market today. This is the secret of Colgate's superior cleansing power.

When brushed, Colgate's breaks into an active, sparkling foam. This foam possesses a remarkable property which enables it to get deep down into every minute pit and fissure. There it softens and dislodges the impurities sweeping them away in a detergent wave.

In this foam is carried a fine chalk powder . . . a polishing material prescribed by dentists . . . which polishes the enamel safely, brilliantly.

Think what this means to you . . . By using Colgate's you can clean your teeth thoroughly, scientifically, exactly as your dentist would have you clean them . . . restoring the natural loveliness of teeth and gums.

The Colgate method of scientific tooth brushing
After years of study and thousands of experiments, the Colgate Method of scientifically cleansing the teeth has been developed by the Colgate Department of Dental Education.

This Method is most effective when Ribbon Dental Cream is brushed on with the Colgate Brush. For the

SAVE 50 CENTS

The new Colgate Toothbrush sold separately would easily fetch 50 cents. Made of imported, snow-white bristles of finest quality . . . rigidly set in extra-strong, beautiful transparent handles.

Why the Colgate Toothbrush cleans teeth better

The Colgate brush has amazing penetrating, cleansing power . . . because the bristles are scientifically serrated . . . tufted . . . to get into the tiny fissures, crevices and hard-to-reach places where ordinary toothbrushes fail to penetrate. Diagrams below show why the Colgate Toothbrush cleans better.

Brush teeth with this up and down motion, advise dentists. The new Colgate Toothbrush was specially designed to make this action doubly effective. The serrated tufts penetrate the crevices between the teeth while giving gums and teeth amazing cleaning benefits. Do not brush across the teeth.

To increase circulation in gums and palate, the new Colgate brush is invaluable. Because the bristles stay alive, there is no soggy action. When you brush your teeth on the inside, use an in-and-out stroke. Note how wonderfully the firm bristles invigorate gums and palate.

springy, serrated bristles, set at exactly the right distance, act in a way that applies the full, concentrated cleansing power of the famous Colgate foam . . . deep down into the "hard-to-clean" places. Only thus can you be sure you are cleaning these difficult spots where decay lurks.

Also the Colgate Brush is so designed that it brushes better when used in the new up-and-down way which dentists now recommend (see diagrams above).

Start today to use the Colgate Method of Scientific Tooth Brushing . . . and note the difference in your teeth ten days hence.

NOTE!

This offer is strictly limited. The supply of brushes has been rigidly allotted to the stores which are co-operating in this great offer. They will not last long . . . once people read this announcement. Thousands of men and women, realizing that when Colgate makes such a proposition, it is worth grasping at once, will hurry to the stores and get their brushes. Many will lay in a supply for the whole family . . . So, act NOW! It may be months or even years before we can repeat this amazing proposition.

ST. LOUIS U. REGISTRATION

LARGEST IN ITS HISTORY

Enrollment, Still Incomplete, Totals 1517 Students.

Professors in Two Schools.

The largest number of students ever registered at St. Louis University were enrolled at the opening of the school this week. Although registration in all departments has not been completed, an enrollment of 1517 has been recorded so far.

In the School of Law, 120 students are registered; in the School of Medicine, 536; in the College of Arts and Sciences, 240; in the School of Education, 53; in afternoon and Saturday classes, 231, and in the day classes of the School of Commerce and Finance, 187. Registration in evening classes of the latter school is expected to reach 550.

Special courses in real estate, insurance, advertising, salesmanship and secretary science are being offered in evening classes of the School of Commerce in addition to the regular four-year courses in accounting and business administration.

Thirteen professors have been added to the faculties of the School of Commerce and the College of Arts and Sciences. The new professors are: Palmer W. Vedder, English; Thomas A. Proctor, accounting; J. J. Steger, insurance; Grover W. Divine, real estate; Joseph N. Hassett and Joseph J. Johnston, law. Few professors in the College are Dr. Charles J. Krieger, mathematics; Charles Hodge, economics; Dr. Nicholas Schanck, Spanish; the Rev. Paul Carroll, S. J., biology; the Rev. J. C. Husslein, S. J., sociology; the Rev. C. A. Robinson, S. ## SLAYER OF WIFE CAUGHT

WHEN HE SEEKS FOOD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 27.—Ray Vangiesen, trailed by a posse since 6 a. m. Thursday following the murder of his wife in their home northwest of Modesto, Ill., was caught at the Guy Nifong home, where he appeared unarmed about 7:30 o'clock this morning. He stopped at the house to ask for food.

The Nifong home is just a half mile from the Vangiesen residence. Posse searched the night but lost the track at Scottville, eight miles from Modesto, at 1 a. m.

He was taken to the Macoupin County jail in Carlinville and ordered held for first degree murder without bond by Coroner's jury.

behind the witness, scowled and ran his hand through his hair.

"He's British," he hissed audibly to his attorney, Daniel F. Cohalan, and the latter told him to "shut up."

After Pearson had completed his statement, Shearer turned to the reporters and exclaimed:

"The day will come when we'll clean these British spies out of Washington."

Three Questions Put to Witness.

As Pearson started for the door, Shearer whispered, "Don't let that bird out," and a few moments later his attorney, sent to the committee three questions to be put to Pearson.

The first was whether the witness had met Shearer at Geneva, and the reply was in the affirmative. The second was whether Pearson did not tell Shearer that he was representing the Japanese Ambassador. Pearson said that he probably did so, and also probably told him that he represented other newspapers.

The Japan Advertiser is an English language newspaper of Tokyo, owned by B. W. Fleischner, an American from Philadelphia. Numerous Americans, including a long list from the School of Journalism at Columbia, Mo., have been employed on this newspaper.

"Did you not tell Mr. Shearer that you were related to McCormick-Goodhart, secretary of the British Embassy in Washington?" was the third question.

"I do not remember telling him that," replied Pearson. But Leander McCormick-Goodhart, commercial attaché of the British Embassy here, is a cousin of my former wife.

Shearer's "hot shot," as he probably would have called it, in the lurid terminology of his reports to the shipbuilders from Geneva, proved to be a dud.

Pearson, as soon as the full significance of the query dawned on him, asked for and received permission to add a postscript to his testimony.

"I might add," he said, "that the Col. McCormick, owner of the Chicago Tribune, whom Mr. Shearer mentioned in one of his reports, also is a cousin of Mr. McCormick-Goodhart."

The point to this lies in the fact that the Chicago Tribune was one of the papers which, according to Shearer, were in sympathy with his efforts at Geneva and "played up" his stuff.

Pearson's testimony was graphic and straightforward, and the committee obviously was impressed by it.

A possibility that the committee inquiry might turn to the Shipping Board was indicated today. Shipbuilding company officials testified before the committee that they hired Shearer in December, 1926, to "co-operate with the Shipping Board" in formulating its merchant marine program, which later was incorporated into the Jones-White merchant marine act.

Senator Borah (Rep.), Idaho, who instigated the present inquiry into activities of Shearer, said today the committee "by all means should summon the American naval experts" to determine their relations with him at Geneva.

YALE PRESIDENT CONDEMNS

WEEK-END TRIPS BY STUDENTS

Harmful Physically and Mentally, He Says in Address of Welcome at New Haven.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 27.—Week-end trips to New York and to women's colleges are condemned as "harmful, physically and mentally" to Yale students by President James Rowland Angell.

In his address of welcome to the student body, President Angell said that week-ends spent in New York, Northampton, Poughkeepsie and other cities caused the students to return to the university in bad physical condition.

He said the week-end exodus from New Haven had become a serious matter, adding that "this extension work for Yale" should be curtailed. He said week-ends should be spent at New Haven making social contacts, an essential part of the college career.

President Angell said he was opposed to the plan suggested by faculty members for having students obtain special permission to leave town for the week-end and having them register before leaving and upon their return. Unless conditions were remedied, he added, some such plan might be adopted.

PRESIDENT PRAISED BY BISHOP CANNON

Hoover's Reply to Senator Howell on Drying Up Capital Approved.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The discussion over prohibition conditions in the District of Columbia has prompted Bishop James Cannon Jr., chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to express the conviction that if additional enforcement legislation is found necessary "the people will expect it to be promptly forthcoming."

"A striking example of the Hoover method of handling important subjects is found in his reply to the statement of Senator Howell on lack of prohibition enforcement in the District of Columbia. In this statement, which should receive the hearty, enthusiastic approval and active support not only of all true friends of prohibition but of all genuine supporters of constitutional government, the President most significantly declares: 'It is the intention, not only to secure the fullest enforcement in the District possible under the organization of enforcement agencies as provided by law, but to make it a model in this country.'"

"This declaration is the climax of a statement bristling with facts; asserting that Senator Howell's statement seriously impugns the good faith and capacity of the district officials, calling them by name; that the President is glad the question has been raised, expressing a natural confidence that such charges would not be made on the floor of the Senate unless they were based on facts, and declaring positively that if such facts are forthcoming the President himself will have the matter thoroughly investigated."

"Model enforcement resulting in model conditions cannot be secured in a day, but those who have followed the amazing achievements of President Hoover's career know that if he has indeed put his hand to the plow he will not turn back until, regardless of opposition and obstacles of every kind, he has plowed the furrow to the end."

UNIFORM LAW ENFORCEMENT IMPROBABLE, ATTORNEY SAYS
Birmingham, Ala., Lawyer Addresses Missouri Bar Meeting on Justice

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27.—Because mankind is not of uniform moral structure, no theory of law enforcement can be successfully maintained which disregards the axiom that justice and injustice, right and wrong, are but relative terms, Henry Upson Sims, lawyer of Birmingham, Ala., said in an address prepared for delivery before the Missouri Bar Association here today.

The attorney said he did not believe in the universality of law. "What is needed, and what can be enforced in Missouri," he said "may not be needed and may not be enforceable in Alabama." He stated that even the grounds for divorce should be matters for local difference; that courts must be administered differently in different sections of the country; that juries must be selected differently, and that pleadings must be different.

Discussing the problems of law enforcement, Sims argued that "for effective enforcement laws should represent the desire of a full majority of the population, that when the popular approval is not known, they should not be in conflict with theories of the law approved by experience, and that when they are new laws are revolutionary in theory, they should be regarded frankly as experimental." It should be recognized that the value and effectiveness of laws is essentially a local question, he added.

Mrs. Ruth Hill Brackenbush, who saw the romance between her brother and her husband's cousin, Vivian Brackenbush, culminate Tuesday in their marriage, which at her request was performed at her bedside, died yesterday at her home, 2444A Palm street.

Mrs. Brackenbush, 47 for two years, had expressed the wish that she live to see her brother, Jesse Hill, marry Miss Brackenbush. She had introduced the pair several years ago.

Last week her husband, William Brackenbush, was informed that his wife had but a few days to live. He communicated at once with his cousin and his fiancée. They came to St. Louis and were married at the dying woman's bedside.

He said the week-end exodus from New Haven had become a serious matter, adding that "this extension work for Yale" should be curtailed. He said week-ends should be spent at New Haven making social contacts, an essential part of the college career.

President Angell said he was opposed to the plan suggested by faculty members for having students obtain special permission to leave town for the week-end and having them register before leaving and upon their return. Unless conditions were remedied, he added, some such plan might be adopted.

PRESIDENT PRAISED BY BISHOP CANNON

Hoover's Reply to Senator Howell on Drying Up Capital Approved.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The discussion over prohibition conditions in the District of Columbia has prompted Bishop James Canon Jr., chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to express the conviction that if additional enforcement legislation is found necessary "the people will expect it to be promptly forthcoming."

"A striking example of the Hoover method of handling important subjects is found in his reply to the statement of Senator Howell on lack of prohibition enforcement in the District of Columbia. In this statement, which should receive the hearty, enthusiastic approval and active support not only of all true friends of prohibition but of all genuine supporters of constitutional government, the President most significantly declares: 'It is the intention, not only to secure the fullest enforcement in the District possible under the organization of enforcement agencies as provided by law, but to make it a model in this country.'"

"This declaration is the climax of a statement bristling with facts;
asserting that Senator Howell's statement seriously impugns the good faith and capacity of the district officials, calling them by name; that the President is glad the question has been raised, expressing a natural confidence that such charges would not be made on the floor of the Senate unless they were based on facts, and declaring positively that if such facts are forthcoming the President himself will have the matter thoroughly investigated."

"Model enforcement resulting in model conditions cannot be secured in a day, but those who have followed the amazing achievements of President Hoover's career know that if he has indeed put his hand to the plow he will not turn back until, regardless of opposition and obstacles of every kind, he has plowed the furrow to the end."

UNIFORM LAW ENFORCEMENT IMPROBABLE, ATTORNEY SAYS

Birmingham, Ala., Lawyer Addresses Missouri Bar Meeting on Justice
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 27.—Because mankind is not of uniform moral structure, no theory of law enforcement can be successfully maintained which disregards the axiom that justice and injustice, right and wrong, are but relative terms. Henry Upson Sims, lawyer of Birmingham, Ala., said in an address prepared for delivery before the Missouri Bar Association here today.

The attorney said he did not believe in the universality of law.
"What is needed, and what can be enforced in Missouri," he said
"may not be needed and may not be enforceable in Alabama." He stated that even the grounds for divorce should be matters for local difference; that courts must be administered differently in different sections of the country; that juries must be selected differently, and that pleadings must be different.

Discussing the problems of law enforcement, Sims argued that
"for effective enforcement, laws should represent the desire of a full majority of the population, that when the popular approval is not known, they should not be in conflict with theories of the law approved by experience, and that when they are new laws, or revolutionary in theory, they should be regarded frankly as experimental." It should be recognized that the value and effectiveness of laws is essentially a local question, he added.

at Her Bedside.
Mrs. Ruth Hill Brackenbush, who saw the romance between her brother and her husband's cousin, Vivian Brackenbush, culminate Tuesday in their marriage, which at her request was performed at her bedside, died yesterday at her home, 5444A Palm street.
Mrs. Brackenbush, ill for two years, had expressed the wish that she live to see her brother, Jesse Hill, marry Miss Brackenbush. She had introduced the pair several years ago.
Last week her husband, William Brackenbush, was informed that his wife had but a few days to live.
He communicated at once with his cousin and her fiancé. They came to St. Louis and were married at the dying woman's bedside.

GOVERNOR URGES TOWNS AND COUNTIES TO ENFORCE LAW

At Stanberry (Mo.) Semi-Centennial Celebration Points Out the State's Lack of Power.

By the Associated Press.

STANBERRY, Mo., Sept. 27.—A plea for law enforcement by county and town officers was made by Gov. Caulfield in an address here this afternoon at the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the town of Stanberry.

"The State of Missouri is in itself without law enforcement machinery," the Governor said. "With the exception of three principal cities, the apprehension of criminals is entrusted entirely to the cities and counties. With the State's officers powerless to help in this task there evolves upon all local officers of Missouri a responsibility that challenges their most earnest efforts, a responsibility in which they must have the help of a united citizenry if they are to cope successfully with crime."

Public sentiment, he said, was inevitably reflected in the attitude and actions of public officials. "All persons in authority, high or low, should be example as well as precept teach obedience to the law," he said.

A grand jury has been in session in this (Gentry) county for more than three weeks, investigating reported liquor law violations. Three men, one a former town Marshal, were sent to jail several days ago when they refused to answer grand jury questions satisfactorily.

FAMILY COMMITS HARA-KIRI

Three in Japan End Lives Following Bankrupt's Suicide in Peru.

By the Associated Press.

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 27.—The Lima Nippo, local Japanese publication, says that last year's failure and subsequent suicide of a wealthy Japanese merchant, S. G. Kutsutani, has been followed by the suicide of his family in Japan. Kutsutani's wife, his brother and his son committed hara-kiri in accordance with Japanese custom because they were unable to pay for the moral and material wrongs of their relative.

Hughes Will Support La Guardia. NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Charles E. Hughes, Justice of the World Court at The Hague, has returned with his wife and daughter from Europe on the liner Rotterdam. Hughes declined to discuss the World Court but expressed much interest in the coming city election and announced that he would support F. H. La Guardia, Republican nominee for Mayor.

BRITISH PREMIER TO LEAVE LONDON FOR U. S. TONIGHT

House of Commons while his chief is abroad.

Macdonald to Be Hoover's Guest Oct. 6.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The most important event on the official program during the visit here of Premier Macdonald and his wife, Ibbet, remains briefest and least explicit. It reads: "Sunday, Oct. 6. Mr. Macdonald and Miss Macdonald will be guests of President and Mrs. Hoover." It doesn't tell where, nor what they will be doing.

If early October is blue and warm, that brief announcement may mean the outdoor-loving Hoovers would entertain the Macdonalds at their Virginia mountain camp. The time limits of the program would permit a Saturday night and Sunday on the rustic Rapidan, with a return to Washington for Monday's visit to Congress, formal luncheon and State dinner.

If October skies are drab and chill, however, the White House, which has been taking on more and more of Mrs. Hoover's comfortable and homelike ideas, probably will be the background for the entire Macdonald week-end with the President.

Macdonald's visit is only a week away. Official plans are rapidly crystallizing in minute detail. Rigid rules of etiquette will govern many of the social affairs. The first formal call of the Premier must be returned by the President within 20 minutes. The 1 o'clock luncheon must be imposing. The 5 o'clock dinner will be an elaborate affair of state, including the gold table service.

But the Saturday half-holiday and Sunday will belong to President and Mrs. Hoover as host and hostess.

No precedents exist to restrict and make formal such occasions. At any moment, the President may decide to go to the Rapidan camp with the Prime Minister. In that event, Ramsay Macdonald might add his stony contribution to the famous pool dams built during the summer by President Hoover and his informal guests.

Many a baffling internal program was advancing toward solution during the summer dam building play, and it is not impossible that the international problem of naval disarmament may be lifted closer to a conclusion along with the placing of a big rock in the water.

Miss Macdonald may enjoy one of those Sunday night suppers at the White House to which guests are invited by telephone. No precedents are allowed to stand in the way of enjoyment on those occasions, either.

The dinner which Secretary of State Stimson will give in honor of Macdonald, Oct. 9 will be a stag affair, probably the only official entertainment at which the Prime Minister will be present while in Washington without his daughter.

The Secretary in arranging the dinner, desired to afford him an opportunity to meet American officials in a more informal manner than would be possible at other functions.

Mrs. Stimson, who recently came to Washington from the Secretary's Long Island home, has been ill for some time and the stag affair will relieve her from the heavy burden which would accompany acting as hostess.

POPULATION OF KANSAS 1,852,246 LAST MARCH 1

Gains Reported in 61, Losses in 43 Counties, Compared With Preceding Year.

By the Associated Press.

TOPEKA, Kan.—The population of Kansas as of March 1 has been reported by Will J. French, State Auditor, as 1,852,246, an increase of 9551 over the figure for the corresponding date last year. The increase approximated one-half of 1 per cent. Gains were reported in 61 counties, and losses in 43. One county, Sumner, reported the same population on both dates.

Sedgwick County made the largest gain in the year, 7453—more than two-thirds of the total State increase. Shawnee County made the second largest gain, 1537, and Johnson was third, 1500. Other counties in the group of 10 making the largest gains, and their increases: Miami, 1109; Cherokee, 790; Atchison, 752; Wyandotte, 664; Saline, 645; Norton, 622, and Ford, 612.

Crop Averaging 1000 Pounds An Acre Sold for 65 Cents a Pound

DILLON, S. C.—Raising of Turkish tobacco, heretofore untried on a large scale in this section, is being accomplished successfully near here by H. Lambus.

Lambus recently cured his second crop of Turkish tobacco, averaging a yield of about 1000 pounds an acre. He sold his crop for 65 cents a pound.

Last year he experimented with two patches, one with fertilizer and the other without fertilizer. The patch with fertilizer attained abnormal growth, was dark, heavy and strong, and did not cure satisfactorily. The patch without fertilizer produced a fine quality of tobacco of the desired color and weight.

Plants are raised in a hot bed, the same as those of the bright leaf variety produced in the Carolinas. They are set out at the usual time and reach maturity in about 90 days. Great care is exercised in cultivation, most of the work being done by hand. The Turkish tobacco cannot be flue-cured. It is strung on racks and cured in the sun.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Slightly Heartier Foods Are in Order for the Cooler September Days.

Round or flank steak is used for the Swiss steak served on Monday night. There is no waste to either of these cuts and they are therefore more economical than the sirloin or some of the more tender cuts. In making the Swiss steak, pound two or three tablespoons of flour into the meat, using a rolling pin or a wooden potato masher. Then brown the meat quickly in hot drippings. Reduce the heat, cover closely and cook slowly for 25 minutes; then add two cups of cut up tomatoes, two sliced onions, salt and pepper to season and one-half cup of water. Cover again and continue cooking for 50 minutes, or until the meat is very tender.

Such cuts of meat require slower and longer cooking than the more expensive ones, but the flavor and nutritive value is equally as good in one as the other.

Oyster Stew.
Pick over one quart of oysters to remove any bits of shell. Put the oysters and their liquid in a saucepan and heat slowly until the oysters are plump and curled back on the edges. This will take about eight minutes. Meanwhile scald three cups of rich milk with three tablespoons butter, salt to season and a tiny pinch of nutmeg. Milk is scalded when a skin forms on the top. Do not let it boil. Add the oysters and one-fourth cup of rolled soda cracker crumbs. Serve at once with plenty of oyster crackers. Makes five large servings.

Tomato and Bacon Toast.
Put three cups of stewed tomatoes in a saucepan with one large onion that has been chopped fine, one teaspoon salt, two teaspoons sugar, and pepper to season. Simmer for 15 minutes. Mix two tablespoons flour with a little cold water and stir into the hot tomatoes. Toast six large slices of bread and place on hot plates, pour the tomato mixture over the toast and put three crisp slices of bacon on each slice of toast. Serve at once.

Browned Sweet Potatoes.
Peel the boiled or steamed sweet potatoes and cut them in thick, lengthwise slices. Lay them in a pan, which has been rubbed lightly with fat, dot with butter, dust with a little salt, sprinkle thickly with brown sugar, and strew over a little cinnamon. Bake until a rich brown.

String Beans.
Take four tablespoons butter, two large onions, two large tomatoes, two pounds string beans, one tablespoon flour, one sweet pepper, one-half teaspoon salt, pepper. Cook onions, tomatoes, sweet pepper, butter and flour until golden brown. Cover beans with hot water. Season with salt and hot water. Season with salt and hot water. Cook slowly one hour. Beans should be cut in pieces.

POPULAR FRUIT SANDWICHES
Nice for a Luncheon or a Supper Dish for Children.
A modification of the fruit toast is the fruit sandwich. While the fruit toast is best for breakfast, the fruit sandwiches makes a delicious luncheon dessert. It is prepared by having two nicely toasted slices of bread ready for a filling of freshly stewed, mashed fresh fruits. Almost any small fruit lends itself to such a dish and its food value is high. Individual servings are best for such a sandwich. After arranging the filling and arranging the top slice in its proper place, prepare a dressing of the stewed fruit around the whole sandwich.

GOOD MILK TOAST MAKES A FINE BREAKFAST DISH

An Important Thing in Good Nutrition Is the Matter of Good Breakfasts.

Bread and milk are foods that will help greatly to build strong bodies, and they should form part of every breakfast. Fruit is another necessary part of the meal. Sometimes you may get tired of cereal and then is the time to have a big dish of golden brown, buttery milk toast.

Cut bread in half-inch slices—either white or whole-wheat will do. Toast it to a golden brown on each side, either in an electric toaster, over hot coals, or in the broiling oven of the gas stove.

Place one large slice in each cereal dish and put in the oven to keep hot for a few minutes.

Pour one cup of milk for each person in a saucepan, add one-fourth teaspoon salt and a teaspoon of butter. Heat until a skin forms on top of the milk—do not stir it.

Butter the toast lightly, pour the hot milk over it and serve as you can. Eat at least one slice and two are better. Try it and see.

Brooks Catsup flavored with tabasco peppers adds a new deliciousness to meals. You'll enjoy its rich, tangy flavor—better than any you've tasted before. Always, you'll get it in the distinctive tapered bottle. Buy a bottle at your grocer's today.

"HAN-DEE Bread, Evenly Sliced and Deliciously Flavored, Makes the Best Toast"

Thousands of families breakfast on toast. It is the one thing that men who breakfast alone can negotiate successfully.

Wedge-shaped and flavorless slices of bread, however, have made the breakfast only too often a duty instead of a pleasure.

No man or woman can cut bread into perfectly uniform slices, and, as pleasing the eye is as essential as pleasing the palate, the expedients of fruit butters, jams and what-not to impart flavor are not always compensating.

Now comes HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve—as fine quality of bread as can be made, enhanced by a natural wheat flavor—an exclusive Papendick characteristic.

This, then, is the loaf which is sliced in even sized slices by one operation quicker than the eye can follow. Every slice is of the same thickness and for those who count their calories, of the same nutritive value.

In a twinkling the sliced loaf is in its tray, and before you know it, wrapped ready for delivery.

Every slice toasts uniformly—no half-toasted areas—no burned spots—a golden brown—crisp and ample in substance.

The taste? Flavorously nutty—a most delicious mouthful—and one eats untiringly of this daily treat.

HAN-DEE BREAD toast for breakfast for one or for all the family is a parade of delight. Over a hundred thousand loaves a week speak eloquently of the homes where HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve—is more eagerly looked for than any other article of food.

HAN-DEE BREAD—sliced ready to serve—is made of the finest materials. Every slice is uniformly thick. It is one hundred per cent baked. It has the natural flavor of the wheat. It is convenient, economical and safe. It holds its freshness longer. It is the ideal bread for every bread purpose.

PLANNING MENUS FOR THE COMING WEEK

The Late Summer Fruits and Vegetables Mark This Week's Menus.

In most sections of the country the last of September shows some of the late summer fruits and vegetables still in the market, and this week's meals have been planned to make use of them so far as possible.

Slightly heartier appetites demand a little change in the food plan from that used in the hot weather, but it is best to still include a good amount of the fresh fruits, vegetables, and salads that were so plentifully used in the summer meals.

Grapes, pears, late peaches and plums, late corn, summer squash, beans, spinach, tomatoes—these are still to be had. Oranges and grapefruit are improving in quality and apples are quite plentiful. As these fruits were scarce during the summer, their flavor is the better relished now, but remember that they will last but a short time after the last of summer foods are gone, so make the best of the latter while they may be had.

In planning this week's menus, use foods that are reasonable because they are generally the least expensive, and also plan the various meals to include the greatest variety both in flavor and kind that is possible for a moderate price. Addition, can, of course, be made as desired.

Soup, for instance, may be added to a dinner menu, or an extra vegetable or salad used to make the meal more elaborate. Sunday's dinner might well add a clear consommé or a vegetable or fruit cocktail as a first course.

In selecting the duck that makes the roast for the day, buy one that is plump for its size and that weighs about five pounds. Smaller ones are likely to have a very little meat on them, and larger ones may be tough or strong in flavor. Stuff the duck with a breadcrumb stuffing flavored with a little onion, poultry seasoning and chopped celery.

Chopped meat is used to fill the cabbage rolls on Tuesday night. If there is any of the Swiss steak left over, chop it and add to a combination of both. This recipe is a delicious one, and though it is a bit more troublesome to prepare than some others, there is nothing complicated about it, and the results will justify the time spent.

Waldorf salad is a popular dish, but there are a few things to keep in mind when preparing it. First be sure to use tart, crisp apples; next, chop it and add to a combination of both. This recipe is a delicious one, and though it is a bit more troublesome to prepare than some others, there is nothing complicated about it, and the results will justify the time spent.

Cool and freeze to a mush consistency, add one pint of whipped cream and freeze until firm.
Plum sherbet may be served as a dessert or it may be served with the meat course for luncheon or dinner. It has a tart enough flavor to be pleasing with the meat and not too sharp to make a satisfying finale to the meal.

SEVERAL NEW WAYS OF USING NUTS

The Nut Season Suggests These Appetizing Dishes for Company Meals.

Nuts are best when combined with some other food, preferably a starchy one as rice, potatoes, macaroni or bread, or, in the summer time, with a green vegetable and a starch food. Many people have an objection to nuts on the ground that they are indigestible, but this is true only if they are eaten after a heavy meal, or when they are not properly masticated. When finely chopped or ground, or when mixed with other foods, they are wholesome, digestible, highly nutritious, appetizing and satisfying.

Peanut butter is an excellent type of nut food, as it is so finely ground that it can be readily assimilated; there are several nut preparations on the market that are very convenient to use and fine in flavor, especially a sort of pecan nut meal that combines with many foods to make really delicious meals.

The cutlets mentioned a moment ago are made with this pecan meal or with nuts that you chop yourself through the meat chopper. Pecan nuts or almonds might be used in the same way. To make them for four people, mix together two cups of stale, dry bread crumbs and one cup of pecan nut meal or one and one-half cups of chopped pecans. Add one cup of scalded milk, then two well beaten eggs, one and one-half teaspoons salt, a teaspoon minced onion, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and a little celery salt.

Mix thoroughly, press into a small bread pan and let stand until cold. Cut down in half-inch slices, shape into cutlets, roll in beaten egg and fine bread or cracker crumbs and brown in hot fat in a frying pan. Drain on soft paper and serve hot with a Spanish sauce and a crisp green salad.

If you prefer to serve a cold main course on a very warm day try a salad of a whole tomato, peeled, chilled and hollowed out to form a cup. Fill with a mixture of toasted, blanched almonds, coarsely chopped, fresh cooked green peas and cold boiled rice, using equal parts of peas and rice and a large tablespoon of nuts for each portion. Season with chopped chives, salt and mayonnaise and garnish with a spoonful of mayonnaise and a sprig of watercress.

Serve on lettuce with four stalks of fresh cooked or canned asparagus slipped through a ring of green pepper.

Hot biscuits, peach ice cream and small sponge cakes finish the meal, which may be begun with a cup of clear hot bullion served with cheese croutons.

Sweet potatoes baked with Brazil nuts and apples make another delicious and unusual luncheon dish. Boil four potatoes, peel and cut in thick slices lengthwise. Butter a baking dish, cover with peeled sliced apples, then add the potatoes. Melt two tablespoons of butter, add one-half cup of brown sugar, two tablespoons water and one tablespoon lemon juice. Spread one cup of chopped Brazil nuts or almonds over the potatoes, pour the syrup over them and bake in a moderate oven—for 40 minutes. Serve hot with crisp rolls, a green salad and a fruit gelatin dessert.

SOUP SHOULD BE SERVED DAILY AT FAMILY MEALS
This Wholesome Dish May Be Easily Prepared in the Home Kitchen.

The French have attained the superlative in soup making and it is to them we may look for proper methods of preparing. We are told that they produce not less than 500 kinds. Perhaps this is because they use the soup pot as a haven for all sorts of left-overs.

The evening meal in many French homes consists of what is called "Pot-au-feu." This soup is made from meat and vegetables, the vegetables chosen to give a fine combination of flavors. It is often cooked all day, care being taken that the pot is constantly simmering. The meat and vegetables are allowed to remain in the soup when it is served.

There are two general classes of soups. One has a foundation of milk which is flavored with vegetables and well seasoned. The other is made by extracting the juices and flavor from meat or fish and adding vegetables to give their flavor to this kind of soup.

Soups which are equally as delicious as those made by the French can be made in any American home, but they can be made with greater ease and less watching of the pot in homes equipped with heat-regulated ovens, for soups may be baked as well as boiled on top of the stove.

SPAGHETTI AND MUSHROOMS
This Is One of the Glorified Ways of Serving Spaghetti.

Cook one-half pound spaghetti in plenty of boiling water for 15 minutes or until tender, then drain and rinse with cold water and chop with a sharp knife just enough to break the long sticks.

Melt three tablespoons butter, add two tablespoons flour and when well mixed stir in one and one-half cups milk. Cook until thickened and add the spaghetti. Peel one-quarter pound fresh mushrooms, or drain the liquid from a medium-sized can of mushrooms, cut in pieces and add to the spaghetti.

Pour into a buttered baking dish, cover with one-half cup buttered bread crumbs and bake in a hot oven for 10 minutes or until well browned and bubbling.

BY ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR
HERE, Madam, is that remarkable new day bread so many mothers are changing to. It's called "Wonder Bread."
You should try it.
It is, you will find, utterly different from any other bread you can buy. It represents months and months of research and the expenditure of $6,000,000.
Two years ago we placed it on the market
At that time bakery experts told us

Will You Test It, Please?

Many, many women, sceptical of what we claim, have been won by tasting this remarkable Wonder Bread in direct comparison with other brands.
This we urge you to do, knowing from past experience exactly what you will find. Won't you try it yourself?

FOOD VALUE OF LEMONS

Lemonade is a Particularly Wholesome Beverage for Children. Lemon juice is richly supplied with mineral salts and acids as well as with vitamins.

It has so many household uses that it is almost impossible to name them all—adding flavor to bland food is one of its most useful accomplishments, but one of its most healthful is its use as a beverage.

Let the children drink as much lemonade as they want for it is a good food tonic and an excellent source of the substances needed to insure resistance to disease.

How to Make Paprika. Paprika is obtained by grinding dried ripe red sweet peppers of a mild pungent flavor. (Paprika is a Hungarian word for pepper.)

MORE TO SAY ABOUT

REDUCING DIETS

Many Misinformed Persons Make the Mistake of Starving Themselves.

Just another word as to reducing diets. There are a great many of these "on hand," as it were. You have probably heard of at least a dozen different kinds. Remember that no one kind will suit everyone. A diet that has enabled your friend to lose 20 pounds in a month may have little or no effect on you.

There are various reasons for over-weight, and if the scale shows you are decidedly above the average for your height and age the best thing to do before adopting any promiscuous diet, is to find out the cause of the excess in your case.

Then submit the diet to your doctor for his approval before you take it on. In many cases a great deal of harm results by too rigorous a diet too prolonged a one, or one unsuited for the purpose or individual.

The first thing to do is, of course, to know your normal weight. Each one of us has a definite food requirement and it is necessary to see that your meals are made up of those things which will supply all the necessary food elements and yet will be low in calories so as to avoid adding weight.

The foods that supply bulk with low calorie content, and that therefore can be used freely every day, are fruits and vegetables. Some of the vegetables should be raw, and the ones that are cooked should be seasoned with a small amount of butter, but no rich sauces.

Raw fruits are best, though they may be stewed or baked; however in this case just enough sugar should be used to make them palatable.

Next to the fruit and vegetables in importance are the protein foods. One egg a day should be used and also one serving of lean meat or fish. It is a good plan to alternate meat and fish to avoid monotony.

A small amount of bread may be used as it supplies energy, but be careful to add only a very moderate amount of butter.

Salads should be very freely served—twice a day is none too much. See to it, however, that only small amount of dressing is added.

Desserts often bring up a large problem which can be solved if you will restrict yourself to those made with fruits, gelatin or the plain milk puddings. Fruit sherberts or ices, fresh fruit with boiled custard and the gelatine mixtures are good examples.

Strawberry Crescents are a new wrinkle in cakes. Delicious to Serve With Ices, Ice Cream, Frozen Custards and Iced Drinks.

Two cups sifted cake flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup butter or other shortening, one cup sugar, two-thirds cup milk, one-half teaspoon vanilla, three eggs whites stiffly beaten.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Fold in egg whites. Bake in two greased, nine-inch layer pans, in moderate oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cool.

Cut into 18 three-inch crescents. Frosting for Crescents: One egg white, dash of salt, one-half cup canned strawberries, one cup confectioners' sugar.

Beat egg white and salt until frothy, add berries, and continue beating until blended. Add sugar gradually, beating vigorously until thick and fluffy. Frost top of each crescent with strawberry meringue frosting. Makes 18 three-inch crescents.

Something Worth Trying. When you wish to boil potatoes with skins left on make one paring around the potatoes. The salt will then be sure to flavor them and they will be easy to peel when cooked.

Urging A New-Day Bread For Your Children...

To Build Them Up and Bring New Vigor

BY ALICE ADAMS PROCTOR

HERE, Madam, is that remarkable new-day bread so many mothers are changing to. It's called "Wonder Bread." You should try it.

It is, you will find, utterly different from any other bread you can buy. It represents months and months of research and the expenditure of $6,000,000.

Two years ago we placed it on the market. At that time bakery experts told us it would cost too much to make. They pointed out that our recipe called for ingredients that cost $1,000,000 extra to buy. And so they prophesied tremendous losses.

But we maintained that women would note the difference instantly. We gambled on their judgment . . . and we won.

Today Wonder Bread is bought by 10,000,000 women. It is, without question, the largest-selling bread in America.

What It Offers

First of all, it is considered the most economical known source of carbohydrates. And carbohydrates, as you know, are vital to health.

Especially is this so with children. Active work or play rapidly burns up body tissues. Unless these tissues are replaced, "Carbohydrate Starvation" sets in. Listlessness is what you see.

Wonder Bread, being rich in carbohydrates, combats this condition remarkably.

When digested, it gives off heat in the form of energy exactly as coal gives off heat. It helps establish that vital "energy reserve." Thus your child often discovers a wonderful new zest for play.

Knowing these benefits, dietitians are urging its use at every meal. And millions of mothers, finding "balanced diet" made easy, now serve it in their homes.

Its Famous Flavor

These unusual health advantages, please remember, come to you in a superlatively delicious food. And at no extra cost.

You get them in a bread judged by the foremost experts in the country the most deliciously flavored bread ever baked. Which makes it the more remarkable.

How We Make It

To make Wonder Bread we employ matchless chefs. We use a specially milled

"short patent" flour. Only the nutritious heart of the wheat berry is used. We use double the amount of milk. And we pasteurize every drop.

These ingredients are extremely costly, but they give a vastly better bread. So we benefit through tremendous extra sales.

We employ, also, a unique baking method. Wonder Bread is "slo-baked." This means, as the term suggests, slower baking and more careful baking.

It brings you a more delicate flavor. Greater digestibility. Longer-lasting freshness.

When Will You Start?

So do, please, as the country's wisest women are doing and give this new-day bread an immediate trial. Only remember to say "Wonder Bread" and say it distinctly. It costs you no more.

Also please let me send you my new booklet of unusual sandwich recipes.

You never would believe sandwiches could be so delicious.

DAINTY JELLY ROLL.
A FAVORITE DESSERT

Especially Popular Where There Are Children in the Family.

Jelly Roll is a favorite dessert of many people. It is especially nice if there are children in the family for this sweet is very popular with them.

The cake part is a very simple member of the sponge cake family. Another good reason for planning a jelly roll is that it will help the home-maker to plan for the use of small amounts of jelly which might have been left over and cannot be used again on the table. Several kinds might be mixed and used to spread on the jelly roll.

Also, she may have at hand some jelly which did not "jell." This sometimes happens if the fruit juices are too ripe, or if too much sugar is used, or if it is overcooked. So instead of a well-formed jelly, she may have a sort of heavy syrup. This syrupy mixture is just the proper consistency for jelly in making jelly roll as the jelly must be beaten with a fork or spoon to make it soft enough to spread.

Take three eggs, one cup sugar, one-half tablespoon milk, one teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup flour and one tablespoon melted butter.

Beat the egg until light, add the sugar gradually, then the milk and flour which has been sifted with the baking powder and salt. Then add the melted butter. Pour the batter directly into greased pans, being sure that it is evenly distributed over the pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes.

Bake it in a large shallow pan. The cake will be more easily removed from the pan if a piece of paper just large enough to cover the bottom has been placed in the pan and greased. If paraffin paper is used, it will not need to be oiled but a heavier paper well greased will be better. The batter should be poured into the pan so it will be about one-fourth inch thick. This is because the cake has to be thin enough when baked to roll nicely. If it is too thick, it will break. Of course, it will taste just the same whether it is cracked or not, but it will not look so nice.

Lemon juice or orange juice may be used instead of milk, if either flavor is desired. Either one would make a pleasing combination flavor with most fruit jellies.

Remove the cake from the pan at once and place upside down on a paper which has been covered with powdered sugar, or on a towel which has been wrung out of hot water. Have a sharp knife handy to trim off the edges of the cake where they have become hardened against the sides of the pan. This will leave a warm pliable cake, the bottom of which should be spread immediately with the jelly mixture, previously softened by beating with a spoon.

Begin to roll this cake very slowly. If the wet towel is used this process is not the least difficult because steam will be formed and will keep the cake soft as it is rolled.

Keep the cake rolled in the towel or paper for a few minutes to make perfectly round, then it will stay in this shape when cold. Sprinkle the cake with powdered sugar when the towel is removed and it will be ready to serve. The sugar will be on the cake, if the paper has been used.

EFFICIENCY EASILY BROUGHT INTO THE HOME KITCHEN

Modern Ranges, Refrigerators and Cooking Appliances Turn

the Trick. Bringing efficiency into the kitchen is one of the most important advances which has been made in recent years. It proves the value of women's time and the importance of saving their energy for other purposes.

This modern tendency to relieve the home maker from some of the arduous duties in no way lessens the quality of the work. In many instances it raises the standards because women previously had much more work to do than it was possible for them to accomplish well.

We have awakened to the fact that poorly arranged kitchens mean extra steps; that watching the flame to prevent the food from burning means constant application of time; that whipping and beating and stirring by hand consumes needless energy.

Our modern lives demand that we consider the very latest devices, the most up-to-date and modern pieces of equipment, especially for the kitchen, because it is in this room where a large share of a woman's time is spent and a great deal of the work of the home is done today.

DAINTY DATE DRY CAKE

An Intriguing Delicacy for Informal Teas and Luncheons.

This delicacy is made with one cup sugar, two eggs, one-fourth cup water, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup nuts, one cup dates, four tablespoons flour and one teaspoon baking powder.

Beat eggs with water until light; add sugar and salt; beat well. Sift flour and baking powder over chopped nuts and dates; add to first mixture. Bake in shallow pan in moderate oven 20-25 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

Browned Parsnips. Wash, scrape and cut parsnips into slices. Cover with boiling water and boil until tender; drain. Brown on greased griddle or frying pan. Season with salt and pepper.

ONE DISH MEALS POPULAR

Whole meals in one dish are very popular. They may be served in casserole or in individual ramekins. When these meals are supplemented with a tasty salad and simple dessert a maximum amount of satisfaction has been secured

Another distinct advantage of this "one dish meal" is that it is often possible to use somewhat different ingredients thereby making slight changes in the recipe each time. Small amounts of left-overs may also be used. This adds flavor and uses up material that might otherwise be wasted. These changes will keep the recipe flexible enough so that it will not seem like the same meal every time it is served.

Time sifts a coffee's claims

LONG ago, barefooted pickaninnies used to dance attendance upon the carriages of the quality folks who had come from afar to sample the hospitality of the old Maxwell

House. Even in those distant days, when the coffee of this courtly Southern hotel was only at the beginning of fame, other coffees often claimed to be "just as good".

Time and the tastes of a nation have judged these claims impartially; and today Maxwell House is the largest selling packaged coffee in the world. And so, whenever history repeats and the old-time claims recur, we are quite willing to place our trust in the critical sifting of time, and in a nation's taste—your taste. Maxwell House Coffee awaits you at your grocer's—try its rare and mellow flavor—and you will know why this unique blend is delighting more people than any other coffee in the world.

LAST CHANCE TO MAKE PRESERVES

Late Pears, Quinces, Crab-apples and Cantaloupes Offer Many Possibilities.

The preserve shelf has come to take the place of the spacious preserve closets of comparatively few years ago, for in these days of condensed living quarters most of us have little or no space other than a small shelf to give over to the storage of foods.

Home-made jams, conserves and preserves somehow have a flavor that keeps a lot of us still "rolling our own" as we might say. Old, long tested recipes are treasured and brought forth year after year, and jars and pots filled with the old favorites.

There are those who claim that it is a waste of time to put up preserves at home nowadays when such wholesome and delicious ones can be bought so reasonably and so easily. For those who think so, undoubtedly it is, but there are assuredly a few luscious and flavorful varieties of preserves that are not met with except at home, and the hostess who would present her guests, as well as her family, with something a bit out of the ordinary will do well to follow the recipes given here. Make a few jars of each and you'll want to repeat the job another year!

Golden Conserves.
Peel one pound of cooking pears and cut into small cubes. Add the grated rind of one orange and one lemon, the juice of these, one teaspoon ground ginger, four slices of canned pineapple cut in small pieces, and one cup of the pineapple juice. Cook slowly until the pears are tender, or for about 20 minutes.

Then measure the mixture and add three-fourths cup of sugar for each cup of the fruit. Stir carefully until the sugar dissolves, then boil until the fruit is transparent and golden in color. This will take about 40 minutes. When done pour into small jars or glasses and seal with melted paraffine.

Cantaloupe Preserves.
Cantaloupe or citron melon may be used in the same way. Use the white rind of the melon, cutting it into small squares or fancy shaped pieces. Put two quarts of the cut rind in a deep bowl, cover with two quarts of water and add two tablespoons salt. Let stand overnight, drain, cover with fresh water and let stand two hours, then drain again thoroughly.

Mix three cups of sugar with two cups water and boil five minutes. Add the melon rind and simmer slowly, until the rind can be easily pierced with a toothpick. Skim from the syrup, spread out on a large pan and let dry for an hour or two.

Meanwhile add the grated rind and the juice of a lemon to the syrup, also a two-inch piece of green ginger root. Boil for 20 minutes, add the partly dried melon rind, reheat to the boiling point, boil five minutes and pour into small sterilized jars. Seal at once and let stand at least a week before using—longer is better.

CHOP SUEY IS AS POPULAR HERE AS IT IS IN CHINA

Americans Have Learned to Like This Very Wholesome Dish.

American chop suey is very often served instead of the Chinese type. A very tempting dish of chop suey may be made according to this recipe:

Four onions, three cups celery, one and one-half cups mushrooms, two green peppers, one and three-fourths teaspoons salt, one-half tablespoon fat, one pound lean pork, one-half cup rice and three cups stock made from stems and skins of mushrooms.

Cut the pork in small pieces and slice the onions thin. Brown them in a baking pan on the surface burner in the one-half tablespoon of fat. Slice the celery, mushroom caps and green peppers into long shreds. Add them with the rice, salt and stock to the onions and pork.

Any meat or vegetable stock can be used in place of the mushroom stock or a bouillon cube and three cups of water can be added. If a bouillon cube is used, do not use the salt.

Cover the baking dish and, if you desire to be away from the kitchen for two and a half hours, bake it at 275 degrees. If you prefer a higher temperature for a shorter baking time, make for one and a half hours at 350 degrees.

VEGETABLE COOKERY HINT

Most vegetables will have a far better flavor if they are cooked in a very little water and only just long enough to make them tender. There are some exceptions to this—onions, turnips, parsnips and cabbage especially.

Pears, carrots, celery, beans, all greens will taste like new foods if they are cooked in this way. There should be just enough liquid left on them to moisten them for serving.

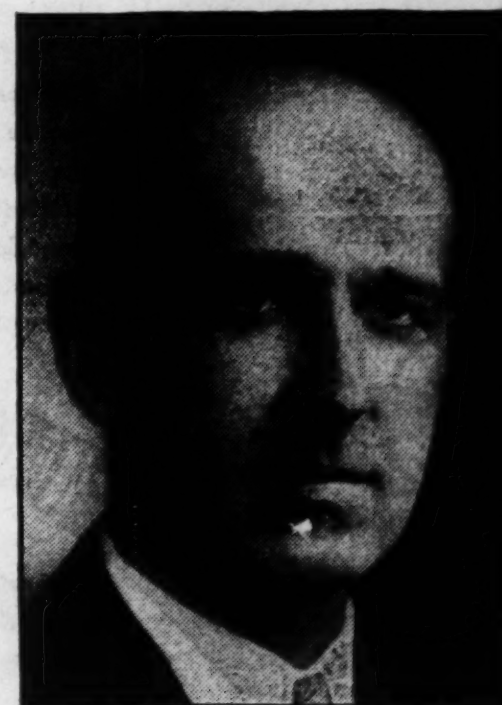

Such a method requires more careful watching during the cooking period, but the results will justify it.

Thought for the Day.

Eggs contain both iron and lime—two of the mineral elements that are necessary for young children and for those who need a building-up diet. The fact that they are easily digested by most people and that they combine so well with other foods gives them added value. Try to use some eggs every day—when they are high in price, plan to use them in puddings or in combination with vegetables so that they "go further."

A Piece of Her Mind

By Elsie McCormick

PSYCHOLOGY

THE death recently of Dr. Morton Prince meant the passing of one who has done some highly interesting exploring in the strange fens, moors and caverns of the human mind.

Dr. Prince was an eminent psychologist in the days before psychology became the little sister of salesmanship. He made soundings in the deep well of the unconscious mended split-up personalities, and used hypnotism to dredge up memories hidden under the detritus of 20 years.

If he had lived a few centuries earlier, Dr. Prince would have worn a gown marked with the signs of the zodiac and have had as secret visitors Kings and Generals burdened with heavy dreams. He dabbled on the edge of what less sophisticated people would call the black arts, and some of the results he achieved would have sent Merlin home in a funk.

Dr. Prince, however, was no metaphysician. He kept his feet among the medical books and explained everything he did in terms of tissue and neurones.

Probably the most famous of his cases was that of Miss Beauchamp. An emotional shock had caused this young lady's personality to split up like an amoeba which was tired of its own company, with the result that she became four young women in one.

The way the members of this quartet would bob in and out of consciousness made life confusing to everybody roundabout. What especially complicated matters was that, daily, one of the personalities, that Sally, one of the personalities, seemed apologetically to the Katzenjammer kids. She spent her time thinking up practical jokes that would make life miserable for the other three.

One of her favorite pastimes was to collect a heavy of spiders, let them run over her arms, and then duck into the unconscious with a chuckle, leaving the horrified Miss Beauchamp I. to get rid of the creatures.

At one time the mischievous personality undressed, climbed to an almost inaccessible part of the building, and then left the situation in charge of the most prudish of the sisterhood. Dr. Prince finally killed off Sally by a process of hypnotic murder, after which he merged the others into something less reminiscent of the League of Nations.

The case attracted so much attention that for a while dissociated personalities announced themselves all over the continent. Like amnesia, that great life-saver of the wandering husband, the new disease promised to be an ever-ready help in times of trouble. It looked as if it would be possible for many young ladies to explain their little gaffes by saying that it was a couple of other girls.

Mrs. David Belasco furnished an object-lesson to the multitude by producing "The Case of Becky." However, juggling personalities became a little difficult for anybody less talented in acting than Miss Frances Starr, and the alibi soon fell into the wastebasket.

One of Dr. Prince's achievements was to show that there is no such thing as real forgetting—that everything we read, think, see or hear remains permanently in our minds. Sometimes the doctor would burrow into these hidden memories by making the person stare into an unlighted electric bulb until he saw forgotten incidents from his past.

Sometimes Dr. Prince would hypnotize a patient, put a pencil in his hand, and let him indulge in automatic writing. Unless stopped, the person would describe the thoughts and events of a single day with detail enough to do credit to Mr. Joyce.

One patient wrote out in full extracts from a book on Richard II, which had been read to him when he was 11 years old. Another recited word for word a letter which he had received 20 years before. A third described with great detail a room he had last seen at the age of six.

It is interesting to know that our memories are perfect, no matter how much trouble we have recalling things, and that every impression lies carved on the gray matter forever. When a young man tells a girl that he will never forget her, he is actually speaking the truth, even though it might take a Dr. Prince and two electric light bulbs to resurrect the memory.

Long Brassieres

MANY women are favoring the waistlength brassiere of fine lace over a net foundation, and with four garters attached. Over this is worn a close-fitting bloomer and the result is an undergarment which molds the very slim figure beautifully, the two pieces fitting smoothly.

When the figure requires more severe molding, the brassiere is replaced by a vest and a giraffe of featherweight elastic providing a sharply defined waistline in the new silhouette.

Fresh Stains

Fresh tea, coffee, chocolate and fruit stains may be easily removed from table linen by placing the stained part while still wet over a bowl and pouring boiling water over it. When nearly dry, press with an iron and you can go on using the table linen if not otherwise soiled.

THE MAKE-BELIEVE WIFE---By Kathleen Norris

A Romance of Modern Life

"Hugh—" she said in a faltering voice.

CHAPTER 37.

A COLD wind blew along the avenue, and the tops of the omnibuses were empty. Winter was coming. Winter, Beatrice, feeling dazed and cold, stopped at a jeweler's window and stared at a silver trophy.

But she did not see it. She was beginning to see her own life for the first time; its romance and its tragedy. She had been only a little girl a year ago, bewildered by the storybook prospect of a marriage with a rich man twice her age. She had known nothing of men, nothing of life and of her own heart. She had been like a little dream wife, loving, eager, responsive, unhesitating. Knowing nothing of passion, she had never felt its absence in herself.

Now she was awake. Or, rather, she had begun to awaken weeks ago, under Bert's youth and ardor and adoration. And, awakening, she had stumbled blindly out of paradise.

"I've had no breakfast, that's why I feel so giddy!" Beatrice reminded herself. "I'll go somewhere—"

Across the street were the solid red walls of the Waldorf. She and Hugh had had breakfast there, on a hot early summer morning, and he had said that in all his trips to New York he always liked that moment best. To sit at the dining-room window and watch the world go by, and pour the hot, hot coffee, and break the white rolls.

She went in. The big room was almost empty, and deliciously warm, with the sunshine slanting in through high windows. A waiter nodded to her request for a window table, and she followed him.

Two men were breakfasting together at the next window; or, rather, were talking together in low tones while they awaited their breakfast. Beatrice looked at them, left her guide, went to their table, and looked down at them.

"Hugh—" she said, in a faltering voice.

After that a great many things happened rapidly: Beatrice clung to Hugh's arm and watched them from the weary depths of a divine content. The strange man, who had been writing things on a card, relating to a red-headed young lady, with a pigskin suitcase, pocketed a check, beamed with satisfaction, and remained to eat both breakfasts.

Hugh guided Beatrice out to the hotel entrance—and suddenly fascinating New York was fascinating again, the shops glittering and gay, the omnibuses tempting, and the crowd friendly—and they had a third taxi, and were at the Chatham before he would let her say a word or would even look at her.

And here they had their own enormous old room, with its three great windows into Forty-ninth Street, and boys were running to and fro, with flowers and newspapers and trays again, and presently, just as the clock struck nine and the wind died down and the sun burst out over the city in full glorious force, there was delicious hot coffee and grapefruit and rolls waiting, and they were alone.

Hugh put his arms about her then, and said, in a whisper: "My God, my God! I have you back again. I have you back again!"

Beatrice began to cry for sheer happiness, and buried her face on his shoulder, and Hugh took his fine big soft pocket handkerchief and gently wiped the tears away. There were tears in his own eyes.

"Hugh, I have to tell you! I'm so sorry—"

"Oh, Beatrice—Beatrice—don't. It was all my stupidity." "No, no, it was mine!" "Well, let's have breakfast," he said, with a shaky laugh, "and then we can talk."

She sat down, and it was as if the last few troubled months had been wiped away, and they two were on their first happy visit to the city again.

"I'm so happy!" Beatrice breathed, closing her eyes.

"You can imagine what I am."

"Hugh, were you on that train?"

"The train that makes up in North Underhill and leaves at four?"

"No, but I thought you might be on it."

"But how—" The miracle of it!

The miracle of security after even this short taste of desolation.

"How could you possibly guess that, Hugh?"

"I telephoned Mother—I came in just after you left, by the way, and met poor Nelly coming downstairs almost frantic. So I telephoned Mother, and of course you weren't there. Nelly called two or three big hotels, and I changed as fast as I could—"

"And made what train?"

"No train. Noon drove me. Or, rather, I drove Noon."

His face grew grave at the recollection, and she drew a deep breath.

"One hundred and thirty miles since four o'clock this morning, Hugh?"

"It wasn't the distance. But what I was thinking—that I was feeling! What an awful sensation, Beat! Black night, and rain, and you somewhere—somewhere in the world. The feeling that any minute might be the minute you needed me—the feeling that even while I was asking at one place for you, you might be within a few feet of me, walking away!"

"I know," she said in a whisper. "I know."

"We got into the city at about eight, and I telephoned the Chatham—no news. I couldn't think of any other hotel you'd be likely to go to so I got in touch with an agency—a detective—and put him on the search. His very first question, Hugh said, marveling, "was whether you had ever been to the city before and where you had stayed."

"So you would have traced me, anyway!" she exclaimed, glad that it was so.

"Oh, yes!" But his face was seriously still. "There are a good many things that might have happened to you first, Bee," he said. "I know," she said again meekly. She had finished her breakfast and now she went to one of the big deep chairs and wheeled another near to it, with a touch of her foot, and beckoned to him.

"Come here and sit down, Hugh. I have to talk to you."

"And I to you," he said, joining her. "And first," said Hugh, holding her hands in his own, "first you must promise me never, never to do this again! Another time just come to me frankly and tell me what's wrong, Bee—I'll help you—I'll do anything! Only don't make me suffer again as I did last night."

"I promise you!" she said in a whisper, salt tears on her face.

"I blame myself for this entirely," Hugh said again presently. "You couldn't see how things were drifting—I could. You never suspected how—how that poor boy was feeling. But I knew!"

"No, it's true," she said, widening her honest, childish blue eyes upon him. "I didn't know, Hugh. I thought it was all fooling. And I had no idea how deep it went! Not with yourself either, Bee?"

Her candid look met his with unaltered surprise.

"I mean," he said steadily, "that I want you to be happy."

Beatrice could only stare at him in simple bewilderment.

"You surely don't think—you can't think that I'm in love with Bert?" she finally stammered, the color flooding her cheeks.

"Would it be so strange, Bee?" Hugh asked, smiling.

"Yes, it would. It would be extraordinary!" she exclaimed promptly, indignantly. And, forcing herself to look at him, with her cheeks burning, she added, "You don't believe that—that nonsense that I talked when I was angry last night, Hugh?"

"No, no, I knew that that meant nothing, Bee," he hastened to assure her. "But—shall I tell you what I've been thinking for weeks and weeks now?" he asked.

"If you like—" she began cautiously, suspicion still in her eyes.

"I've been thinking this, Bee: that you were only a little girl when I married you, and that I— who loved you more than anything on earth—had been the one to hurt you most."

"Everyone says that I was a little girl!" Beatrice said, a little resentfully. "I wasn't such a little girl. I was 20. My father's mother married when she was 15, and had 13 children and nobody seemed to think she was such a little girl!"

"You were a little girl, just the same," Hugh said, with his wife's watching smile.

"I was very stupid," she conceded gloomily. "I never knew—I never suspected—how Bert felt until a few weeks ago, a night out at Spy Lake. Hugh, if you remember? You were dosing, and Bert came below the porch."

"I remember perfectly!"

"Well, that was the night that I—knew. But it didn't seem so bad to me, Hugh," she rushed on eagerly, "because it was perfectly safe for Bert to—care for me, because—" She stopped short.

"Because what?" he asked, watching her.

"Well, because, after all, I am married," Beatrice protested stoutly. "I was sorry—I was even cross at him, Hugh. But I felt that to have this perfectly safe!"

To Be Concluded Tomorrow.

Winter Accessories
Given New Emphasis

The accent will be on the accessories this winter, according to the Paris dressmakers who are showing their newest creations at the present moment.

Bright red shoes are chic with evening frocks of dead black and the darkest shades of green, blue or white, always in the form of a plain pump of crepe de chine or satin.

Elbow-length gloves in the same shade are worn to match them. One dealer has a fondness of putting crimson kid gloves with his white evening frocks, with shoes to match.

Sheerest stockings in gun-metal tint come with all-black evening gowns and pure white ones with the white. There are a few new shades in hosiery, the most recent being to match the color of the sun-burned skin.

Little collars and jabots of lace or embroidered mull at the necks of afternoon and day frocks tend to further femininity, as well as necklaces and bracelets of crystal in pure white and colors.

There are necklaces and bracelets designed to wear with traced morning costumes in beads of all kinds, braided in ropes or in single strings in flat discs of shining brass or nickel and in bits of highly polished wood with metal of line and color as the skirt is to the bodice.

A neckline without its necklace is almost unheard of this season. One designer makes charming china and Venetian glass flowers to put the brightest touch on many of his new gowns. Another favors diamonds, nearly real. Precious, semi-precious or sham ornaments are as necessary to the perfection of the Daily Magazine to see if your solution is correct.

SWIMMING IN THE AIR

THE little black clock had turned the time ahead so far that John and Peggy were now visiting hot in the air. Now he arranged with the hotel manager that both the children could take a swim. In fact, he had suits all ready for

The swimming pool was splendid. It was decorated with cloud pictures, and fairy tales had evidently been written about some of these clouds, for the pictures showed beautiful cloud castles, cloud turrets, cloud towers, cloud queens and princes and princesses.

The water itself was delightful. John and Peggy swam on top of the water and John swam two strokes under the water. Other guests at the air hotel came swimming, too. The little black clock had begged to be excused.

Even though he had such magical powers, he said he was afraid of the water—it might, he felt, be bad for him.

After the swim the children wandered all through the hotel. They stopped and had some very pleasant ice cream, though they did not know just what its flavor was. And in another room of the hotel they heard music and saw people dancing.

"This is a two-weeks hotel," the little black clock said. "You could stay here for that length of time if you wished. Then it goes down to the earth to get fitted up again."

"But maybe you'd better see one of the hotels that stays up for four weeks. Peggy would like it. There is a marvelous toy room in it."

"Yes, let's see it. You wouldn't mind, would you, John?"

"That would be perfectly all right," John said. "Perfectly all right."

"Very well, then—tomorrow evening! Don't forget to meet me!" said the little black clock.

"As if we'd forget!" the children both said.

Even Eyelets.

Place a small cake of soap in back of the linen to be pierced for eyelets and run the stiletto through both the linen and the soap. It will make an even perforation and the material will be softened so the needle can pass through readily.

Easier Washing.

Fill each cooking utensil with water as soon as emptied of its contents. Add a few drops of ammonia to the water and let stand until dishwashing time. Your work will be half done before you start.

During the Cities Service Hour at 6 o'clock over KSD, David Sarnoff, executive vice president of the Radio Corporation of America, will present a medley to Malcolm Hanson of the Byrd South Pole Expedition.

Mrs. Euphrasia Hanson, wife of the operator, is expected to broadcast greetings and congratulations to her husband and accept for him the medal.

Sarnoff is to speak at 6:15. The medal is awarded by the Veteran Wireless Operators' Association for the most distinguished contribution to wireless communication during the year. The association elected to confer this distinction upon Hanson, who is chief radio operator of the Byrd Expedition.

It is planned to get Hanson's reply, accepting the decoration, by code on a short wave. It will be rebroadcast.

Director Rosario Bourdon has arranged a special musical program. Sacha Fiedelman, violinist, will be the instrumental soloist. The Cities Service Cavaliers will sing characteristic songs, and Darrin Woodard, basso, is to be featured singer.

The program includes Bourdon's "Cities Service March," "Rasback's Trees," selections from "My Maryland," "The Rosary," Savino's "Fireflies," the descriptive suite, "Three Fritolines," by Percy E. Fletcher, Noche's "Gypsy Dance," the Italian Serenade, "Mandolinata," Buriel's "Village Dance," and "Believe Me If All Those Enchanting Young Charms."

Combining the science of graphology with a series of musical analyses of writers' characters, a Wahl broadcast over KMOX at 6:30, opens a new series of programs.

Listeners will be asked to write sentences which will be dictated during the program, and the various types of handwriting will be analyzed, the dominant characteristics of each type of writing being given over the air.

Musical selections supposedly typical of these personalities will be played by an orchestra as each character is analyzed.

The "Evealing in Paris" entertainment at 7 o'clock over KSD will introduce a song highly popular in Paris, originally sung at the Casino de Paris by Maurice Chevalier and Yvonne Valle. It is called "Savez Vous" and is a modern arrangement of the old French nursery song "Savez Vous Planter les Choux?" ("Do You Know How to Plant Cabbages?"). It will be sung by Ludovic Huot, tenor, and Delphine March, contralto.

This song will be one of a number of American and French melodies presented in connection with the radio version of an entertainment at the Pavillon Armonville, in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris.

The Intervenor Pair are scheduled as usual over KWK at 7 o'clock.

BEAUTY SHOP

By Frances Oliver

Be Lithe.

To be lithe is to be young, young of body and young of soul, charming and gay to boot. We starve and labor and suffer for dandiness because to be slender is to be "youthful," so we think, but it is elasticity, muscles with spring to them that is youth. Think of all the slender and dandified people you know. How many of them possess really young bodies? Nine out of every 10 people over the age of 18 have certain rods instead of spines and their movements instead of being flowing and graceful are jerky in the manner of a bionic doll. The trouble is we are all tense, tense with wanting things and tender striving to get them. Admittedly it is no easy matter to go flowing through modern life like a temple dancer of ancient Greece, but we could be lithe if we tried. Following are two exercises, stunts borrowed from the animal kingdom and taught in some of the smartest and most expensive modern physical culture schools. Try them for a few weeks in place of your usual morning and evening exercises and see if they do not give you a nice rubber-doll feeling when you move about.

Limbering Exercise No. 1. Relax. Sink to the floor in a helpless heap. Tense the body all over. Then suddenly let go all over. Stretch the torso, the limbs and the neck as far as they will stretch. Again tense the entire body. Practice this stunt 10 or 12 times night and morning.

Limbering Exercise No. 2. Get down on the floor and walk about on all fours, doggie fashion. Rest. Once again on all fours, arch the back high, imitating the family cat. Now lower the torso until the tummy touches the floor. Next, lie flat on the spiny and stretch the arms forward and the legs backward. Go through these motions a dozen or more times each night and morning.

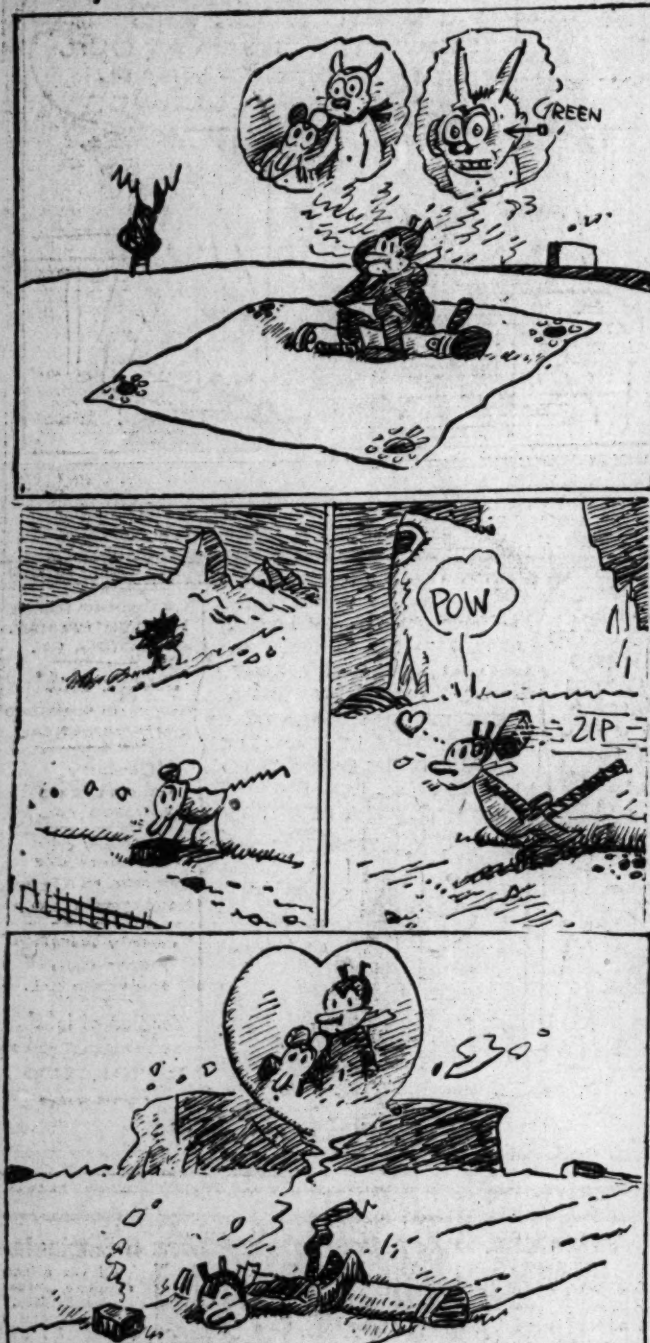

We have several other exercises of this sort in our repertoire, but unfortunately, not sufficient room to print them here. We have written a leaflet called "Exercises That's Fine," which you may have simply by sending us your stamped, return envelope. Send it to The Beauty Shop, Care The Evening World, No. 68 Park Row, New York City.

Perhaps the most pleasant thing about having a limber, elastic body is its effect upon the mind and the point of view. It gives one a sense of power, a nice feeling of superiority, to be able to maneuver one's self deftly through life. (Copyright, 1935.)

STOCKS RISE
AFTER MORE LIQUIDATION

Most Early Losses Recovered and List Closes Irregularly Higher—Heavy Short-Covering.

GENERAL MOTORS SELLS DOWN TO 66

Rails, Specialties and Several of the Utilities Give Good Account of Themselves.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — The stock market staged a sharp comeback, aided by heavy short covering. In the last half hour of trading today, after another huge wave of liquidation, which carried several leading issues off 4 to 8 points or more and swept through the market. Most early losses were recovered, and the list closed irregularly higher.

Commission houses said there was heavy liquidation of weakly margined accounts both late yesterday and early today, and several expressed the opinion that the technical position of the market had been greatly strengthened. One of the leading wire houses sent out recommendations to buy leading stocks in the last half hour.

Traders were practically nothing in the days news to influence the market, and its behavior was in general an adjustment of its internal position. The late rally produced a much better sentiment, but traders were generally inclined to extreme caution pending the possibility of a secondary reaction next week, and the uncertainty surrounding the credit situation. Yesterday's money rates carried over the week end.

Motors Are Heavy. The motors were again distinctly heavy, General Motors closing at 66, a new low for the year, and such issues as Studebaker, Nash and Maxwell trading new lows. Auburn tumbled 25 points, then rallied 24. Several leading issues closed substantially higher, after weakness earlier in the session. U. S. Steel, however, closed at 25, off a point after having touched a new low for the movement at 22. General Electric sold off more than 6 points, then rallied sharply, closing 7 points higher, net. Such issues as American Can, American Telephone and Radio closed with gains of several points.

Atchison Is Strong. Rails, specialties and several of the utilities gave good accounts of themselves. Atchison was notably strong in response to its excellent August earnings report, selling more than 6 points. Such issues as Chesapeake & Ohio, National Biscuit, Eastman Kodak, Standard Gas, National Cash Register and A. M. Hyers mounted about 3 to 7 points, and Commercial Solvents jumped 14 1/2 points.

Fullman and Burroughs Adding Machine reached new high ground. The foreign exchanges were fairly steady, with sterling cables a little firmer at 44.55. Margin clerks in brokerage offices had their busiest day in months yesterday, working far into the night in checking up on the status of customers' accounts. Marginal balances had been regarded as ample until in the course of Friday's selling movement many of the leading stocks slipped through the levels which had come to be regarded as their resistance points. This naturally led to some marking down of stock values as collateral for loans at banks and in turn caused brokers to call upon their clients for additional cash to support their holdings.

Where additional margin was not forthcoming the "stop-loss" order was resorted to in a large way. And it was discouraged selling of this character that was effective in forcing stocks back sharply again in early dealings. It requires no stretch of the imagination to realize the disturbing influence exerted on sentiment by the spectacle of paper profits slipping away as rapidly as has been the case this week. In many instances the effect was to render what had looked like impossibly strong accounts a few weeks ago into rather weakened positions.
